EVENTS IN NORTH PLATTE THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Tribune April 28, 1893.)
Chas. P. Ross, agent for the Rock Island syndicate, sold twenty sections of land in township 9, range 26, and township 9, range 27, for three dollars per acre. The purchasers were New York parties.

John Worthington, foreman at the Union Pacific shops, was presented with a fine buggy and set of harness by the employees of the shops.

In view of looked for introduction of Asiatic cholera into the United States, The Tribune advised the city authorities to clean up the alleys, which were in bad shape.

The last big drive of cattle from Texas to northern points had started. The number in the drive was close to 200,000. The greater number of them were destined for points in Wyoming and Montana.

Walla Walla lodge I. O. O. F. celebrated the anniversary of Odd Fellowship by indulging in a social and a "feed." Music was furnished by the Methodist choir.

Alex England, Jr., a young machinist in the shops, left for the Pacific coast "to lay a foundation for his future prosperity." The boys gave him a send-off.

Homesteaders who had located in the county during the early spring had begun farming operations. Sod houses dotted nearly every quarter section of tillable land.

B. & M. surveyors were making a survey for the "high line" railroad in the south part of the county.

The Tribune acknowledged an invitation to attend the May Party to be given May first by Grand Island Division No. 88, B. of L. E., at the Lloyd skating rink.

In a spelling match between pupils of Miss O'Connor's room and Miss Blackburn's room, the final contestants were Agnes Loftus and Maggie Schermann. Agnes finally mis-spelled the word "villain," while it was correctly spelled by Maggie.

Wm. Ritzer and Loren Purdy were appointed as road overseers. W. F. Campbell justice of the peace for Garfield precinct, and W. A. Vroman assessor for Brady precinct.

The county commissioners paid Thos. Rowley $1,600 for 160 acres of land southwest of town, the land being purchased for a poor farm.

D. A. Baker was appointed chief of police and street commissioner by Mayor Beach, and John I. Nesbitt city attorney.

The city council granted saloon licenses to nine applicants. The applicants were: Guy Laing, Hans Gerther, W. D. Waldo, Fred Kneer, W. H. Tucker, Hugh Brady, Oyster & Smith, J. C. Hupfer and Wm. Landgraf.

Bishop Worthington came up from Omaha to hold services at the Episcopal church. While here he was tendered a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ellis.

Arbor Day was observed in North Platte by the planting of hundreds of trees. There were no waterworks in those days and to keep the trees alive in dry weather, water was pumped, carried in buckets and poured around the trees. The old-timers will tell you this was some task.

SUGAR FACTORY GIVES $1.00 BONUS TO GROWERS.
Beet growers in the valley who had contracts with the American Beet Sugar Co. last year have received from the company a bonus of $1.00 a ton on beets grown last year. Accompanying the bonus was the following letter:

"Early in the year an advance was made in the price of sugar, at which time one of the sugar manufacturers felt justified in distributing among its growers as a bonus $1 per ton for beets delivered from which the sugar was made."

"At that time this company did not feel warranted in acting as liberally with its growers and consequently did not pay a bonus. Another advance has now been made in the sugar market and although this company has a very small amount of it, nevertheless, feels that its growers should share in the benefits therefrom and therefore takes pleasure in paying to them $1 per ton on all beets received by it during the last campaign."

Print paper has now advanced to such a figure—10½ cents a pound at Omaha—that we must demand prompt payment on the part of all subscribers. We cannot afford to carry delinquent subscriptions, nor can we afford to hire collectors or pay clerk hire and postage and stationery in sending out statements. The fact is, the cost of producing a newspaper these days is two or three times the subscription price, and to help matters as much as possible a cash-in-advance plan is necessary.

Diamonds set in platinum are our specialty. Dixon, the Jeweler.

North Platte garages, service stations, repair shops and vulcanizing and battery plants are reported to give employment to ninety-eight people. As the number of automobiles increase, there is a corresponding increase in the number of people employed in the above lines.

LINCOLN COUNTY EVENTS AND PERSONAL MENTION.

(Condensed from County Exchanges.)
The capital of the Brady State Bank has been increased from $15,000 to $25,000. Under the presidency of W. W. Winkless the bank has made a rapid growth.

Lever McGee, aged twenty, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McGee living nine miles south of Maxwell, died the early part of last week.

Mrs. Kate Sullivan, of Brady, submitted to an operation at an Omaha hospital Tuesday of last week and is reported to be doing well.

The Sutherland Courier advocates the erection of a $50,000 community building in that village.

The telephone company has ordered $5,000 worth of new equipment, which means better service for patrons at Sutherland.

A company is being organized at Sutherland for the purpose of drilling for oil. The backers say they are willing to drill 3,500 feet.

People of Sutherland have gone on record as favoring a community church, and a committee has been appointed to investigate the matter.

The Hoover Test.

The first real test of Herbert Hoover as a presidential possibility on the republican ticket will come in Montana today. There his name will appear on the ballot, together with those of Harding, Wood, Johnson and Lowden. The last named three have been touring the state in their own interest. Many states will also name their delegates by convention next week.

Shameful Profiteering.

Profiteers were denounced in the senate Saturday by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, who presented statistics which he said showed that the earnings of many American corporations represented profiteering "open, scandalous and shameless." Senator Capper attacked the department of justice's cheaper meat campaign, and said increased prices for sugar were "the most brazen challenge we ever had in this saturnalia of greed."

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, agreeing with the Kansas senator's declaration that profiteering had become a national menace, said Attorney General Palmer was "setting a few mouse traps around the country when he ought to be setting bear traps" to catch the big or millionaire profiteers. The administration was held responsible by Senator Lenroot for the increasing sugar prices.

Battery Repairs and Re-insulation Better Service—Better Batteries

Battery repairs are often the result of failure to use that service which Willard has established for the car owners of America in over seventeen hundred places.

There are two distinct sides to Willard Service: One is paid service—curing battery troubles by skill and thoroughness in handling repairs—doing the job in a workmanlike fashion so that it doesn't have to be done over.

The other side of Willard Service is prevention of battery trouble—and that you do not pay for. Registration of new batteries for special service, cards entitling any owner to testing and filling, good advice, informative literature and general helpfulness.

Every Willard Service Station sells the Still Better Willard Battery—a battery that was already better in material, workmanship and record of service, and was made Still Better by the invention of Threaded Rubber Insulation.

An Immigration Issue.

The question of tariff and protection takes on a new form at Washington. Europe has so little to sell that importation of goods stirs up little interest or resentment. Importation of labor, together with the question of protection for home labor, is becoming a subject for hot discussion.

The embargo on Mexican laborers was let down the other day for the benefit of the sugar beet growers of the southwest. The home beet field workers are not organized and made no serious protest. It is different with labor in general. There is a shortage of labor in the country. Every man able to hold a job can have one. The supply is sufficiently short of the demand to give the laborers considerable sway in the fixing of wages.

Any movement to bring immigrants to them a movement to increase competition and reduce wages. The labor unions take the same attitude toward immigration now that their employers have been used to taking toward importation. The demand for protection for the home industry is supplanted by demand for protection for the home laborer.

A New York republican congressman writes Secretary Wilson asking for free trade in house-help. There is a servant shortage of housemaids with incidental high wages to the housemaid. Congressman Sigal wants the pauper housemaids of Europe admitted, accordingly, without restriction. But Secretary Wilson, democratic member of the cabinet, a union labor man, rejoins with a plea for protection.

It is a queer crossing of historical principles. But the world is full of queer things nowadays.—State Journal.

Whiskey Supply Runs Low.
According to prohibition enforcement officers, the whiskey is on its way to join the dodo. The government figures show but 60,000,000 gallons now within the United States. Before the prohibition act became effective, the normal consumption was 100,000,000 gallons a year.

Real whiskey will very soon be beyond the reach of all but bricklayers, plumbers, fanitors and other immensely wealthy persons. Beginning May 15, physicians will be permitted only 100 prescriptions every three months. These will be worth $10 a prescription.

SKIN HEALTH

Skin health depends upon the lungs, kidney and liver being normally healthy and vigorous and upon the individual having no depraved or abnormal appetites.

Where there are pimples, blackheads, or skin discolorations, the cause is in faulty elimination. No analysis in general, will fit any particular case, but is safe to say that in practically every case of poor complexion or skin trouble, the cause lies in lack of nervous tone in some of the organs of elimination. Spinal adjusting frees nerves for the delivery of a full degree of nervous power, to the organs that throw off bodily wastes or poisons. The skin clears naturally when elimination is vigorous.
