EDITORIAL.

In our news columns we are giving something of the organization and business of one of our important local corporations. We solicited this information because we appreciate what Leyboldt-Pennington Co. means to North Platte and Lincoln County. It has furnished a market for hay and grain that has stimulated trade and helped put the products of our farms where they were needed. From time to time we expect to give some information and attention to other local concerns which mean much to this community, in each case without accepting any favors and with no hope of future reward.

TRIBUNE OFFICE AND SHOP TALK

One of the office conveniences which we are printing is a little pad for the telephone desk. The office girl makes a record of each call for each member of the firm who is not in and places this notice in a conspicuous place on his or her desk. It is also convenient in the home where different members of the family are concerned. Constant trouble comes from forgetting to tell someone about a call. These phone slips are printed on green paper so they are quickly recognized.

A man who raises any number of blooded animals and does not advertise them is like the merchant who buys goods and puts them on his shelf without advertising them. He must depend upon the chance purchaser or the eager buyer who will hunt him up. We are from time to time running the advertisements of dealers in pure blood stock and of stock sales and it is a pleasure to us to meet this need. Poultrymen are included.

We have just received a new line of wedding stationary and visiting cards. These are a little cheaper for the same grade than the stock we have had recently. We print them in script or Gothic in any quantity and do the job in a workmanlike manner.

Speaking of advertising, reminds us of a clipping which we made of an editorial in the Verdon. (S. D.) Times which has some good thoughts in it. Here it is:

By watching the advertising columns of a newspaper, we are enabled to know the exact condition of mercantile affairs and the general prosperity or depression in the town where that paper is published. We can sit at our desk and pick out the five business towns and the dead towns. There is no better index to a town than its paper; it is a better criterion to go by, and is considered by astute men, than a photograph; it is the enterprise of the inhabitants and not the size of the buildings that makes the town. You may sit up a paper and read at a glance "We mean business," or "We are deadlier than a stuffed bird" as plain as though it was printed in ten line pica and red ink across every page.

At the Crystal, Saturday and Monday night, Buck Jones in "The Square Shooter," a tale of the land where the best man wins.

On Tuesday evening, Rev. Shenk united Miss Alice Elizabeth Frederici and Lloyd Reneau of this city in marriage. The wedding took place at the Frederici home west of the city. Miss Ruth Parrish was bridesmaid and Arthur Reneau acted as best man. The double ring ceremony was used, the rings being carried by Marion Tyler and Harvey Frederici. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frederici. Mr. Reneau is the son of L. C. Reneau of Tryon and is an employee of the P. F. E. Co. and has made his home in Tryon before coming to this city. Mr. and Mrs. Reneau will reside in North Platte in the future.

informa us that already a great many farmers are buying Blackleg vaccine preparatory to vaccinating their cattle this spring. There is no question but that this is a good move; something that every owner of cattle ought to attend to before it is too late. Veterinarians are agreed that there is little use trying to treat a case of Blackleg. It is almost invariably fatal and a single case is likely to so inoculate the soil with germs that the infection will linger for years to come. Since it is a well established fact that vaccination will protect against the disease, no one ought to neglect this precaution. North Platte, Nebraska.

Gentleman:—

At once let me thank you for the decision made in favor of my letter answering the question, "Why do you want a Washing Machine?"

The "Laundry Queen" was delivered to my home today. It is a beauty and so constructed to do splendid work. I have examined it thoroughly and am positive that I would have chosen it in preference to all others on the market for the same price.

And let me say that I am very proud of it.

Every house-wife will realize what this saving device of time and health will mean to me.

Thanking you again, I am truly,

Mrs. J. R. Elliott,
