Adapted from the famous novel by John Fox, Jr. "You dare to pull my hair," cries Mary Pickford, as the little mountain girl just starting to school. And Mary shows the boys she can fight with her fists for her rights. It is the inimitable Mary with her laughs and frowns and intrepid daring, in the story of the feudist fights of the old Kentucky Mountaineers.

New Years Eve Watch Party.
At the home of June Perkins twenty-four girls and boys celebrated the old year out and new year in. A New Year's tree was decorated with silver tinsel. The boys brought a remembrance for the girls and the girls for the boys. A program was rendered for the occasion as follows: Piano solo, Marion Richards; piano solo and song, Gladys Cornwell; reading, entitled "A School Girl's Reveries in Church," June Perkins; Music by Marion Richards, piano and Arthur Howard on saxophone; singing of several songs by all. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed the evening dancing the old year out and the new year in.—Contributed.

The Cornwell young people had a New Years six o'clock dinner at their home, 415 west Tenth street. Those who attended report a splendid time. These long nights, why not an Edison? Dixon, the jeweler.
