

DESERVE MORE THAN PRAISE

Men of the Type of Private Oscar Zwald Surely Entitled to the Country's Best.

Col. A. C. Read, inspector general, asked General Liggett to write letters of highest praise for the heroic conduct of Private Oscar Zwald, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

By rushing fearlessly into a burning freight car loaded with live shells, and extinguishing the fire at great risk, he saved scores of lives and possibly nearly a million dollars' worth of munition stores for Uncle Sam at the Mulheim munitions store yard, near Coblenz.

If the fire had been promptly subdued it would have resulted in blowing up a whole trainload of shells, to which the burning car was attached, together with, possibly, many nearby buildings filled with high explosives, stored there for emergencies.

This is the type of man returning to us now from abroad. Fearless, courageous, and ready to do the right thing at the right moment. All may not have received the D. S. C., but each one of them is a valuable addition to any factory, office or workshop.

They return to us now in great numbers. About 300,000 are discharged from the service every month. Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, in charge of the re-employment work of the war department, is leaving no stone unturned to find employment for each one of them.

COMMENTARY ON WHITE RULE

Indians Have Flourished Only Where the Whites Man Did Not Want Their Lands.

In only two parts of all America are the Indians as numerous today as when the white men came—in Canada, north of the Saskatchewan, where the population is actually increasing; south of the Rio Grande, in Yaqui land, where whip and sword and rifle have failed to conquer what should have been pacified. In northern Canada the fur-hunting Indians have prospered in peace for two reasons. The white men did not take their lands. They did not want them. The land of the Far North was only good for furs; and so the second reason, or from purely selfish motive to increase the output of furs, the Indians have been treated with absolute justice if with absolute despotism. The safety of the lone trader's life depended on absolute justice; and, oddly enough, the only Mexican who has ever succeeded in controlling the Yaquis has controlled them in the same way, by leaving to them their lands and by absolute, if at times despotism, justice.—Detroit Free Press.

Another Use for Bunny.

That Belgian hares have other resourceful veins than meat producing remained to be established by an amateur English woman fancier. The climax of her undertaking was when she appeared at a large pet stock show in England with a jaunty, becoming hat, a coat, and a set of furs made from rabbit skins, which she admitted publicly were nothing more than some of her pet rabbits.

In England, 83,000 rabbit skins a year are being made over into ermine, Arctic fox and black lynx furs to fool milady. Before the war such rabbits were produced by scores of millions in Europe, and vast quantities of the skins imported to the United States to masquerade as real fur. American breeders are raising the same kind of rabbits that produce the best money for the fur shops, and it is certain that as valuable rabbit fur can be produced in America as elsewhere. It is a business that can be conducted every month in the year, and a hobby that will pay its way is one to be valued.—Hunter-Trapper.

Helping Disabled Officers.

A small settlement of disabled British officers has been started at Gonthland, on the Yorkshire moors, a clergyman and his wife having given a group of nine cottages, with a garden and orchard, for the experiment. Here a naval officer and his niece have started weaving, while a blind officer, trained at St. Dunstan's, has a poultry farm. Others are considering the possibilities of beekeeping, fruit growing and basket making. It is believed that the same qualities of leadership displayed on the battlefield can be utilized by disabled officers in connection with rural reconstruction in England.

What to Do With Money.

If any man in this town really has more money than he knows what to do with we suggest that he take a trip through the hospitals of the city and discover for himself the crowded conditions that exist. Personally we know of one hospital that needs a new wing that a few rich men could build very quickly if they'd get together.

Anyhow what we started to say is that there's so much needed to be done that no man ought to have more money than he knows what to do with for the want of a worthy cause to spend it in.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Propaganda.

A doughboy who had just returned from Coblenz was talking to a very estimable elderly woman—a straight-laced church member.

"How did you like it up in Germany," she asked.

"Oh, we got along very well with the Germans," and, with a big, broad smile, he added, "and had all the good German beer that we wanted to drink."

"More German propaganda," exclaimed the elderly woman.

SHEEP HERDER WELL HOUSED

Compact, Comfortable Dwellings Provided for Those Who Tend the Herds on Western Plains.

Just at present the sheep herder's lot is a fairly happy one. Frank R. Arnold writes in Popular Mechanics magazine. He gets $100 a month besides his expenses, and one never can see his sheep wagon without wanting to leave civilization for a few months and take to the range. It is the most compact dwelling house on wheels that has ever been devised. For utilizing all possible space it can give lessons even to a dining car or a sailboat. It is dining car and sleeping car in one, and historically forms a permanent link between western pioneers days, when every one traveled in a prairie schooner, and automobile days when the sheep wagon is used only to follow the herd during the winter and spring, until it disappears up on the high summer range, where only a saddle horse can penetrate.

The wagon, which for months is thus the home of two sheep herders, has a long, narrow body, to give freedom to the wheels, but above the wheels it flares out enough to give a broad room with benches along both sides. It has three coverings of canvas for greater warmth in winter, and a stove secured to the floor near the front door. The back part of the canvas covered space serves as bedroom, containing nothing but a bed, to which air is supplied by sliding glass windows to the rear end of the wagon. Attached to the bed is a folding table, and under it are small drawers and a large bin to contain the herder's supply of flour and grain.

BUILT UP POLISH INDUSTRIES

Russia's Expulsion of Jews From Moscow Had Results Unforeseen by Muscovite Statesmen.

An odd bit of commercial history comes to light with the granting of citizenship to Jews in Poland, and shows how Russia, in expelling the race from Moscow, provided Poland with a human factor of great importance in developing her own industrial resources. The Christian Science Monitor recalls. Politically Poland lay helpless in the grip of her powerful neighbor, resisting as best she might that neighbor's determination to destroy the last vestige of Polish national existence. Industrially, on the other hand, her coal and iron ore districts had developed Polish centers of manufacture superior to those of Russia, but dependent for success on the sale of their products in Russian markets. Jews came from Moscow who were familiar with Russian trade conditions, had already established personal trade relations with Russian cities, and were admirably fitted to develop a commercial program between the two countries. These men became the natural intermediaries between Poles and Russians in business, and their expulsion from Russia is doubtless one reason for the prosperity of Polish industries at Lodz, Warsaw and Petrokov.

The Virgin Islands.

The people of the Virgin Islands, having their territory sold "over their heads" by Denmark to the United States of America, are reported to be settling down without ado to their associations with the new landlord. They have, it would seem, reasonable expectations of increasing prosperity, owing to the constant visits of American warships to the harbor of St. Thomas and to the presence of American regiments in their midst, both of which circumstances serve to stimulate trade and to make the islands appear busy and "mouvemente." Meanwhile, a small appropriation from the United States covers the discrepancy between the expenditure and revenue of the islands, which are governed locally, as under Denmark, by the "Colonial Council." It remains for the United States congress to decide what shall be the permanent form of government. And the Virgin Islands are doubtless living in hopes.

Re-educating Porto Ricans.

The federal board for vocational education is leaving no stone unturned in its efforts to find every disabled soldier who may, if he so desires, receive re-education from the government. In Porto Rico there are at present 110 soldiers disabled in the service who should be beneficiaries of the rehabilitation law. The special agent of the board in the island is interviewing these men with a view to their future vocations. Porto Rico has no trade schools, but training and placement may be made in shops and industrial establishments for those who desire it, and the government agricultural college at Mayaguez provides training for those who wish to go on the land.

Hawaii's University.

Under recent legislation the College of Hawaii is now the University of Hawaii, and one of the new courses planned is complete instruction in the island's leading industry, sugar. It will embrace practical work by the students on plantations during at least one vacation, in conjunction with the classes at the college. Those specializing in the agriculture phase of the work with the planters' experiment station and those studying in the forestry and will receive $45 a month and traveling expenses. With the new course in good working order, it is believed the university will stand as the leading institution in the world for instruction in the sugar industry in its every phase.

GAME INTERESTS ALL RACES

Baseball Knows No Distinction of Nationality. Nor Does It Recognize the Color Line.

There isn't anything that can draw together the races, nationalities and religious beliefs like the good, old-fashioned American game of baseball. In a game played on the Fourth of July an American who witnessed it in describing one of the plays says: A batter whose name showed him to be of Polish descent, had reached first base. A German went to bat. A pitcher with a French name pitched the ball and the German knocked a high fly. A Jew ran after it and dropped it. He picked the ball up and threw it to an Englishman at second. The Englishman threw the ball to a fishman on first and a double play was made and the German and the Pole were declared out.

From where the spectator sat he could have reached out his hand and touched a German, a Russian, a Jew, an Italian and a negro. Several negroes were seated together watching the game. The umpire made a decision. One of the negroes did not agree with the decision and he said the "empire" was "rotten." He'd bet $2 the "empire" was wrong, and he took $2 from his pocket. An American in soldier's uniform took the bet and covered the $2. The soldier explained the rule to the negro, and the negro said:

"Pears to me dat's right, after all."

Then the American put his own $2 back in his pocket and returned the $2 he had won on the bet back to the negro. What other athletic game could be played in this world with such representation of peoples as are to be found at a baseball game? The best of it all is that the soldiers having introduced it overseas, it now promises to be an all-over-the-world game.—Hartford Courant.

PROFIT SHARING NOT MODERN

Scheme Has Been in Operation Since 1829, Though Really Only Active in Last Forty Years.

Profit sharing has been used in various forms since at least 1829, being most active in the last 40 years, Park Matthews writes in the Magazine of Wall Street. Pioneers in profit sharing, such as Lever Bros. of Port Sunlight, Eng., and Cambridge, Mass.; N. O. Nelson Manufacturing company of the model town of Leclaire near St. Louis, Mo.; Procter & Gamble of Ivorydale, O., and numerous other smaller or less known companies have operated on the profit-sharing plan successfully for over a quarter of a century.

As with many other fundamental and social movements, profit sharing clearly came from the old countries, for one of the first successful profit-sharing plans in the United States was founded in Leclaire, Mo., named after the "father of profit sharing," Monsieur Leclaire of Maison Leclaire, Paris, France.

There are many modifications of profit sharing, as laid down in one of the complete and fundamental discussions of the subject, printed some forty years ago, and it is well to have in mind the differentiations of the true profit sharing and its various offshoots, such as bonus giving, holiday gifts, production bonus, pensions, welfare work, etc.

Bohemia—Czechoslovakia.

American business men are reminded by Wallace J. Young, United States consul at Prague, that letters intended for that country should not be addressed "Bohemia," but should be addressed "Czechoslovakia." Also in the body of the letters, when the whole country is intended to be mentioned, its proper name should be used. The former "Bohemia" is only one of the parts of Czechoslovakia, and when an American firm speaks, for example, of wanting agencies in "Bohemia," without a knowledge of such a firm's previous connections in the former "crown lands" now comprised within the state, it is impossible to tell whether the writer is desirous of securing new agencies in Bohemia only or throughout the entire Czechoslovakia.

"Living Mask" Portrait Painting.

A new and startling departure in the art of portrait painting has been evolved by Mme. Ivy de Verley (Mrs. Vesey Duvillard), one of London's best known artists. Mme. de Verley calls this new work "a living mask," and indeed it has all the startling qualities of a real mask.

This new method of bringing out facial characteristics has met a great deal of favor since it was first displayed by the artist. Even in a studio where there are any number of exceedingly attractive portrait paintings this living mask immediately arrests the eye. It gives one the impression that a face is peering through dark curtains.

Lives in Old "Pillbox."

A Belgian farmer, who has returned to his shell-shattered fields near Post-cappelle, has solved his own particular housing problem by converting an undamaged "pillbox" into a temporary home for himself and family. "Pillbox" was always an unfortunate and misleading name for concrete forts. Nearly all of them were rectangular and contained four or more large rooms. Very little work would be required to turn them into comfortable and even lasting homes. Some near Boesinghe are already being fitted up as cafes, in anticipation of tourist parties which will throng the battlefields as soon as passports and travel restrictions will be relaxed.

Mr. Cream Seller

You will never know what we can pay for cream or the quick service we can give you until you have sent us a can of cream. So before you sell that next can of cream ask your neighbor what K. & Sons at North Platte are paying for Butterfat. He will know; or better still come in and see us. Not the Biggest but the Best.
