EDITORIAL.

On account of machine trouble we go to press without a number of announcements and local items which would have been in this issue otherwise.

Lincoln County should have an association devoted to the development of our blooded live stock industry. We have a few breeders of fine cattle and hogs but such stock is not appreciated as it should be and the market is not encouraging to the breeders. Occasionally a blooded animal is brought to this locality which should command the attention of the whole live stock industry but it often gets only passing attention. If we had an association to promote the raising of good breeds of live stock it would mean much to the farmers of Lincoln County. We have some of the best hog and cattle men in the state and their stock is first prize stuff but we know that their efforts and the product is not given enough consideration by the other farmers and ranchmen. Can't we get such an organization started soon?

Artificial Silk Improved.
A new process has been developed whereby the same raw material (wood cellulose) is converted into an imitation silk which, when woven into cloth, has remarkable brilliancy and durability, with "feel" like that of real silk. It is waterproof and no more inflammable than natural silk. The new process silk can be drawn into much finer threads than those of ordinary artificial silk, and is said to be particularly remarkable for the quality of the velvets made from it.

Its Nature.
"Isn't it too bad, this dispute they're having with Germany over coal?"
"Yes; it is a burning shame."

SCRAPPLE. A Column of Nonsense.

The other evening when we were walking into town from out near the Lincoln Highway bridge, a number of cars passed us without saying "Want a ride" and we got to noticing that most of them had about one seat empty. We were quite weary of walking and as we had plenty of time to think while coming in we got to wondering why they didn't give us a lift.

Nothing a walker likes better than to be taken in by a car. As I said, we got to wondering why and so went over to see Ed Davis about it. He was there in the store talking about quarantine signs on houses where sick people are but we couldn't wait for him and his Indiana friends to get through so we asked him about empty automobiles not taking weary walkers in and he said he didn't know. He said if he had a car and saw a weary walker he would take her in. That amused us but Ed's Indiana friend probably wasn't paying any attention for he never even smiled. We said that wouldn't do us any good and Ed said he didn't know as he intended to do us any good. He said we couldn't expect him to take in everyone along the road or he would have his car overloaded before he got to town. We said he might take in his fastest friends when he saw them having to walk along the dusty highways and he looked real sorry and said that's right. Then he said it really didn't matter so much since he didn't have a car himself anyway. Then Ed's Indiana friend asked us if we thought the drivers of empty cars recognized us and we said we were sure they did not because we always pulled our cap down over our face to keep the glare of the headlights out of our eyes. Ed said that didn't look reasonable to him and we asked him why and he said if we were coming to town and the glare of the headlight got in our eyes the car must be going the other way and that he bet we pulled our cap down over our eyes because we didn't want the driver to recognize us and see that we did not have a car of our own and so must walk like other common folks. Ed had presented a new side of the question and while we were thinking it over Ed's Indiana friends told about hearing of a man in Indiana who stopped and took a walker in and the walker proved to be a bum and rode clear home with him and the man had to take him into the house that night for fear if he left him out he would run off with the car before morning. We said we would be afraid of that to and Ed said that probably was the reason so many empty cars passed us the other night and we said we were glad anybody didn't take us in and take us to their home and keep us all night and the more we thought about it the more glad we were that anyone hadn't taken us in so we thanked them and said good day and went. And now we know,

Overcoming Hereditary Weakness, Epilepsy, Etc.

It is a common saying that the time to begin building the health foundations of life is before birth. It is a fact that many are born with defective health condition but this need not cause apprehension or force any one to give up in despair of attaining good health.

Prince Don Jaime of Spain was born deaf and his mind was affected all as a result of a prenatal injury to the Queen mother. He suffered from this injury for twelve years before as a last resort he was taken to a Chiropractor.

Today the Prince can hear and is rapidly making up for lost time in acquiring an education.

The spinal condition that caused his deafness was corrected by spinal adjustment.

A Depreciation Fund is Necessary in the Telephone Business

After your shoes begin to wear out you may have them repaired every little while. But some day you will find they are beyond repair.

If you do not accumulate enough money (a depreciation fund) to replace the wornout shoes, you may have to go barefooted.

In the telephone business, switchboards, cross arms, glass insulators, poles, wire and telephone instruments are some of the things that constantly require repairing.

If we did not receive enough money from the sale of telephone service to provide an adequate depreciation fund to replace or restore our property as it wears out, some day we would find our plant entirely gone and could no longer provide telephone service.
