NATURE NOTES

Last night about six o'clock, eleven Prairie Chickens were counted circling over the main part of town. They passed west about over First street when they crossed Dewey.

The elm and maple trees are in bloom and the bees are busy. Several of the early spring flowers such as iris, crocus and scilla are in bloom. The lawns are quite green and some of the smaller shrubs are quite green.

March 10 was the date of the first appearance of the Killdeer in the territory we cover. It was about seven o'clock at night when we heard it overhead as we stood near the post office and the next morning there were several in the fields near the city.

A Great Horned Owl was seen in the trees on West Third street Sunday. This bird is a permanent resident here but is rare. The eggs are laid this month and usually the young birds are hatched by the first of April or a little later. Great Horned Owls are not harmful and should not be shot. We do not have any records of their nest near here.

R. B. Robinson, of Omaha, engineer in charge of Way of the Union Pacific, arrived here from the east, Monday afternoon on an inspection trip. Mr. Robinson has a motor car built on the style of an automobile in which he can travel with more comfort to make his inspection trips than on an ordinary motor car.

A large number of car loads of sheep have been going through here for the eastern markets during the past week or so.

A reduction in freight rates on lumber from the north-west to Nebraska is announced as effective March 31. This reduction is from 66 to 73 cents a hundred feet. The Omaha Chamber of Commerce claims the credit of securing the order.

More Money for Crops

There are a lot of plans being promoted right and left that aim to give the farmer more money to grow and market his crops. Many of them are impracticable; but there's good, sound reasoning in next week's issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

James H. Collins reports a long interview with Bernard M. Baruch, whose suggestions on marketing farm crops have been so widely quoted during the past few weeks. His recommendations are explicit, concrete, workable.

Mr. Baruch's plan aims to place the farmer on a footing of equal opportunity with the buyer in the marketing of his crops. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has for years been fighting toward this end. It has advocated easier and more liberal farm credit, it has helped in the organization of cooperatives of every sort, it has directed wide attention toward the speculating and profiteering that rob the farmer and consumer alike. You have no stauncher ally than this great weekly of farm service. And a whole year of its guidance and help—52 big issues—will cost you but $1.00. And you can't invest a dollar to better advantage. Your check is good!

Why Telephone Numbers on Party Lines Are Changed

Often we can give a person who moves, the same telephone number at his new location, but if he moves to a different part of town or he has a party-line, we cannot always do this.

Party-line telephone numbers are sometimes changed at times other than when the subscriber moves. The reason is that a demand for additional wires in some localities occasionally forces us to place on the same circuit those party-line subscribers who live close together.

We realize changing telephone numbers is an annoyance to our subscribers, and it is an expense to us, it is only done when necessary.
