EDITORIAL.

It was stated at the Tuttle banquet yesterday that there are at least five men now living in this vicinity who were here at the time Bishop Tuttle landed here in 1867. Four of them were present at the luncheon. They were Cyrus Fox, 1864, Luke Healey, 1866, Chas. Hendy, 1866, and P. J. Gilman, 1867. We did not learn the other name. Does any one know of anyone else who was here at that time?

One of the unusual expenditures of Lincoln County last year was for special elections. The total cost to the county in this matter alone was twenty thousand dollars. Printing the ballots, distributing them, renting polling places, paying for clerks and judges in each of the precincts in the county and clerical help in compiling the results with other expenses make a sum which is out of all proportion to the benefits received.

Cigarette advertising will not appear in the Tribune if we can help it. We have no quarrel with the man who wants to smoke cigarettes. He will not care whether we advertise them or not. But it might make a difference to some boy so we have refused to take any contracts for this line of advertising. Cigarettes are just as bad now for the boys as they were before the war. We have seen their blighting effects on school boys and know that they are harmful. The future of any boy is worth more than the revenue from all the cigarettes in the country and we can not be a party to anything that will harm children. We would like to have the business and we need the money but not if it means promoting the cigarette habit among the boys of North Platte.

There are several numbers on the program of the band concert for Sunday afternoon that are worthy of notice. People who go to the concerts and talk while the numbers are being rendered are simply dissipating in music. There is an enjoyment that comes from quietly listening to good music and trying to realize what the composer was trying to do. Take the Semper Fidelis March as an example. John Philip Sousa was the leader of the United States Marine Band at Washington. He wrote this march in response to a demand for a piece that would give each of the sections of the band a chance and at the same time give the auxiliary sections of marshal music a part to play while the band was playing. You will hear the drum solo followed by the bugles. Then while the drums and bugles continue to play their parts over and over, the basses come in, then the clarionets and finally the trombones, each group playing its own part yet all blending into a harmonious mass of stirring military music. The German Festival Overture "Tempelweih" is full of stately harmony, bringing out the higher qualities of German music of a generation ago. "Kentucky Blues" is a popular melody which has a different mood and a meaning of its own. This is lost to the chatterer. A Mexican serenade with the fandango accent can only be appreciated when one catches the spirit of its lightness. The other numbers have been selected with great care to make up a balanced program which is offered to the people for their approval.

Announcement was made here yesterday of the marriage of Brady of Miss Golda Peckham to Mr. J. C. Tuttle of Omaha. Mrs. Tuttle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Peckham and is well known in that part of the county.

The state society of the Daughters of the American Revolution wishes to publicly thank Mr. Carr, Mr. Evans and all those who assisted the Boy Scouts in decorating the graves at Fort McPherson in the afternoon of Decoration day with the hundreds of Texas jessamine bought for that purpose. Daisy C. Hinman, State Chairman.

STATE FARM TO TRY AUCTION AS METHOD OF DISPOSING OF SURPLUS STOCK

The following explanation is given by Supt. W. P. Snyder, of the Experimental Substation, as to his reasons for putting on the sale which is announced elsewhere in this paper:

"In building up an experimental and demonstrational dairy herd at the Experimental Substation, the point has been reached where the increase in the female grades may be sold as well as the pure bred bulls. Thus far when a cow has been offered for sale, it has been difficult to know what price should be placed upon her, and as a result there have been many buyers for the better ones. In order to make the price setting easy and to give all persons an equal opportunity a trial is to be made of selling the surplus at auction in small lots when the majority of the cows are fresh.

The first sale will be of 5 grade heifers in milk and one pure-bred Holstein-Friesian bull at auction at 7 P. M. (east time) Friday, May 6, at the Experimental Substation.

The sale will begin promptly and will be over quickly. There will be an opportunity to see the heifers and study their records before the sale.

Mrs. Geo. McGinley and sons left yesterday for Keystone where they will spend the summer months on their ranch.

Mrs. Theodore Wentland and daughter will leave Monday for Kansas City to spend the summer months with relatives.

How do they do it?

It takes training to turn a man into a frozen worm by simply tilting the chin and turning the cold shoulder. But our heroine had been all too well trained by her social-climbing mother. And so when the hero came along and proved to be a waiter no snob was ever snoblier, and the whole college determined to give her a lesson. For genuine fun and spirit, you can't beat

MARY MILES MINTER in

"THE LITTLE CLOWN"

Love me, love my little sweetheart

That's what Dick told his parents when they came to beg him to give up this wild circus life and come back to his own world of wealth, aristocracy, good breeding and leisure.

Certainly no circus performer would do for a daughter-in-law!

Poor little Pat! She was used to hurdles, but she never had known that there were such things in the world as social barriers.

In the circus everybody was friends with everybody else, and nothing mattered but putting your act over. Could she ever win the approval of these cold, hostile people of Dick's?

Don't miss this appealing star in the sweetest role she ever played in one of the most sumptuous productions Also "Among These Present" starring Harold Lloyd.
