MORE THAN MONEY.

THE foundation of our business is laid in the character of the clothes we sell. Of course, we are in business to make money. Our investment of labor and capital justifies a fair profit—and should yield it. But we are not in business for money alone. We wish to win and hold the confidence, the respect and good will of our community. It is because we are happiest in selling our customers merchandise that we know will give them perfect satisfaction—it is because we feel deep and earnest pride in handling the best that an institution like the Hirschfeld Company is possible.
