Conducted by the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Supt. Anderson, of the Wyoming division, who was a recent caller at the Chamber of Commerce office, stated that he expected that freight traffic would increase at least thirty per cent in volume within the next sixty days.

Contractor Morrison, who is doing the construction work at the municipal swimming pool, will shortly resume work after laying off during the winter. It is hoped to have the pool fully completed by the time "bathing weather" arrives.

Union Pacific carpenters will next week erect the unloading chutes at the old stock yards. These chutes were petitioned for by the Chamber of Commerce for the convenience of local stock shippers, and those who will ship in cattle for the pure bred sales and for exhibition purposes at the county fair.

The North Platte association of insurance agents gathered for lunch at the Elks' club yesterday and unanimously voted to invite the state association of insurance agents to hold its 1922 state convention in this city. The convention this year will be held in Omaha March 26th and 27th, and a number of local agents will attend. At this meeting the invitation to meet in North Platte in March, 1922 will be extended. The Chamber of Commerce will assist the local men in landing the convention.

Secretary Thrall, of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce and District Manager Haldeman, of the Nebraska Telephone Co., were in town Wednesday evening conferring with Secretary Bare and Lincoln Highway Council Hoagland relative to daily bulletins on the condition of the Lincoln Highway. Arrangements were completed whereby these daily bulletins covering the highway from Grand Island to Sidney will be issued. These reports to be received at eight o'clock each morning, and in case of rain storms the information will be imparted through special bulletins.

An ice dealer announces that the retail price at the start of the season will be one dollar per hundred pounds though a drop may be made before the end of the season. The wages paid for ice harvesters this winter were just the same as last winter, hence there was no reduction in the cost of production, and the cost of delivering will be about the same as last year.

A lumber dealer stated yesterday that a lumber bill which figured $2200 last year can now be purchased for $1400, or a decrease of $800. That would seem like a considerable drop in prices and should be an incentive for people to build.

A complete survey of the city yesterday showed but eighteen residences in the various stages of construction and two-thirds of these were small in size. This is not much of a showing, even for so early in the season. It is evidence that building operations are halted by the tightness of money or else prospective builders are waiting for lower prices. It is probable however, that unless freight rates are reduced, the price of building material will not go much below present prices.

Some time ago the Chamber of Commerce requested that the pupils of the English department of the Junior High write competitive compositions on "The Outstanding Features of North Platte," offering a prize of ten dollars for the best effort. These compositions, about sixty in number, were received yesterday. They will be turned over to the judges and an award will be made as soon as they can be read.

While no formal opening has been held, the new store located just north of the Post Office and owned by Miss Whitaker and Mrs. Graves is open for business. The room has been redecorated and new furnishings have been procured. We are not much of an authority on the interior of millinery and art store but it seems to us who have stood outside and looked thru the window, like a place where ladies would enjoy going and looking over some of the things for sale. We certainly wish the ladies success in their new undertaking and admire their courage in starting in at this time.

The basket ball game between St. Patrick's High School and the Brady High School which was to have been held last evening at the Franklin Auditorium, was called off by the Brady people. The late cancellation left the local management with all of the expense of the advertising and tickets but a substitute game was arranged at the last minute.

Getting Rid of Bright's Disease

The coming on of Bright's disease is always gradual. The first indication is usually puffiness of the eyelids, weakness and general ill health. The urine is scanty, highly colored, and contains albumen. As the dropsical condition increases, it interferes with respiration and requires the sufferer to keep an erect position.

This disease is caused by a disturbance of the spinal joints at what is called "kidney place." In severe cases, such as Bright's disease, the misalignment of the "kidney place" joint is so great as to cause practically a paralysis of the kidneys. Instead of disposing of waste, the kidneys become inactive, and the waste poisons the body. Chiropractic spinal adjustments bring back a normal action of the kidneys and that means a disappearance of the dropsical conditions and a gradual return to health.
