(6), 1928, by McCinre Newspaper Syndicate.) Sally Sue perched herself on the stone wall under the lilac bush with her doll Harriet, where mother had sent her to watch for the mallman. Voices drifted out from the dining room window over the new purple balls on the tips of the lilac stems and Sall; Sue couldn't belp hearing. But some of the things were very perplex-Inc.

That was mother's voice now: "You're my best friend, Harriet Dinsmore, and Merton is my favorite brother, and you can't expect me to take sides. But what can have happened to two people who thought, as much of each other as you did, is more than I can imagine !' "I haven't said anything has hapdown over her fat knees with a jerk. Didn't Aunt Harriet's voice sound queer? All graty and sobby! But Sally Sue musin't call her "Aunt" Harriet now. She had told Sally Sue that only that very morning."

And now Aunt-Miss Harriet was telling mother she hadn't said anything had happened.

Out from the window floated mother's volce: "Why do you work yourself sick over that enormous centerpiece. Harriet? The colors are lovely. and your work is exculsite, but if you left those autumn shades without all that extra padding and embroidery. and got some fresh air, and got things fixed with Merton, wouldn't you be happler?"

Sally Sue couldn't understand the biggest words, but she understood the tone quite wes. Then she heard Miss Harriet say clearly : "I shall never be happy again ! But there's no sense in my not finishing this thing, is there? I can sell it. I've got to have some gold thread, though. And you can't get it in this little old town, can you?" So Aunt Harriet wasn't happy at all.

"Jes' 's soon 's the mailman comes, Harwiet, we're goin' off !" confided Sally Sue softly to the doll in her arms. "Course we can get some gold fred in this of town !"

"Here's the mailman," shouled Sally Sue. And mother ran out to the box. There was only one letter this morning, and that was for Aunt--Miss Harriet

Nervous Spells-Near Heart Failure Eatcnic Stopped It

Mr. C. B. Loats, writing from his home at Lay, Md., says, "I had been taking medicine from four specialists. but believe me, friends, one box of entonic has done me more good than all the remedies I have ever tried. I was in awfully bad shape. About half an hour before meals, I got nervous, trembling and heart pressure sa bad I could hardly walk or talk. One box of eatonic stopped it."

Eatonic quickly produces these truly marvelous results, because it takes up the polsons and gases and carries them right out of the body. Of course, when the cause is removed the sufferer gets well.

Everyone that wants better health is told to have just a little faith-enough to try one box of eatonic from your own druggist. The cost is a triffe, which he will hand back to you if you are not pleased. Why should you suffer another day, when quick, sure relief, is waiting for you? Adv.

Senator Johnson of California looked around the table with a smile. All the ladies' gowns were decollete. In the back this decolletage was especially marked.

"The bolsheviks," he said, "wouldn't find much to sell at a fashionable American dinner party, would they?"

Both Parties Have Endorsed Good Roads

GOOD ROADS

REGARDLESS of which party wins in the presidential election this fall, American motorists are congratulating themselves that highway development will be continued. In their platforms both the Republican and Democratic parties have placed themselves flatly on record as favoring federal appropriations to assist in good roads work.

The Republican party's good roads plank said:

"We favor liberal appropriations in co-operation with the states for the construction of the highways, which will bring about a reduction in transportation costs, better marketing of farm products, improvement in rural postal delivery, as well as meet the needs of military defense."

The Democratic party was just as specific in the plank adopted at the San Francisco convention. The plank said in part:

"improved roads are of vital importauce not only to commerce and industry, but also to agriculture and rural life. We favor a continuance of the present federal aid plan under existing federal and state agencies, amended so as to include as one of the elements in determining the ratio in which the several states shall be entitled to share in the fund the area of any public hands "proin." This definite action of both parties, the good roads enthusiasts declare, proves conclusively that motor transortation has been recognized as a definite factor in the nation's economic fabric and that everything will be done to utilize its value to the utmost. Good roads construction is favored. moreover, by both the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees, Each is an ardent good roads booster and believes that highway development is necessary for the economic welfare of the country. So here is one thing on which both parties agree.

Heroic Western Miners Get Gold Medals

THE Joseph A. Holmes Safety association, the hero commission for the mining 'industry, has announced the awards of gold medals to miners for special deeds of bravery in the saving of human life during the last three years in the United States. It is expected that the formal award of the medals will be made by Dr. Frederick G. Cottrell, director of the bureau of mines and president of the association, during the international first aid and mine rescue contest at Denver, Colo., September 9, 10 and 11, at which miners will be present from all parts of the country. The men who will be awarded gold hero medals are:

John L. Boardman of Butte, Mont., afety engineer for Anaconda Copper company, who lone-banded saved three miners from death by poisonous gas in the West Colusa mine.
