

GIRLS! DRAW A
MOIST CLOTH
THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girls, such an abundance of thick, heavy, invigorated hair; a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, glorious in its fluffiness, bright and so easy to manage. Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy, golden gleams and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic-beautifier. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get delightful Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on bottle.—Adv.

What They Said.

The following conversation ensued between two colored troops in an outpost while Jerry was putting over a barrage. "Sam, Ah don't like the hum them shells has; they talks to me." "You never see me turning white, niggah. What they say?" "They say, Y—o—u ain't going back to A—I—B—M!"—The American Legion Weekly.

Look at tongue! Remove poisons from stomach, liver and bowels.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure "our child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear. Mother! You must say "California."—Adv.

The Difference.

"Father," said the small boy, "what is the difference between a republic and an absolute monarchy?" "A republic, my son, is regulated by public opinion. An absolute monarchy is regulated by somebody's private opinion."

Important to all Women
Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer pain in the back, head ache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes you one so. But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

HER SMILE IS HER SAFEGUARD

American Red Cross Courier Is Not Molested by Bandits in Balkans.

FACES MANY DIFFICULTIES

Life of Balkan Courier Is Far From Simple—Travels Take Her to All Parts of the Intricate Balkans.

Bucharest.—A New York young woman, with a smile, a dog and a tan leather dispatch bag, is braving the floods, torn up railroads, broken bridges, snow-clad mountain passes and all the other hardships that make up the substance of present-day travel in the Balkans.

She is Mrs. Helen Grannis, formerly librarian in the New York Public library. The smile is the famous Grannis smile that carries her through all sorts of unexpected difficulties in a country where difficulties are real. That smile decided the American Red Cross authorities to give to her a position as courier. The dog is a Caucasian shepherd, half wolf, which was given to Mrs. Grannis by an admiring Roumanian peasant woman. And the dispatch bag contains valuable papers for the American army and the Red Cross which Mrs. Grannis delivers from headquarters in Bucharest all over the intricate Balkans.

Life Far From Simple.

The life of a Balkan courier is far from simple. Railroads have been destroyed everywhere. Bridges are lying in the beds of streams. Roads in many districts are morasses of mud. Through the mountain districts road bands of comitadjis who prey upon lone travelers.

Mrs. Grannis has braved her way through everything. When she cannot take a train she uses a donkey, a camionette, a cart drawn by a water buffalo. She is familiar with narrow-gauge railways that threaten to roll off the mountains into gorges. She knows the wheeze and strain of a one-lunged river steambot, panting against a six-mile current. She can cross a bridgeless stream on horseback or with a rowboat.

And with the nonchalance of a subway straphanger she drops from one mountain top to another on the swinging aerial cables left behind by the enemy armies of occupation.

Smile Takes Her Through.

She has met bandits but invariably, with her smile, with the "U. S." on her uniform and her talent for tight places, she has won through un molested.

Mrs. Grannis' travels start at Bucharest. The cities she "makes" include Belgrade, Sarajevo, Ragusa, Cetinje, Podgoritz, Tirana, Scutari and Sa-lonika. It does not matter to her. On her latest trip she carried a letter from the governor of Albania to Col. Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va., Balkan commissioner for the Red Cross, thanking the American people for the relief work done in his country.

Her first work for the Red Cross was with the bureau of personnel in Paris, where she labored nights, days and Sundays getting personnel off to the front. She left Paris January 1, 1919, to join the Balkan commission, and at length was permitted to take the courier position which she insisted on having.

Clever Work of Detectives Solves "Great False Teeth Mystery."

THIEF GRABS POCKETBOOK

New York Sleuth Finds Jewels in Awning Repairer's Pocket and the Artificial Masticators in an Ash Can.

New York.—Clever work on the part of Detective Sergeants Joseph Leonard and Thomas Appel solved a robbery which might otherwise have remained on the record as the "great false teeth mystery."

James K. Andrews, a banker, discovered that a set of false teeth which he recently installed did not function with the celerity promised by his dentist. Mrs. Andrews started with them to the dentist for adjustment.

Mrs. Andrews had the teeth in her pocketbook along with $75 in bills. As she was leaving the apartment the bell rang. Mrs. Andrews placed the pocketbook on a nearby couch as a maid opened the door and admitted a stranger, who announced that he was there to repair an awning.

Mrs. Andrews went to an adjoining room, but when she returned the pocketbook with the $75 and the artificial masticators had disappeared. She telephoned for the detectives.

They responded with alacrity and after listening to Mrs. Andrews' story of the vanishing of the false teeth, resorted to the old Sherlock Holmes system of deduction. Footprints on the Persian rug of the Andrews' apartment revealed that the awning repairer had found it imperative to change the scene of his operations to another apartment in the house. There they went.

Hen Decides Own Case in Court; Goes Home

Sharon, Pa.—Ownership of a hen worth $1, alleged by a Sharon man to have been stolen by a neighbor, was decided by the bird.

The neighbor, a woman, when arraigned before Justice Hugh Jones, declared the chicken belonged to her. Constable Harry Galvin was directed by Justice Jones to take the hen and release it some distance from the homes of the plaintiff and defendant, who agreed to abide by the decision of the bird.

The chicken strutted off to the plaintiff's yard. The defendant was compelled to pay $4.50 costs on having.

Drawing his highly polished nickel watch from his vest pocket, Detective Leonard placed it against the awning man's chest and, in a voice marked for the profundity of its tone, said—"Aha! What have we here?" "Where?" asked the awning man, assuming an air of nonchalance.

"There," replied the astute detective, as he shoved his hand in the awning man's coat pocket and drew forth a handful of glittering jewelry.

The unexpected jewelry deepened the mystery.

Oh, Where Are the Teeth? "But where's the false teeth?" asked Detective Appel, who believes in following every trail to the end.

"Patience," replied Leonard, "let the magistrate find that out."

So the awning man, who later said he was Charles Langfelder of 69 Walton street, Brooklyn, was haled before Magistrate McQuade in the west side court, where he denied all.

"Your Honor, we have a clue to the false teeth," said the detectives in chorus. "Hold him for a few minutes, and we'll recover them."

They hurried back to the apartment house, where they found the pocketbook and the teeth in an ash barrel. Langfelder was then held in $1,500 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

The detectives are still trying to find the owner of the jewelry.

NEW GERMAN CAPITAL SEEN

Berlin Worried Least Seat of Government Be Shifted to the Rhine.

Berlin, Germany.—The Boersen Zeitung, one of the ablest German newspapers, says the fate of the city is in the balance and that it is, perhaps, too late to save it from becoming a city of the second class, with the removal of the capital and the activity in a business and political sense to some Rhineland city. It is a theory that has been gaining ground lately and is causing Berlin to lose sleep.

Strikes have followed one another in an endless succession. The uncertainty of the economic situation almost led to a boycotting of Berlin as the chief work center of Germany. Despite the huge expense, one industry after another left Berlin for quieter, sturdier fields.

Merchants, politicians and industrial leaders have predicted that the transfer of the assembly and reichstag would inflict a severe blow on Berlin, especially if it should lead to the choice of another capital.

EX-KAISER CASTS FEAR ASIDE

Will Dispense With Dutch State Police at His New House at Doorn.

Amerongen, Holland.—It is reported that the former German emperor has so far recovered from fears of molestation that when he moves into his new house at Doorn, the Dutch police, who have been constantly on guard about the Bontinck castle here since his arrival, will be relieved of duty. There are no walls or moats about the house of Doorn, which is visible and easy of access from the main highway.

T. B. CRUSADE IS ON

Accolades for Children Who Fight the Disease.

"Knighthood" Prize for Battle Against White Plague in the United States.

Washington.—Through the agency of Major B. J. Lloyd of the United States health service, accolades will be held in virtually every school in the country when the second annual tournament of the modern health crusade comes to an end this school year.

This was the statement made at the National Tuberculosis association offices, where the crusade was organized and where the new tournament was announced. The tournament held simultaneously all over the country or 15 weeks, begins with the opening of the term this fall. Last year, the first in which the annual jousts with disease took place, found many "pages," "squires" and "knights" ready to be given their titles of knights banneret, the highest degree of honor to be received by the crusaders. In many cities and towns accolades were held and on the Western coast Major Lloyd personally gave the four "blows" to hundreds of "air knights" or boys and girls who had faithfully performed 11 health chores for the entire tournament and so became knights banneret.

At the capitol in Washington the largest accolade of the crusade was held, with Vice President Marshall acting as league master and conferring the honors on the candidates. The steps of the capitol building were filled with children who had fought a winning fight against disease.

There are 3,000,000 children in the crusade, and it is estimated that more than 75 per cent of them will win honors in the tournament. By completing the 11 health chores for the 15 weeks they will not only receive their titles, but will win badges and pins for the lesser ranks of page and squire, and gold and silver buttons for the ranks of knights and knights banneret. They will also win banners showing their class has been 100 per cent successful in the crusade.

This is one of the vital phases of the fight against the white plague, which will be directly affected by the success of the country-wide campaign of education now being conducted by the National Tuberculosis association.

War Lid Off Baccarat.

Paris.—Baccarat is again allowed in the clubs, since the ratification of the peace treaty. As soon as the ban was lifted a veritable frenzy of gambling set in all over Europe. It is estimated $1,000,000,000 was won and lost in the first night after the game was resumed.

DAIRY

GROOMING COWS IS FAVORED

Animal is Naturally Clean and It is Dairyman's Duty to Keep Her So—Means More Milk.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Slightness and attractiveness are feminine assets which extend even to the dairy cow. Naturally she is a clean and tidy beast. Unfortunately man has been obliged to confine the dairy cow closely in stables during certain periods of the year, with the consequence that unless he daily brushes and grooms the dairy matrons, their sleek, sooty coats soon lose their gloss and luster and become densely matted with dirt and litter. For the same reasons that it pays to groom horses—greater efficiency from neat, spick-span coats—it also proves invaluable to "doll up" the dairy cow daily by vigorous application of brush and curry comb. Cow comfort—that inexpressible condition of well-being which means animal satisfaction and the economical production of the maximum flow of milk—is fostered by careful and persistent grooming during the season when the cows need such extra attention, as ordinarily during the pasture period the animals of their own accord keep themselves clean.

The enthusiastic use of the brush and currycomb, supplemented by a moist cloth, as siege guns against dust and dirt, are good mediums for increased production, according to the opinions of progressive dairymen reported to the United States department of agriculture. They maintain that the clean coats and luxuriant feelings of contentment induce increased production of milk. If you doubt the profits from grooming dairy cows, put it up to Bossie and her stable mates via the referendum-vote method.

From a sanitary standpoint, the densely matted, filthy and caked coat of the dirty cow is one of the main sources of contamination in milk. Filth dries on the body of the animal and, unless it is removed previous to milking, a portion of it is likely to fall into the milk pail and carry an undesirable bacteria with it. Hence grooming cows is a fundamental safeguard against inferior, germ-laden milk. Where cows are groomed daily during their period of close confinement an attendant requires only about two or three minutes a cow to prepare and gloss up the animals as though for a banquet. On the other hand, it is difficult and time-consuming to clean off cows which have been kept without grooming in a dirty stable.

The commendable practice is to groom and clean the cows daily at such a time between the milking periods that there will be abundant opportunity for the dust put into circulation to settle so that it will not contaminate the milk as it is drawn from the cows. It is necessary for best results to wipe off the udder and flanks of each cow with a moist, clean cloth just before milking, in order to remove all the surface dust and dirt which has escaped the previous clean-up processes. It is recommended that dairymen exercise special care to provide plenty of material so that at all times they may use clean cloths in preparing the cows for milking, as too commonly the wiping cloth, unless carefully handled, becomes a source of contamination. It is also advisable to clip off the long hairs from udder and flanks of each cow.
