CHICAGO TRIBUNE EXPLAINS COAL SITUATION.

The following editorial taken from the Chicago Tribune of July 29 is the best explanation of the coal situation we have seen. We print it in the hope that it will help clear up the whole idea in the minds of our readers.

Examination of the entire coal situation with its growing menace to the industrial if not the political life of the nation reveals a condition which seems to point to Washington as the only source of power which can correct it. The government, aided and abetted by numerous outside influences, has gotten us into one of the worst difficulties possible with the exception of actual war. It appears to the layman that the government must get us out.

The difficulty dates back at least as far as the coal strike of last winter. Then the government's coal commission fixed a wage schedule which sent the men back to the mines. Operators and miners signed an agreement to run for two years. But at the same time a federal injunction was issued to prevent the operators or miners or the operators and miners from conspiring together in such a way as to abrogate the agreement and raise the price of coal. Several were indicted and still face prosecution under that injunction. It has never been dismissed.

In these circumstances the day men of Illinois mines have found that car shortage prevents them from working more than two days a week, limiting their earning to $12 a week and confronting them and their families with starvation. Internal union politics have aggravated the situation. Crooked operators and inequable car supply probably have further complicated it.

In the meantime the commission which granted the award is not sitting. The injunction granted by the federal court prevents the operators from raising wages, even though they admit the justice of the miners' claims. The miners have no place to turn for relief except to the federal court, where they would have little standing after having broken their contracts. The strike is spreading. The coal shortage is growing so rapidly as to justify the gravest fears for the outcome.

The federal tribunal has made its awards and the federal court has decreed that no legal method is open for their alteration. But the situation must be remedied. It appears to be up to Washington. If the attorney general cannot relieve the deadlock the president must. The situation is as much a war emergency as that under which he built its foundations.

It is drifting rapidly toward chaos. Unless it is halted it will soon go over the brink.

CAMP GROUND WINS NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

We appreciate the following taken from a recent issue of the Kearney Daily Hub: From what can be learned the city of North Platte has solved the tourist problem after a fashion that is generally approved. A park located almost in the heart of the city, one block from the new high school there, has been set aside for those who travel by car. Residences surround the park on all sides. There are a fine lot of shade trees, running water on the place, shower baths, ample toilet facilities, even on which meals can be prepared and a caretaker. It is said that all tourists send the word along "not to stop at the North Platte tourist park."

Ed Winn only recently returned from a western trip and he states the North Platte arrangement is the best encountered in several states, not alone in his opinion but that of scores of travellers he encountered along the road.

WHY?—do so many people wear glasses? Because modern efficiency demands better eyesight than formerly. We do more near work, more intricate exacting hand and machine work than ever before. We turn night into day with bright lights and use our eyes when nature intended them to be at rest. Children are using their eyes more strenuously in factory, school and home. Science has made great advancement in aiding and training the eyes. Prejudice is giving way in the light of experience, etc. Dixon & Son, Sight Specialists.

Northern Plains Mole.

A live Northern Plains Mole (Scalopus aquaticus caryi-Jackson) was caught at the Boy Scout's Camp by one of the Campfire Guardians and brought to the office August 13th. It was a cloudy morning and it was clumsily moving over the surface of the ground. Both the eyes and ears are invisible in the velvety fur. The mole is a nuisance in lawns and gardens but otherwise it is a valuable animal as it lives entirely on insects.

Major A. E. Whitworth, recruiting officer for the Signal Corps and Army Field Clerk John Slaughter, spent Friday and Saturday at the local recruiting office receiving applications for Victory Medals.

You Can Increase Your Yield 3 to 9 Bushels per Acre

Several farms in California got 3 to 6 bushels; Illinois, 5; Kansas, 3½, and Iowa 9 bushels more per acre by drilling small grain instead of broadcasting.

Here is the big advantage in drilling which we want all of our customers to understand—only one trip over the field is necessary to plant the seed. The drill completes four operations—it makes the seed furrows, drops and covers the seed, and pulverizes the soil. Not necessary to drag a harrow over the field afterwards.

You will always need a machine of some kind for planting your small grain crops. Why not get one from us now that will do all of this work—one that plants the seed at even depth so that the crop will all be ready for harvest at one time?

We have the drill in stock that we know will do the work for you. It is a John Deere-Van Brunt—the famous drill that has worked very successfully all over the country for forty years. We want you to know all about the Van Brunt Grain Drill. It has a patented adjustable gate force-feed that will interest you in the way it works. Come in and let us show you how easy it is to plant even, continuous streams of fine, medium or coarse seed with this drill.
