Some of our farmer friends are still a little "sore" over the vote on the court house levy. While in town this week one of them beat the air with his fist and said: "Wait until next election, and every office in the court house will be filled by a farmer." Well if so, it means that just that many farmers will move to North Platte and thus increase our population, and we are all striving to get more people to move here. We are boosting for a population of 15,000 in 1925, and the farmers are just as welcome as anybody.
