

KEITH THEATRE

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

JACK PICKFORD IN
"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come"

John Fox Jr.'s best loved drama of Kentucky hills and southern chivalry. Here is the Thad Buford that you and millions of others have read of in the novel. Only he is presented a thousand times more vividly in the picture.

A great picturization of a great novel!

"The descriptive incident of John Fox's novel—The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come—visualized with intelligence by a fine cast of actors who fit the characters, coupled with the selection of some scenic locations used for backgrounds is responsible for a picture that is worthy of high commendation." This is what the critical reviewer said of the picture showing at the Keith Wednesday and Thursday. Come and see if you agree with him.

For Sale—Wagon and Hay rack. Phone 1194W. 65tf

Red Bat.

A specimen of Red Bat (Nycteris borealis-Muller) was brought to the office by Walter Shilling, August 13th. It was alive and wandered over the little wire cage provided for it. It did not eat anything and a day later it was released. This bat was small and reddish in color and is rare here although it is found common in the eastern part of the state and more so farther east. It is perfectly harmless and lives on insects.

SUCCESSFUL CHAUTAUQUA CLOSE

The Chautauqua closed Saturday night with a crowded tent and many standing around the outside. The play "Rejuvenation" was well received. One of the officials stated today that they received seventy-five signatures to the guarantee for next year which assures North Platte of a Chautauqua for 1921.

—THEN AND NOW—

Ten years ago many people called to "pick out" a pair of glasses. Today not one in a hundred will ask for "ready made specs." That they call now to have their eyes examined to see whether or not glasses are needed we consider a compliment, proving as it does, their confidence that we will not advise glasses unless they would prove a real benefit.
