TRULY—"The Woman Gives" as you shall see.

Maybe she carried her appreciation to extremes; in any event she carried it as befits a woman of daring. You've seen down for some high class entertainment when Norma Talmadge appears as the model in "The Woman Gives."

The luring quicksand of low associates is ever ready to receive, as Inga Sanderson, the model, played by Miss Talmadge can affirm. Owen Johnson's story—"The Woman Gives."

Down in the Street of a Thousand Sorrows she met with an experience few living women have undergone. The dramatic intensity of those moments will linger long in your memory. Norma Talmadge, as the model in—"The Woman Gives"—from the story by Owen Johnson.

Whatever you do, be sure to wait until eleven o'clock tonight and you'll be sure not to see one of the best all-fired shows we've ever presented.

SUN THEATRE—Thursday and Friday.

LAW FIRM REORGANIZED

THE OLD LAW FIRM OF HOAGLAND & HOAGLAND CHANGED TO HOAGLAND & CARR.

Tomorrow the law firm of Hoagland and Hoagland which has been in existence since 1895 goes out of existence and the new name of Hoagland and Carr will take its place. The senior member of the new firm is Walter V. Hoagland who has been associated with his father, the late J. S. Hoagland in the firm of Hoagland and Hoagland since its organization. Mr. Hoagland graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1895 with the AP degree and later graduated from the Law Department of the same school. He at once came to North Platte and began the practice of his profession. He has held many offices of trust and responsibility in the social, business and political life of Western Nebraska and is well known throughout the state. He has been State Senator from Lincoln County and served in the session of 1919. He is a candidate for re-election to the coming legislature.

Edward E. Carr graduated from the University of Nebraska Law School with the class of 1917. While he was in the university he was on the debating team and was its captain during the last year. He was Ivy Day orator and won the Callahan & Co. Law prize in 1915. Upon graduation he entered the Aerial Service of the army and served until the close of the war. He at once came to North Platte and entered the office of Hoagland & Hoagland. Mr. Carr has made many friends since coming to North Platte and has shown himself to be a young man of ability and honor.

The new firm will maintain the same offices and continue to look after the clients of the old firm with the same diligence and integrity that has characterized their past history.

GIFT GUIDE GIVEN IN MOTION PICTURE.

Women who have been puzzled about inexpensive presents to give on occasions which demand a remembrance will do well to take a note book with them when they see Norma Talmadge in "The Woman Gives" which will be in attraction at the SUN Theatre beginning Thursday and Friday. During the course of the picture a party is given in which Inga Sanderson played by Miss Talmadge gives a small appropriate present to everyone from her patron in the field of art to the colored elevator operator. Each gift is appropriate and may solve the problems of the average woman who finds herself perplexed in these days of high prices as to how to make the appropriate gift.

PIZER SAYS WAKE UP.

Editor of The Tribune:

In the last issue of your paper you state that North Platte is now in rank of being the fifth city in the state. This should be gratifying to everyone living in North Platte. Again you say: "If North Platte should keep up the rate of growth, she will be the third city of the state in 1930." Mr. Editor, I agree with you, but before we get to this number in the next ten years the moneyed men of North Platte must get busy and make a better showing in building up our business section to look anywhere like our neighboring towns look today with less population than we now have.

Just think! A city with over 10,000 population compared with towns in eastern Nebraska which I have visited lately—towns, of from two to five thousand. See the miles of paving they have, the way their business sections are built up, their city halls, their auditoriums, the store buildings, their hotels, their picture show buildings, and then compare them with North Platte. I think you will agree with me that it will keep us pretty busy to make it look like the third city in the state.

To make the needed improvements is not a one-man job. Everyone who is interested in North Platte and who lives here and has made his money here and is still making it should take an interest in the growth of the city, not merely by talking but get busy with his money and build up those valuable vacant business lots, of which some are an eyesore, especially to the visiting public.

I am doing my part and expect to do lots more in the future, but as I stated before one man cannot do it all. Let us all get together and get busy and see what can be done toward having North Platte rank as the third city in the state in 1930.

Thanking you for this space, I am
Very respectfully yours,
JULIUS PIZER.

IEWS OF A CONTRACTOR.

The following is taken from a letter written by one of our local contractors regarding the designing and construction of buildings according to plans made by an architect:

To The Tribune: The house is the basis of all other architecture. If we have well-planned houses we will want well-planned public buildings. The vital question is whether it pays to employ an architect to design and make plans for a building or save this expense by having the builder make a pencil drawing. Some contractors and builders have skill in this matter and some do not. We have a number of homes in North Platte which were planned by unskilled builders and they are an eyesore to anyone who has any idea of architecture.

As an example of the value of careful planning of a building I can mention the case of a man in North Platte who erected a house that with the building cost him $8000. He had an architect draw the plans and specifications and his place was well put up as the contractor knew just what was necessary before starting and knew every step in the construction.

Six months later he sold the building for $17800 and the man who bought it said it was worth the money. This same owner set to work to build another house. His architect prepared another set of plans and specifications and the building was started on a lot that cost $500 originally. Before the excavating had been completed the whole thing including the plans was sold for $2000.

I am a firm believer in carefully prepared plans and specifications and no one can do this as well as a man who has had training. Most of us contractors do not have this training. An architect does.

Yours respectfully,
A LOCAL CONTRACTOR.
