VETERAN ENGINEER IS BURIED BY HIS FELLOW ENGINEERS AND OTHER FRIENDS.

The funeral of George W. Vroman was held Friday afternoon at the Maloney Chapel. A large number of friends attended and filled the chapel to overflowing. Rev. W. H. Moore gave the funeral sermon and a quartet from the Episcopal choir rendered several appropriate pieces of music. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers attended in a body and had charge of the services at the cemetery. The gifts of flowers were many and expressed the high esteem in which George W. Vroman was held by North Platte people. The line of automobiles which followed the body to the cemetery was one of the longest ever known here. Burial was in the North Platte cemetery.

That Dodge Brothers car will do you and your family more good now than if you wait until half of the most pleasant driving weather is over. Why not order today? J. V. Romigh, Dealer.
