EDITORIAL

It is certain that the next mayor of North Platte is to be a lawyer and he will be a man in the prime of life.

The membership of the American Legion now numbers 321. It is estimated that this is within fifty of the possible number of members in the city.

Bill Hendy tells the story of the Californian who urged clergymen to have their parishoners think of a place having a better climate than California and naturally their thought would turn toward heaven.

The editor recently made a friendly call at Maxwell and altho he stayed only a few hours he met a number of former acquaintances and local citizens. Jim Elliott is busy in the drug store. Willis Baker who has been with him for some time, is attending the School of Pharmacy at Creighton this year. Ralph Coates is manager of the Coates Lumber & Coal Co. and is making good. He meets people well and his interest in the success of the business causes him to look after the details and keep things moving smoothly. We had a long visit with Editor Sage and found him reluctant to leave Maxwell but enthusiastic about the prospects for a bigger and better Telepost. We found the business men alert to the reconstruction now going on everywhere and not complaining. Maxwell improves with acquaintance.

Weatherman Shilling reports that Thursday the thermometer went up to 72, Friday up to 84 and Saturday to 78. On Friday the following was the maximum temperature at the places named:

San Francisco	56
San Diego	60
Los Angeles	62
Jacksonville, Florida and North Platte	84

Thirty thousand members in the thirty-eight organized counties is the present strength of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. Close to two thousand members were secured in the drive in Scotts Bluff, Dawes and Morrill counties. A campaign in Washington county is in progress this week. A clean-up campaign will be conducted in the organized counties by solicitors on a commission salary basis under the direction of a campaign manager. Farmers in unorganized counties may join the Farm Bureau as members at large by paying their membership fee.
