The regular army recruiting officers, who are spending this week in town, have placed a flag on practically every flag pole in the business section. It is a good way to call attention of the public to the presence of the party in town, and at the same time reminds us that "old glory" stand for true Americanism.

Clinton & Son, Eye-Sight Specialists. 1f

Messrs. Shoemaker and Oman, who spent several days in town getting the views of business men on the qualifications of five applicants for the postmastership, left for the east Friday evening. They interviewed quite a number of our business and professional men—selecting those who do the most business with the postoffice and who are therefore most vitally interested in efficient service. Many questions as to the standing and qualifications of the applicants were asked and notation of the answers made.

Cathoun Explains.

Editor Tribune: Your statement that I was circulating a petition to name myself for county judge makes it look as though I was anxious for a job. Fact is I was named for that office by a convention of non-partisan farmers and refused to run, but on going to town Tuesday morning and learning that they had not looked for another candidate we got out petitions for myself to be named for the ballot.
