OLD LANDMARK

The Glasburn men are digging a large pit on the ground near the old court house building into which they will tumble the grout walls. The dirt from the pit will be used as a filler for the entire campus. They will finish razing the walls this week, and so good bye to an old landmark, and good riddance as well. Mr. Glasburn and sons have removed the lumber to the ranch which is to construct a set of frame buildings.—Sidney Telegraph.

U. P. EXTENSION

Steel is now being laid on the main line of the Union Pacific railroad's extension on the first few miles of the line from Haig, Nebraska, into roadbed graded. Constructors have finished springing the old dump at the end of the line in Nebraska up to grade two miles of material track has been built and a giant movable crane has arrived there and is expediting the work considerably. Such rapid progress is being made it is expected trains will be running as far west as Lyman, Neb., by September 1, and that best dumps will be installed in that section in time to move this year's crop of sugar beets.—Goshen Hole News.

INDIAN GRAVES

Workmen engaged in excavation upon the Union Pacific extension uncovered skulls and bones of something like a dozen persons at a point a mile or so west of station No. 2 known as the Bailey farm in the upper edge of Mitchell valley. Dr. F. B. Young who makes regular trips over the extension, handling the medical work for the railroad camps, brought one of the skulls into the Courier office Wednesday. It is his opinion that the skull was that of an Indian and that the bones unearthed represent a portion of what is left of an Indian burying ground. Most of the bones were unceremoniously dumped aside with the rest of the excavated material and will continue to rest in the bosom of Mother Earth and form a part of the railroad grade over which countless millions will in the future pass along the new transcontinental route. There are several points in the western part of the country where burial places are known to exist, one being in the lower part of Mitchell valley and another in the vicinity of Horse Creek but in each case these are identified in history—one as a military cemetery from which a number of bodies have been removed within the past few years, and the other where the victims of an Indian massacre were interred. The present discovery is not a matter of knowledge so far as can be learned, and the theory of an Indian burial ground is probably correct.—Gering Courier.

STILL SAWING WOOD AT 101

Keep on sawing wood and forget your age is the living advice of James A. Rocheford who is shown here celebrating his 101st birthday at the old buck saw. The picture was taken at his home in Brighton, Mass., last week. His wife, 84 years old, assisted him to make merry. He says a little exercise after passing 100 years is just as enjoyable as before reaching the century mark and to this practice he attributes his joy in life.

FRONTIER COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT TELLS OF TRIP TO THE STATE FARM.

The following communication from W. H. Campbell, County Agent of Frontier County tells of the trip made by Frontier County farmers to the Experimental Substation, and other matters of interest to farmers.

This year the corn plowing and harvest overlapped so far that the annual tour to the North Platte Experiment Station was postponed. However a few went to look over the small grain platte and to report observation.

By the Experimental Station reports we find that the farmers of Frontier County are following the best practice—wheat or oats after corn and corn after small grain.

While a larger yield of wheat is obtained on ground that was summer fallowed, the difference is not enough to pay for the loss of a crop every other year by the summer fallow or tillage.

Corn continuously after corn worked out better than wheat following wheat.

Next week we will tell about the dairy herd of grade and purebred Holsteins.

Another sewing club was organized Tuesday evening, June 27, at school district No. 10 7 East Curtis. Miss Alice Olson is leader.

A law has recently been passed in New York by which a new house carries an exemption of $5,000 in valuation for taxes. This applies only to the first year's tax and is designed to encourage building. It has not been in force long enough to enable one to judge of the result. However as a general proposition it is not right to exempt any private property from taxation because that makes all other property that is taxed pay a little more. Just so much money has to be raised from taxation and the prob is to get each to pay his just proportion.

Dr. F. W. Miller, Dentist, Keith Theatre Building.

A number of young people held an enjoyable dancing party at the Country Club Wednesday evening. The out of town guests were Miss Frances Westring of Lincoln, the house guest of Miss Violet Maddox, Miss Reba Eves of Oakland, Calif., a guest at the York Hinman home, and Miss Faith Campbell of Los Angeles, a guest at the F. He was well known here and had many friends on account of his happy disposition and other good qualities. An obituary will be published later.

MONEY THROWN ON THE WATER RETURNS TO YOU IN A FEW DAYS

more—worth more in the selling market. Homes and farms and blocks and businesses and jobs are least valuable and poorest in communities whose people spend their money elsewhere.

PART, however small, of every dollar you spend in your own town comes back to you. The more money that is spent in this town, the more there is to be spent WITH YOU, no matter whether your business is farming, dry goodsing, restauranting, plumbing or laboring.

This is true of every town and city in the land. But the town that can coax money from the people of other towns, soon becomes so prosperous that people flock to it, and that's how wealthy cities are made.

It is the duty of every man and woman in this community to spend every cent he intends to spend right here. It is his duty to himself, so that his own property, his own business, his own job will be worth

One Way to get Big Mileage Regularly

The importance of gasoline with a complete chain of boiling point fractions

You wouldn't expect to light a green stick with a match. Yet some gasolines are like green sticks. They neither ignite quickly nor burn up completely—because they lack sufficient low boiling-point fractions for kindling, and have too great a proportion of slow-burning elements.

Straight distilled gasoline possesses the complete chain of boiling points which assures quick ignition and practically instant, complete combustion. Every bit is converted into heat and power—gives bigger mileage per gallon than slow-burning mixtures, or less carefully refined gasoline.

Red Crown Gasoline has a complete chain of boiling point fractions

Red Crown Gasoline is straight distilled gasoline. It meets all specifications required by the United States Navy for motor gasoline. It has a complete chain of boiling-point fractions—low, medium and higher boiling-point fractions—which, in right proportion, assure big power and big mileage. It is uniform and dependable wherever you buy it.

How to get better results at less cost

The way to get mileage and power economically, to escape carbon troubles, to have a spry, quick-starting engine, is by perfect adjustment of the motor to the fuel used. This can only be secured by using gasoline that is UNIFORM—gasoline you can get wherever you are—gasoline that gives a lean, dry, powerful mixture under all weather conditions. Use Red Crown Gasoline.

Authorized Red Crown Dealers

Everywhere
Wherever you go you can always get Red Crown Gasoline from reliable, competent and obliging dealers. The gasoline and motor oils they sell make motor operation more economical and more dependable. They are glad to render the little courtesies which make motoring pleasanter. Drive in where you see the Red Crown Sign.
