FRIDAY, OCTOBR 21st, 1921 EDITORIAL

Yesterday we saw a receipt for a subscription paid for the Tribune by Henry Facka in 1887. The receipt was made out to the Lincoln County Tribune and was signed by Stevens among the papers of the late Henry Facka and will be treasured by them The subscription price then was $1.50 a year and the paper was a comes twice a week

We are told there is a movement on foot in this part of the state to secure the nomination and election of W. M. Stebbins of Gothenburg as State Treasurer of Nebraska. We do not know whether Mr. Stebbins is available for this office or not but goes much further.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Votaw announce the marriage of their daughter Bertha to Ralph W. Coates on Thursday, Oct. 6th, 1921 at Kearney, Nebr. At home after Nov. 1st. at Maxwell, Nebr. In this formal way the Tribune receives its first news of the wedding of two

We have on our desk a book which weekly. It is still $1.50 a year but marks an epoch in the literary life of Western Nebraska. Only a few such volumes have come into being up to this date and none bearing a more significant message of pioneer life. The book is "Trails of Yesterday" by the late John Bratt. The University Publishing Co. of Lincoln undertook the printing and bindig and it has succeeded in putting out a beautiful, well-bound artistically printed book. A he looks like a find.
