EDITORIAL

Today is Friday the 13th.

Any shortage of news in this issue can be accounted for by the sickness of our city reporter Adele LeDioy who is suffering from an attack of tonsillitis.

We were at the depot yesterday when train No. 13 came in. A milk truck ran up alongside the train, several pouches were thrown into the truck, away it sped down Dewey, picked up a pilot and out on fourth street to the hangar. Before it seemed possible that the truck had reached the air mail grounds, the plane went over going west. The train was still standing in the yards.

Parking automobiles within the city limits is under the supervision and control of the police department. When the chief is convinced that it is not for the public good or will work a harm on some individual or business he has the power to make parking regulations and they have the force of law. "No Parking Here By Order of the Chief of Police" is a sign that means something and motorists should heed the sign. Such signs have been placed in front of the Keith theater and at any time similar signs may be placed in any part of the city.

They are joshing Mrs. Elda Beal at the court house these days accusing her of being in police court last week. It seems that a Mrs. Biehl was arrested and when the reporters got the report they spelled it Beal and that caused the confusion.

Elsewhere we are printing a poem which was sent to us by our friend O. O. H. Weldner, superintendent of Fort McPherson National cemetery. It marks another poet for Lincoln county and gives J. W. Le a run for the honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Baker will leave Saturday for a week's visit with friends in Denver.

L. & S. Groceries.

Yesterday E. J. J. Connelly of University Place, Nebr. was in the city in the interest of the preacher's pension fund of the Nebraska Methodist conference. This fund now has over half a million dollars and it is proposed to raise another half million in the near future.
