The latest estimates say that there are over one hundred people in North Platte who are playing some kind of a hand instrument. This means horns and drums and saxophones and clarinets. In view of this condition here in North Platte the following statement from Richard B. Aldcroft, president of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce of New York is interesting:

Chas. Weir and M. McFarland attended the seventieth birthday anniversary of A. B. Persinger of Hardscrabble Ranch a few days ago at Lodge Pole, Neb. Following are the verses which were on the invitation. "I have heard it rumored, yes loudly said That our friend John Barleycorn is dead. But beneath a certain tree, Some remains of him are known to be. So to my birthday celebration, I extend to you this invitation. Please come at ten (A. M.) on the seventh of May. And we'll make it a grand resurrection day."

Strawberries and pansies—set them out now. North Platte Floral Co.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Education it was decided to add an opportunity room whenever enough pupils so warrant it. Miss Ora Stuart of Minden, Neb., a specialist was elected to take charge. A permit was granted to the Lincoln County School Nurse to inspect two rooms in each building during the remainder of year, with a view of establishing a nurse permanently in the city. It was also voted that Dean Fordyce make a ten day survey of the schools next fall. Mr. Elliott was elected to take the census. A new system of record blanks for Junior and Senior High Schools has been developed by the superintendent and principals of the two schools and is adopted.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FIRE PREVENTION THAT ARE WORTH REMEMBERING

Do not trust too much to your fire department for protection. There may be delay in the discovery of the fire, transmission of the alarm or the movement of the fire apparatus. Be prepared to fight fire yourself. Keep a chemical extinguisher handy.

Too many fires break out after a plant has been closed for the night. We are after those conditions this year. Lock the house over carefully before closing.

All fires are of the same size at the start. A barrel of water and a bucket may stand between a fire totaling a dollar loss and a conflagration.

Open foundations are trash catchers and are very convenient for sparks. Furthermore, they invite mischievous boys and tramps. Such foundations should be properly screened.

Suppose you and your family were asleep when accidentally the wires, a fusible cord or a socket became crossed at both ends of the circuit and the wires in your home set fire to the building. You would be lucky to escape with your life. All this for the sake of a 10 cent fuse.

AURORA BOREALIS PUTS TELEGRAPH STATIONS OUT OF BUSINESS

Beginning Friday and extending through Saturday and Sunday the North Platte Station of the Western Union was unable to send messages part of the time on account of earth currents connected with the Aurora Borealis or "Northern Lights." The sky was so clouded here that the display was not reported as visible at any time but in other places where the clouds did not interfere the aurora was very noticeable. The lines from here to Omaha and those from here to Denver were out of order for long periods of time on Saturday night and at lesser periods on the preceding and following nights. One unusual occurrence was the disturbance happening in the afternoon. Inquiry at the U. S. Radio Station shows that it was not affected as the new system of ground receiving wires gave a steady influence which the other stations did not have.
