MOTHERS ENTERTAIN FATHERS AND SONS AT SUCCESSFUL BANQUET

The mothers of the boys of Troop One of the Boy Scouts entertained the boys and their fathers at a banquet, Tuesday evening. There were about eighty-five at the tables. Each boy was asked to bring his father and if that was impossible to bring some man. The mothers prepared the "chow" and served its different courses. Capacities were exceeded and satisfaction reigned after the dinner had been served.

William J. Hendy acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers with characteristic eloquence. Those responding were E. J. Vanderhoof, E. R. Goodman, C. L. Littel, C. F. Koeh, W. M. Barriball and E. H. Stevens. After the songs and speeches the boys entertained the fathers and mothers with demonstrations of first aid, bandaging, games, races and signaling.
