AFTER COIN

I. S. and J. W. Phillips with Jim McDermott playing the part of the jockey, started Thursday afternoon for the Lodgepole and South Platte valley towns, bent on matching the Lisco pony against the running horses in the towns along the route. In case nothing serious happens, the party will travel as far south as Holyoke and as far east as North Platte, in quest of easy money. The Lisco pony is the fastest running horse in the country of his weight. A good many will not agree with this statement. A difference of opinion is what makes a horse race. The pony has been very successful all season and we hope the boys will again return home with the bacon. —Liscope Tribune.

QUEER ACCIDENT

Last Sunday morning while working about the kitchen, Mrs. Charles Davis living just north of Arnold, was accidentally shot by a 22 caliber bullet, which had been lying on the warming oven of the range and in some manner was brushed off onto the heated stove where it exploded.

The bullet struck just back of the temple, making a scalp wound, but the family to insure against further trouble, took Mrs. Davis to Callaway hospital where the bullet had glanced making a flesh wound. Friends of Mrs. Davis will be happy to learn that what might have been a serious accident will not discommode her in any way except for a soreness for a short time. —Arnold Sentinel.

MORE TROUBLE

Some of the transmission line materials arrived today, and will be stored in Hershey until time to use them. We trust the controversies over the right-of-way can all be cleared up within a short time, as this is all that is now holding the contractors from erecting the line. The village boards of Paxton, Sutherland and Hershey meet again today to make an endeavor to arrive at some arrangement with the owners of the Sutherland Telephone Company, who are backing the proposition, claiming the high-tension line will injure their service. Unless Hershey gets the transmission line service before long we may be up against an emergency as our light plant is all but "shot." —Hershey Times.

A DUTY

Another reason why justice seems so often to miscarry in the courts of this country is the practice of many good and useful citizens of dodging jury duty. Men of the type we need on our juries can easily make far more money at their business than the state is able to pay them for the same length of time served on a jury. As a result too many who are unfit to sit in judgment get on our juries because men of better judgment refuse to serve. So we have unpopular verdicts in many instances. Don't dodge jury duty. Serving on the jury when it is at all possible for you to do so is as much of a duty as paying your taxes and doing what you can to protect the health of the community.

You owe it to the state, the county you live in and to your neighbors to lend what assistance you can in protecting society and seeing that justice is meted out to every man. So don't be guilty of neglecting your duty by finding an excuse to escape serving on a jury. —Maxwell Telepost.

Teaching "First Aid" is Mighty Good Business as long as there is an average of 75,000 people killed in accidents every year, as long as 3,500,000 industrial disabilities each year are due to industrial accidents.

To help prevent this waste of life and labor 437 American Red Cross Chapters last year conducted 5,100 First Aid Classes, with an enrollment of 104,496 students.

During the year 20,172 persons completed the course and received their certificates.

What do you say to doubling this record next year?

Double the Red Cross membership in this, the annual Membership Roll Call, and the Red Cross will do what it always has done—its best.

The expansion of First Aid Instruction by the Red Cross is up to YOU, because it is only through your membership dollars that the Red Cross Carry On.
