EDITORIAL

From now on we expect to close the forms for the Tribune by nine o'clock on the day of publication. This means that we will not be able to take care of any advertising on the day the paper is issued and that only a limited number of items can be taken in. This will enable us to get the paper into the hands of our subscribers in the city during the noon hour and we can get the out of town copies into the early mails and get them delivered on time.

Ordering of Christmas cards cannot be put off much longer. The selection is still good but it will be too late to get them here unless they are ordered now. There is a satisfaction in having your own message and name neatly placed on a card that expresses your own idea. It can be done and we are doing it every day now. The cost is moderate where fifty or more are ordered at once but some only order ten to twenty-five. Our samples are ready for your inspection. The Tribune Office.

We have not heard yet that any organization is to sell the Christmas seals in North Platte. For several years the Twentieth Century club has been the local agents and has expended our share of the proceeds for the benefit of the community. For some reason, it is not expecting to handle the seals this year and we have not been able to learn who takes them instead. The Christmas seal appeals to many people from the side of sentiment and each carries a message of cheer. We will miss them if they do not reach North Platte this Christmas.

One of the mistakes which people often make is in accusing the high school of being responsible for the acts of the individual pupils. This is not fair to Superintendent Little nor to the faculty. When a high school boy is found gambling, it is common practice to emphasize the fact that he is a high school boy as though the teachers had taught him to gamble. When a high school girl goes wrong the fact is stated in such a manner that it implies she is bad because she goes to high school. Other illustrations might be given along the same line. They are not fair to the school. The whole influence of the school and teachers is against those vices which are oftenest mentioned in connection with high school pupils. Usually the high school teachers know the truth as soon as anyone and it is more than probable that they are worrying over it and studying means for stopping it long before those who tell of it, know anything about it. These same people are opposed to a church because of the people who belong. There have always been black sheep in every high school and there always will be. It is not to the discredit of the school that it takes them in and does all it can for them. Let's be fair and not accuse these high schools of what they are in no way to blame for.

SEVENTH ANNUAL

POULTRY SHOW
THIS WEEK.

Platte Valley Poultry Breeders' Association, Inc. announce these dates
December 14, 15, 16 and 17 Inclusive
Show will be held at Willard Service Station, 410 Locust North Platte, Nebraska
The biggest and best Poultry Show ever held in Western Nebraska.

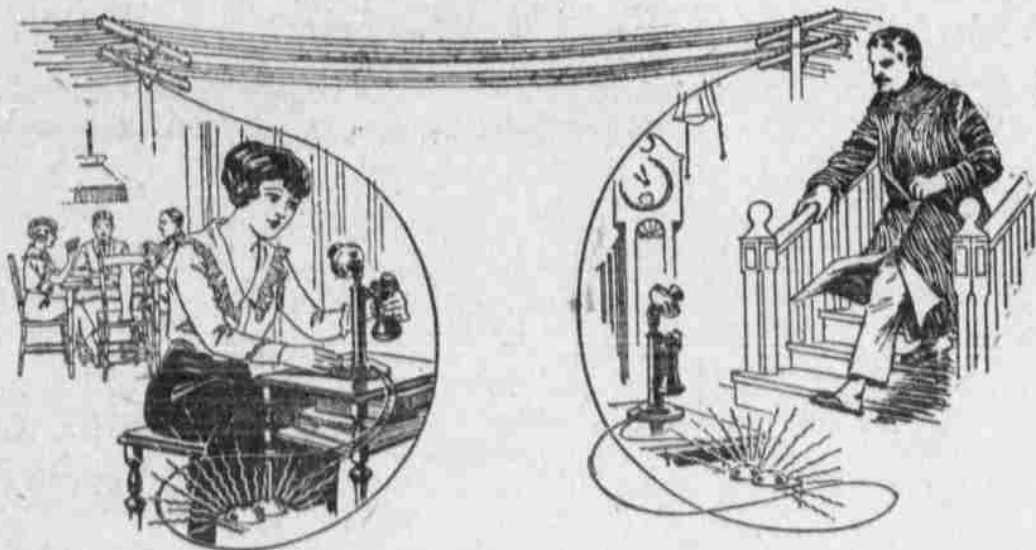

Chicken fanciers from all parts of Western Nebraska have requested premium books and are preparing to come with their birds.

ADMISSION WILL BE FREE.

Tell your neighbors and have them procure a premium book from the secretary, L. I. Tucker, so that all interested may have an opportunity to enter for the prizes and have their chickens scored by the American Standard of Perfection. We anticipate from 300 to 500 birds and everything points to the largest show ever held in Lincoln county.

Interest in pure-bred poultry is growing all over Nebraska all of which makes this the opportune time for a big and grand display of poultry. We invite all the neighboring towns and all the neighboring farm people who read this announcement to come and be a spoke in the wheel of success. We need the co-operation of all chicken fanciers and people who breed standard bred poultry to put over the biggest show in the state. Don't forget the date, December 14, 15, 16, 17, at 410 Locust St., Willard Service Station.

ADMISSION IS FREE

Wait!

If the receiver on a party line telephone is removed while the bell is ringing it may cause the bell of the other telephones on the line to ring.

This is why party line subscribers sometimes answer the telephone and find that another party on the line is talking.

If party line subscribers will always wait until the bell stops ringing before lifting the receiver it will prevent annoyance to others on the line.
