

Vaudeville at the Keith, Today

AN INTERESTING VAUDEVILLE BILL AT THE KEITH THEATER HEADED BY THOSE CLEVER COMEDY GYMNASTS

KENNEY & WILLIAMS in their sensational and funny offering on the Flying Rings, doing many difficult and daring tricks in mid-air, interspersed with Rube Comedy—funny twists, falls and leaps. They are skillful performers.

FOSTER & FOSTER share the comedy honors in their conglomeration of music and imitations called "The Volunteer Pianist." This skit was built for laughter.

MORGAN & LEWIS is another laugh producer, introducing their hilarious skit "What Next," full of surprises and a laugh a minute.

BERT FORD a musical genius starts the show in a lively manner in the "Musical Doughboy."

Also a Feature Picture is added to this entertaining program.

EDITORIAL

In keeping with the times we offer to print a want ad for anyone who needs a job. We will print the ad twice free and be glad to do it. Anyone wanting work, whether man, woman or child will please call at this office and tell the girl at the desk and she will see that the ad is put in the next issue of the paper and no charge will be made.

The night before Christmas the government thermometer registered 4 degrees below zero. This is the coldest so far this season. It had snowed a little and the ground was white. Christmas morning was not so cold and the sun shone bright. It was all one could wish for Christmas weather and with mild temperature, the bright sunshine and the ground covered with snow, North Platte certainly had an ideal Christmas day. Californians please notice.

The presence of so many young men at the Chamber of Commerce banquet last night was spoken of by several. At the same time the absence of some of the men who have long carried the burden was remarked. We missed T. C. Patterson, John Halligan, J. G. Bepler, Dr. McCabe, A. F. Strelitz, W. W. Birge, W. T. Wilcox, and a number of others. It is a hopeful sign when the young men get into the game but we hate to see the older men drop out and their counsel will be greatly missed.

The editor of The Tribune approves of the vocational night school and all it stands for. We have studied the idea for a number of years and during that time we were looking forward to the time when North Platte would have one. We are assured by Superintendent Littel that a way has been found so that it will not add to the tax burden of the community. The men and women of North Platte are enrolling in numbers which seem to guarantee its success. The Tribune is pleased to add its word of encouragement and hope that it will prove the success which similar schools has been in other places.

Everyone is heartily in favor of reducing taxes. Since the greatest tax is paid into the school fund, the attention of all is directed there first. Then comes the question of where the schools are expending money which can be saved. Some attack the common schools, some the high schools and some the university. Each of these is necessary and must be maintained. The common school is for everybody; the high school for all who will and can attend and the university trains our leaders. We cannot do without any of them. But enough money could be saved to cut the educational costs in two, if reforms were made which would not impair the quality of the instruction. Suppose a high standard of scholarship were maintained at the University of Nebraska and the enrollment limited to those who were earnestly seeking an education and were willing to work night and day to get it. We would have a few of the big buildings on that campus for rent and about half the professors out of a job. But as long as we make the University a place where those are allowed to attend who aim to "get by" just so they have a good time, the cost will mount higher and higher. The University authorities are not to blame. They are led to believe that their showing with the people consists in announcing "a greater enrollment than ever before." They are striving to get the students to work and are having some success. But the great mass of taxpayers are not demanding seriousness of purpose and determination.

On the part of the students and the University authorities stand alone in their efforts. We must not crumble our state university and it is too much to think that the reform mentioned can be accomplished soon but we need not complain if we have to pay the price.

Society

A number of friends of Mrs. Clyde Cook and Mrs. Edgar Inman delightfully surprised them Tuesday evening at a handkerchief shower in honor of their birthdays. The evening was spent in cards and refreshments were served.

Miss Marion Richards entertained the Nicafigee Campfire at her home last evening. Arrangements were made for the play "The Hoodoo," which will be given by this campfire on Febr. 2. Honor beads were given to those who had earned them. Lunch was served.

Mrs. W. T. Wilcox and daughter, Lucille, entertained chapter A K P. E. O. at their home Wednesday afternoon at a Christmas tea. Decorations were in keeping with holiday season and a dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Morgren of Douglas, Wyo., was the only out of town guest.

The Kiwanians of the city enjoyed Christmas dinner in the guild parlors of the Christian church Tuesday noon. After a delicious chicken dinner election of officers took place. F. C. Pielsticker was elected president.

W. E. Starr, vice president, and H. P. Hansen, Rev. W. H. Moore, Dr. C. A. Selby and J. E. Souder were elected directors. The directors carried over from last year are S. R. Derrberry, Dr. O. H. Cresser and Earl Stamp.

Mrs. A. E. Bell was the honored guest at a farewell party given her Tuesday evening at her home. A pleasant evening was spent in dancing and cards after which a two course lunch was served. The guests presented Mrs. Bell with a Yeoman pin. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Vine of Gethenburg were the only out of town guests.

Mrs. Leonard Dick and Miss Hazel Lierk entertained at a pyrex shower complimentary to Mrs. Edward Sluder a recent bride. The shower was held at the Dick home on Wednesday and a pleasant evening was spent. The first part of the evening was taken up by contents followed by playing Somerset. At the close of the evening refreshments were served. Mrs. Sluder received many useful gifts.

The Order of DeMolay initiated twelve candidates Wednesday evening. Practically the entire membership was on hand and many Master Masons took advantage of the invitation to be the guests of the order. The drill team was well trained and put on the work in a manner which won the admiration of everyone.

The Order of DeMolay and Job's Daughters held a joint party at the Masonic temple last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Swenson entertained twenty six guests at their home Wednesday evening. A program was given for the entertainment of the guests as follows: Reading by Mrs. Robert Dickey, vocal solo, Mrs. Edw. Durke; two readings by Miss Sarah Kelly, and piano selection by Dorothy Shuman. Two contests were also a part of the evening's entertainment. A delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening.

About thirty friends an relatives of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mason gathered at their home Wednesday evening and helped Mr. Mason celebrate his 81st birthday. The evening was spent in singing old familiar hymns varied by numbers on the Victrola. Mr. Mason was presented with a large birthday cake which was afterwards cut and served the guests. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the evening and the guests departed wishing Mr. Mason many happy birthdays.

One of the outstanding parties of the season was that of the Rotary club which was held Tuesday evening. The members and their ladies met at the banquet room of the Methodist church and were served with a three course dinner by the ladies of the church. Horns, whistles, buffoon caps, pop-guns and other trinkets served to enliven the occasion. Songs and speeches intervened. About 8 o'clock the banqueters were taken to the Episcopal church basement where a Christmas tree had been prepared and where each of the Rotarians received an individual gift and each of the ladies candy. At 9 o'clock the party was over, many of the guests leaving for other functions.

Miss Eva Hoagland entertained at a one o'clock bridge luncheon yesterday at her home in honor of Miss Mildred Marley of Colome, S. D., who is the guest at the L. E. Hastings home. Decorations were in keeping with the holiday season and miniature Christmas trees were used as favors. Following the well appointed luncheon the remainder of the afternoon was spent in bridge. Miss Helen Seibert of Grand Island was the only other out of town guest. The guest list included the Misses Florence Wilcox, Minerva Hastings, Marjory Russell, Mabelle McFarland, Wilma Coates, Emma Bogue, Elsie Waltemath, Helen Smith Janet McDonald, Mary Temple, Adele LeBlond
