NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION MAKES REPORT OF ACTIVITIES

The following is copied from the report of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation which has just been issued:

Probably the greatest achievement of the first year of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation has been the placing of the County Farm Bureaus upon a sound and active basis, having conducted membership campaigns in 46 counties without cost to the counties. For the first time, farmers in the various counties are taking a real interest in their Farm Bureaus; and for the first time the counties have had a fund other than tax money, with which to work.

Board of directors composed of 11 farmers from different parts of the state have met practically once a month to consider farm problems and to plan relief.

Published the "Farm Bureau Review" each week and sent it to every member in the state so that they might be familiar with the Farm Bureau activities.

Prepared news items for local newspapers and agricultural journals. The Nebraska Farm Bureau is constantly securing information for the various county farm bureaus and thus helping them to meet problems confronting them; has assisted in co-operative marketing programs and helped to outline the National Farm Bureau policy. It has circulated state and national referendums on questions of importance before the state legislature and the national congress, outlining to lawmakers the needs of the farmer.

Through personal attendance of the secretary, represented federation members at 40 conferences in nearby states where plans were discussed looking to the welfare of all. The state federation has also furnished speakers at about 200 meetings of farmers throughout the state and consulted with those present on farm problems.

Secretary has also co-operated with the proper authorities to obtain distribution of market information and weather reports to farmers, and led in the movement to secure market reports and weather forecasts by radio telephone, and results are assured in the near future.

Secretary attended the railroad rate hearing in Washington and assisted in making a showing which has resulted in a reduction of 17 per cent in railroad rates on grain and hay in the middle west. According to Interstate Commerce commission report this means a saving of from $10.00 to $50.00 for every farmer of the state. The Farm Bureau was the only organization of individual farmers that took part in the hearing.

To secure better marketing conditions the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation supported the marketing committee of seventeen with time, effort and funds. Now, we are backing the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., to the limit as we believe the plan is good and that the farmer must follow his product more nearly to the ultimate consumer in order to secure economic justice.

Through its legal service department it offers advice to members and to co-operative companies and has represented groups of farmers in telephone and railroad problems.

Distributed more than 200 sets of government harness and other government merchandise, representing a great saving to these purchasers.

Co-operated with other organizations in securing and filing petitions, which suspends and refers to a direct vote of the people, Senate File No. 305, being state wide registration law; House Roll No. 193, giving state banking department discretionary powers in the granting of bank charters to modify direct primary law.

Represented the farmers of Nebraska legislature of 1921, in securing the passage of the following laws of vital interest to farmers: A bill requiring seeds to be planted to show their true worth. Permit the State Agricultural school to handle serum and so keep the price in this state down to a reasonable amount. Provided funds to pay the cattle condemned for tuberculosis.

Co-operated with the farmers' union before legislature, in securing the following laws: A blue sky law with teeth, regulating corporation stock sales. A new and better law for the incorporation of co-operative companies. Re-assessed real estate to avoid the excessive valuation of 1920. fathered reliable agricultural information through the assessors. A workable and fair state hail insurance law. Provided for co-operative banks. Provided for inspection and grading of potatoes. Altered the school law so that consolidation will take place only when desired by 60 per cent of voters. Provided that a farm grain bin may be made a warehouse, and receipts issued which should help materially in getting loans. Gave railway commission power to require that caretakers of livestock be given safe places to alight from the cars.

Many other activities of a lesser nature could be detailed, but it is sufficient to say that the men who have felt responsible for the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation have striven to make the organization one of real service to the farmers of Nebraska, and they feel gratified with the results of the past year's efforts. With the need for organized effort on the part of the farmers greater than ever, the Nebraska Federation will be in a position to give greater service than in the first year of its existence.

Letters to the Editor

Tribune: The Women's Christian Temperance Union through the columns of the Tribune wishes to thank Rev. C. F. Koch of this city for the splendid letter telling of the violations of the law here. Our city should have law enforcement, which we know it has not.

Secretary.

North Platte, Neb., Dec 7, 1921.
Dear Mr. Editor: In regard to the letter appearing in your paper for December 6, signed "A Taxpayer," I believe if this said taxpayer would come to the school house and pay us a visit from 9 until 4 some day, he will change his mind as to what kind of a school North Platte really has. Please Mr. Taxpayer give us a chance. Yours truly,

A Scholar.
