Spencer and E. R. Ferrell are plaintiffs and you and each of you are defendants.

The object and prayer of plaintiff's petition is to quiet title in plaintiffs in and to Lot 8, Block 15, Original Town of Wallace, Nebraska, and to cut off and forever bar any right, title or interest of said defendants or any of them to said action in said real estate.

'JITNEY' NOW WITHOUT HONOR

Humble Nickel Can Hardly Be Classed as Real Money in These Spend-thrift Days.

Once upon a time a nickel was real money—but those days are gone.

In the days of our youth, watermelons could be purchased for the sum of five cents, but now not even the transparent slice can be obtained for this sum.

Enough bananas could be bought for five cents to give three boys indigestion, but that was long ago.

There was a time when small boys were wont to do chores around the home for the coveted nickel—but not now.

Who can forget the man who used to walk into the cigar store and say, in a loud voice, "Give me a good nickel cigar."

There was a time when a nickel bought a loaf of bread, or a dish of ice cream, paid for a shoe shine and even made a sizeable tip. Some of the old citizens, in their more reminiscent moods, can recall those days—or at least they say they can.

But gradually, one by one, the uses of the "jitney" passed away. It would buy nothing to eat, nothing to drink, unless reinforced by the once-despised penny, until only a ride on a street car remained to be secured in exchange for the nickel.

And then the street railway company followed in the wake of a long and illustrious procession of profiteers.

CHILD GIVEN UNIQUE NAME

American Girl to Go Through Life With YWCA as One of Her Appellations.

"We've named her Y. W. C. A.," said a proud young mother as she displayed her two-months-old baby to a group of girls at one of the many Y. W. C. A. branches in New York city recently.

So "Alice YWCA Stamboullides" is a real child, the possessor of a unique name which will always be a reminder of her mother's first days in a strange country.

When Mrs. Lulu Stamboullides, a pretty Roumanian girl, first came to the United States nearly two years ago her young Greek husband, whom she had come here to marry, took her immediately to the Harlem branch of the Y. W. C. A. in New York city to learn the American language, customs and ideals.

He himself had found this training at the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Stamboullides entered English, art, cooking and sewing classes and soon became one of the most popular members of the branch.

Then when little Alice arrived the father insisted that her middle name should be "Y. W. C. A."—and so it is—and Alice Stamboullides can hold her own with Mary Armistice Smiths and John Pershing Joneses of the day.

BURMESE FOND OF ANIMALS

Characteristic That Might Well Be Copied by Other Nations More Highly Civilized.

The Burmese people naturally are full of the greatest sympathy toward animals of all kinds, understand their ways, and make them feel they are their friends.

And we know that if a person is kind to animals he is generally kind to his fellowman.

A Burmese boy would never be allowed to go bird-nesting, or rattling with a terrier, or ferreting rabbits. These would be crimes.

A Burman hates to kill. Neither for sport, nor for revenge, nor for food, must any animal be deprived of the breath that is in it.

All the animals—the ponies, the cattle and the working buffaloes are so tame that it is an almost unknown thing for anyone to get hurt. You can walk through the herds of an evening in perfect safety, for they will not attempt to touch you.

Many of our growing boys think it a grand thing to be indifferent to pain—not only their own but to that of all others. To be sorry for a wounded dog or a hunted hare seems "girly" to them.

But to the Burman kindness to animals is the highest of all virtues. He believes that nothing of great value can exist without compassion and love and sympathy—that these make up all that is most beautiful in life.

I think we can take a lesson from the Burmese in their dealings with dumb animals.—The Young Soldier.

ABOUT THE LAST ARGUMENT

After That It Was Time for Hubby to Get Busy and Buy Her That Davenport.

What she desired was a new davenport. She had talked davenport until her husband's soul was tried. She made it her business to be carefully scrutinizing the furniture advertisements every time he caught her reading the newspaper.

She left pictures of davenports lying around on the table. She sent for furniture catalogues and he always found the pages open that contained davenport illustrations.

The other evening he glanced over her shoulder as she was going through her regular evening performance with the newspaper.

"More davenport advertisement, I suppose," he murmured a bit sarcastically.

"No, John, dear," she replied in similar vein. "You would buy me this with far less persuasion."

Then he took a second look at the paper. She was reading a coffin company's advertisement.

Money in Raising Alligators.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited, and there is not much competition. The few alligators have to be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all.

HELPED TO WIN GREAT WAR

Many Thousands of Chinese Laborers Took Useful Part in the Recent Conflict.

A little known but interesting sidelight on the World war is the fact that China was represented in the great conflict by 150,000 laborers, of whom 100,000 worked with the English forces, and 50,000 with the French.

They were recruited in China from the low or coolie-labor classes in units of 500 men. During the early days of the war and up to the middle of 1917 they were sent in transports down through the Indian ocean, up the Red sea and over the Mediterranean sea past Gibraltar to France. But submarines in the Mediterranean made travel too perilous and the route was changed. The balance of the 300 units of 500 men each were then sent over the Pacific to Vancouver, B. C., where the Canadian Pacific would transfer across our continent to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence across the Atlantic to France.

Each man's queue had been cut off and an identification disk, or "bracelet," in army vernacular, placed around his wrist. He was given 60 cents a day, two-thirds of which was set aside for his family or dependents in China—more money than he ever knew about before in a month—and this proved to be a magnet which drew thousands upon thousands of coolies to the recruiting station at Tientsin.

Barge, 63 Years Old, Sinks.

On old double-deck barge called the Harvest Queen, built in 1857, sank slowly upon the mud alongside the barge office through failure of her pumps to keep out the flood until repairs could be made in her leaking sides. She was towed here from Norfolk by the coast guard cutter Manhattan and was to be used as a temporary houseboat for the men of the coast guard service, who were compelled to give up their quarters in the municipal ferry terminal at South Ferry. Although the barge had a reputation for being an unusually leaky craft in her old days, an investigation will be made to ascertain if she was helped to the bottom by persons who had no wish to be housed aboard of her.—New York Tribune.

Lazaretto.

The words, lazaretto and lazareto, meaning a hospital or place for the reception of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and especially the leprosy, are derived from the Italian word of like meaning, lazzaretto. All are derived from Lazarus, the name of the poor leper in the parable to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke, chapter sixteen. This is the only case in the New Testament where a proper name occurs in a parable. The words derived from that proper name show the influence this parable has had on the mind of Christendom.

Buenos Aires' Rapid Growth.

Buenos Aires is one of the fastest growing cities of the world. The census of 1914 showed 1,575,800 inhabitants, and the population is now estimated to be more than 2,000,000, since immigrants are arriving at the rate of more than 10,000 a week. Until recently the city has retained most of the characteristics of the small Latin-American city.
