The enrollment in boys' and girls' clubs over the state now numbers more than 4000. Eleven kinds of clubs have been formed for the purpose of interesting boys and girls in farming, stock raising, and home-making. The clubs and their enrollment on June 15 follow: Calf 167; canning 87; Cooking 584; corn 23; garden 241; garment 753; pig 1109; potato 15; poultry 829; rabbit 10; sheep 11. Each club has a local leader to direct the work. Lessons provided by the College of Agriculture are studied and various methods discussed at the club meetings. The juniors learn in main by doing the actual work, however. At the end of the season each club member writes a story of how he or she did their work. Each club member also keeps an accurate financial record and reports on the profit or loss of the project. The purpose of the boys' and girls' club work is to interest the juniors in country life and better methods of farming and housekeeping.

At the meeting of the Midwest Farm Bureau Federation presidents and secretaries held in Chicago last week in connection with the meeting of the American Farm Bureau executive committee, the Farm Bureau from-mine-to-consumer co-operative coal marketing plan was tentatively agreed upon. It was plainly stated that the plan is not to be a commercial enterprise, but merely a service agency, serving not only the Farm Bureau members but all individuals. Orders will be placed by individuals through their county farm bureau. The County Farm Bureau will pool the orders through the purchasing agent of the office or allied organization. The orders for each state will be turned over to the purchasing agent, who will then seek the grade of coal desired at the most favorable rate as regards location, the coal to be delivered through the local cooperative elevator, the local dealer, or County Farm Bureau. The farmer is to pay for his coal upon arrival at his local distributing point.

Improper feeding of young chickens is injuring the reputation of Nebraska as a poultry state, according to poultry specialists of the State College of Agriculture. Young chickens marketed from farms are so unfinished that hotels must buy from packers, who finish out the chickens after buying them from farmers. These unfinished young chickens are known as the airplane type—all wings and machinery. Buyers say the unwillingness of many people to feed grain and finish out the young chickens holds down the price. The theory that young chickens obtain enough grain foraging about the place is wrong, specialists declare. As a rule they do not get enough to keep them growing and properly finish them for the market. As a result they are marketed when little more than skin and bones.

A good many farmers who hog down or run sheep in corn during the fall months, sow rape in the corn. The State College of Agriculture has found rape a valuable supplemental feed where stock is turned into the corn fields. While some farmers sow rape at the time of the last cultivation, unless the season is favorable it is probably better not to sow it until the latter part of July. It may be sown up to the middle of August, the season and maturity of the corn having much to do with the time. The corn should be mature enough to suffer no setback from the presence of the rape. If the season is favorable an abundance of fine feed will be produced in a few weeks. Rape in corn helps to give hogs and sheep a good start and provides considerable feed until frost, especially if there is plenty of rain during August and September. Farmers who have given rape a trial believe it is well worth while.

Partial returns have been received by the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation from twenty-one Nebraska counties giving replies to the American Farm Bureau questionnaire on

DON'T PLAY "BLIND MAN'S BUFF" WITH YOUR PRECIOUS DOLLARS

LIND MAN'S BUFF is a poor game to play when we are spending our dollars. And that's exactly what we do when we send away to buy an article by mail.

The mail order house gets your letter and cash among a thousand or ten thousand others and a clerk jerks your article from the huge pile and sends it to you. No picking it over to suit your taste; no attempt to fit your special needs; you get no choice at all.

But when you trade at home, you pick yourself as your taste dictates; you can choose yourself for quality, and you can see to it yourself that your special needs are filled. Besides, the man in the store is your neighbor, and tries to please you. You must buy his goods with quality in mind and in order to sell at all his price must be reasonable. Don't invest your precious dollars in "Blind Man's Buff."
