EDITORIAL.

Did you know that the Lincoln County Farm Bureau has been allowed to use the office rooms on the third floor of the Federal Building? Have you been up and made the acquaintance of the County Agent? Have you told him that you are going to stand back of him in his work in Lincoln County and help him to do something for agriculture here? It is not too late for men are doing this very thing every day.

Yesterday morning a lady called our office and asked us if we knew where she could get a woman to come to her house and help her for a day or two. We told her we did not. We have been led to believe that there are a lot of people who cannot buy what they want and need because they do not have any income. Then they should want a job. If they want work they should let it be known. We have tried to do our share in helping them out by offering to run a notice of the job wanted free for two issues. We still continue the offer and know that there are all kinds of work to be done if the worker can be found.

There are some people in North Platte who do not like athletics in the schools. They always argue that there are other forms of school work which would do more good and then end up by mentioning debating. We would naturally expect these people to be at the joint debate tomorrow night. But they won't be there. They are rapid as their arguments. Yet if they would go they would find that debate is one of the most exciting and thrilling of all inter-school activities. One reason why there are so many basket ball games and so few debates is that the people here patronize the games and up to date have not patronized the debates.

Our attention was called to the tax figures in our news columns in connection with a charge that the County officials were all grafters. The man who said that was profoundly ignorant of the facts. The whole amount spent in the County is less than nine per cent of the total tax. If extensive grafting were possible on this amount what about the other 91 per cent of the taxes? And yet there has never been a question of the expenditure of these other funds. We have elected honest men to the County offices and they are handling the very limited amount of money at their disposal in a business like manner. The Commissioners, who really spend the County money, are in session every Monday and the meetings are open to anyone. It is not very becoming for a man or woman to shoot off about such matters until he or she has investigated. Then if he or she feels that there is a just cause for complaint the whole people will be ready to hear.

THE UNION PACIFIC STORY OF NORTH PLATTE

We are in receipt of a new folder issued by the Union Pacific entitled "Along the Union Pacific System." It tells something of the early history of the railroad and starting with Omaha and Kansas City tells something of every place of importance along the lines of the system to the coast. Concerning North Platte it says: "Elevation 2,800; population 10,644. During the winter of 1866-67 when the terminus of the Union Pacific was at North Platte, the town had 1,000 buildings and a temporary population of 5,000; for a short time it was "wide open"; every form of license and even lawlessness was tolerated, a Vigilance Committee, undertook to restore order by the swift relentless method of capturing desperadoes red-handed, and allowing them a few minutes for repentance at the end of the rope. Two companies of soldiers were maintained there, although no serious Indian attack was ever made on the town. For many years North Platte was the home of "Buffalo Bill" Cody. It is now a modern city having electric lights, a Carnegie library, municipal water works, grain elevators, flour mills, bottling works, a United States Land Office, Weather Bureau and a state Experiment Farm. It is a Union Pacific division point, where extensive shops and one of the largest icing plants in the United States are maintained; more than 10,000 cars are iced annually at this plant, which may be seen on the left as the west bound train leaves the station. North Platte is the shipping point for a spacious irrigated district (the oldest in Nebraska) which produces vast quantities of wheat, sugar beets and alfalfa; much live stock is raised and fattened in the vicinity. Just east of town is the junction of the North and South Platte Rivers; the flow of the former averages about 3,500 cubic feet a second while the latter is dry except in flood season because of diversion into irrigation canals further west."

IN EVERY DAY-AFFAIRS

—women are coming to realize more and more that a good banking connection can be of invaluable assistance to them in many ways.

The convenience of a checking account with the opportunity it affords of paying bills by mail means much to the busy woman who desires some time for rest and recreation. Every woman desires too her own Savings Account for the feeling of greater independence that it gives.

We cordially invite the women of North Platte and Lincoln County to make this THEIR bank. Our facilities and the best service we know how to give are here for the asking—always.
