U. S. GRAIN GROWERS ANSWER NATIONAL GRAIN DEALERS ASSOCIATION.

Vigorous protests by farmers against the manner in which the Grain Dealer's National Association is attempting to discredit the idea of co-operative marketing is the outstanding feature of the third week of field operations by U. S. Grain Growers solicitors, according to a statement issued here today by the national headquarters of the new farmer-owned company.

Recapitulation of organization work last week shows that 252 elevators and more than 4161 grower contracts have been signed.

"The flood of propaganda that has been released in all sections where contracts are being circulated," the statement says, "has resulted in a solidarity on the part of the growers that could have been obtained in no other way. This feeling is especially noticeable in McLean and LaSalle counties in Illinois," the statement continues. "One farmer there met solicitors with an unopened envelope in his hand. Lettering on the envelope revealed that it contained the 'Sign Here' propaganda that is being so freely circulated. 'If the yare so anxious that I should not sign,' he said, 'I'll join just because they are afraid that I will!'"

In McLean county, Illinois, where the campaign has been in progress for weeks, sixteen elevator and 283 grower contracts have been signed. Two men last week made 33 solicitations and obtained 27 contracts. In that section the daily average is 35. In LaSalle county, where work started last Monday, nineteen elevator and four local association contracts have been signed. The first day in that county, solicitors obtained 47 grower contracts. Reports for the week were incomplete, but no doubt but that the goal of the 200 memberships in six days would be reached.

In Nebraska 84 elevator contracts have been signed and for the present, solicitors are concentrating on membership work. The total grower membership for Nebraska at the time the week's summary was made was 164, with reports incomplete. Four teams of four men each have been at work in Thayer and Nuckolls counties.

A second school at Manhattan at which solicitors were given additional training was the feature of the week's work in Kansas. Reports from that state show that farmers are anxious to get into the movement. One hundred and twenty grower contracts have been signed in Clay county and one elevator and seven grower agreements in Meade county. Intensive solicitation will be extended into Meade and Ford counties this week.

In North Dakota, a recapitulation of two months work shows that 195 elevators and local associations and 3984 farmers who have become affiliated with the movement have been authentically reported. Grain is being handled by the U. S. Grain Growers in that state and producers are accepting 75 per cent of the market value on pooled wheat shipped. C. H. Lien, a solicitor, obtained 77 growers contracts out of 93 solicitations in six days in Kidder County.

Field work is getting under way in South Dakota and reports are encouraging. The Clark County Farmers' Elevator of Clark, largest in the state was the first to join the movement. E. H. Day, president of the company and a director of the American Co-operative Publishing company was the first farmer to sign an individual agreement. The other elevator contracts were signed early in the campaign in Coddington County. South Dakota reports are incomplete.

In Colorado, J. D. Pancake, national director, and J. M. Rodgers, president of the state farm bureau organization, are preparing to begin the membership drive. A local association with ten members who control 2360 acres of wheat has been formed at Bennett.

Fourteen elevator and 84 grower contracts have been received from Missouri. Likewise, 308 individual Oklahoma and eight elevator affiliations have been authentically reported.

BARGAIN!

THE mail order house never has a bargain--NOT FOR YOU, ANYWAY. If there are bargains occasionally, the thousands of employees of the mail order concern get them, they or their friends. Your own home town merchant frequently has bargains and TELLS YOU about them through the paper you read. The mail order house that receives your order doesn't know you from Adam and doesn't care. The home town merchant knows you as a neighbor and HE CARES. He cares enough for you and your trade that he goes to the trouble and expense of telling you about his goods and his bargains. He cares enough to carefully show you his goods. He gives you a choice among many; if you don't like one article, he shows you another until you are pleased. Trade at home and you get service, choice quality, and as good prices. Trade at home and your money helps your town--which is only another word for saying that you help to make your own property or your own job better.

YEAR BOOKS

Most Lodges and Societies publish some kind of an annual or year book giving outlines of program for the coming year, lists of members, officers constitution and by-laws, etc. These year books become increasingly valuable as the years go by and the owners would not take dollars for them. They can be printed for from 5c to 25c each. We have special facilities for doing this class of work in a satisfactory manner. Three master printers are at the call of those who may need their services. Think about it and then see us.
