ANNOUNCEMENT

Every day since this gigantic sale opened our clerks have been on the run, and the result is the most complete and thorough clean-up of seasonable merchandise that we have ever had in the past. The merchandise that we are offering to the public, at unheard of prices, makes us believe that the price is in keeping with the public demands, and the quality better than the public expects so in order to stir the people to action—to create a greater buying movement—we have decided to still cut the prices deeper—to do away with all thought of profit for the next fifteen days—such price cutting in the heart of the winter season as no one has ever attempted before. And in making this announcement we wish to explain how we feel about it, so that you may understand there is no misrepresentation, hypocrisy or exaggeration about this sale. There is no question but what the agricultural sections like ours which produce farm products and raw materials have been the greatest sufferers, the greatest losers in the business depression we are just emerging from. And we believe that this situation has developed two distinct classes of business men: The profiteer, the slacker, the shirker, bent on getting his "pound of flesh" regardless of his fellowmen, and the public spirited, constructive, co-operative business man, willing and eager to carry his full share of the load. Therefore we are announcing this opportunity to every man, woman and child in North Platte, Lincoln County and Western Nebraska. If you will come to our store during this sale period, you can buy whatever you are in need of in our line, whatever you have been wanting and could not previously afford, and you can buy it at an absolute sacrifice of profit on our part. As a matter of business policy in the true co-operative business spirit, we offer you this opportunity just when your need is greatest. Our compensation is the full knowledge that good work, well done, brings its inevitable reward.

(Signed.)

KEARNEY HUB TELLS ITS READERS OF PLANS FOR IRRIGATION

Following is clipped from the Kearney Hub, of Jan. 18 and is late news on the irrigation survey.

The prospective survey of the lower Platte irrigation project now in the making, is to be extended to include all of Lincoln and Buffalo counties. This decision was reached at a meeting held recently in Lexington, at which time assurance was given that the counties benefitted would bear such additional expense as might be incurred.

A tentative plan of the engineers who have now spent some four months at their task of making a preliminary survey, just to include a reservoir on the Wood River slope and through use of the Wood River as a canal reach all of the acreage in the eastern part of this county. Such proposal has the almost united support of land owners in the valley east from Kearney. It would assure water when needed on some of the most fertile lands of Nebraska.

It has also been deemed advisable to file on a sufficient amount of water to care for the entire project's needs. Filings have accordingly been made for 85,000 acres on the south side and 140,000 acres on the north side. In addition the requirements for three reservoirs on the south side and five north of the Platte are also being looked after. The necessary draft accompanied these applications when they were filed with the department.

The making of a preliminary survey is necessarily somewhat slow, but engineers have covered the ground in preliminary inspection several times and the actual survey is also well under way. It will require months to complete the task however.

The project as originally proposed, has already been considerably extended. As now outlined, it includes the Wood River valley, from a point near Eddyville, swinging down the valley by running the canal along the ridge the entire distance to and possibly beyond Kearney. Thus not alone acreage south of the Platte to a point opposite Overton and north of the river to Kearney will be reached, but the canal will be cut in further west in Lincoln county and extended further east through Buffalo county. In addition thousands of acres in the Wood river valley will be reached.

The irrigation project movement seems to have gained additional impetus since actual surveying was gotten under way. Various meetings held over the district of late have been attended for the greater part, by the farmers who were directly affected and interested. The magnitude of the undertaking and its possibilities are being grasped by people up and down the entire valley and generally it is firmly believed that this project will make the Platte Valley one of the greatest agricultural centers of the country.

A feature that is not being lost sight of is the possibility of power development, coming along with construction of the irrigation canal. Engineers working on the project state there will be enough power energy for all commercial industries as well as heat and light for every home in the valley at a reasonable price.

Money invested with the Goodman-Buckley Trust Company will realize you 6 per cent to 7 per cent and be free from State, County or City Taxes. Under the new tax laws many securities are subject to taxes which were not under the old law. You had better investigate this.

CHARITY BODY IS ORGANIZED

LOCAL WORKERS FORM ORGANIZATION TO CARE FOR NEEDS OF WORTHY POOR

The board of control of the North Platte Associated Charities met yesterday and planned the work in outline for which it has been organized. Rev. J. B. Payne gave his answer to the invitation extended to him to become executive secretary of the organization. He declined the place. Miss Sarah Kelly was elected temporary executive secretary at a salary of $50 a month. She is to give a part of her time to the work and will be assisted by Miss Florence Chaffin of the Red Cross and the members of the committee. The board of control appointed J. E. Sebastian, R. C. Cantlin and Miss Anna C. Kramph as an executive committee to manage affairs of the board. A room has been secured in the City Hall where donations of clothing will be received from 2 to 4 p. m. next Tuesday. Children's clothing especially is needed. All relief will be distributed through a committee after the actual need has been ascertained. Citizens of North Platte are requested to inform any member of the committee regarding any families which are worthy of attention. Mrs. Ollie Salisbury is treasurer of the committee and will receive any contributions which any of the citizens may have. When seen yesterday Mr. Sebastian said, "We expect to relieve any needy people of the city who are brought to our attention, especially where there are children. We are working with Commissioner Cochran and there is a complete understanding so that there will be no unnecessary delays and no impositions on the public."
