WHAT LUCK?

The spring fishing season has opened for sure. Col Beatty was seen headed for the river Thursday forenoon with a long bamboo pole and a full equipment of fishing tackle. —Brady Vindicator.

ROOKERY

Shooting crows at night is becoming a popular pastime at the grove east of town. Some evenings there is a regular bombardment, and the crows are being slaughtered by the hundreds. These pests have become so numerous that if they were left unmolested for another year they would almost ruin the crops hereabouts. Good ridance boys, give them the gun.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

G. F. Liebendorfer was elected city superintendent of Public schools at a meeting of the school board last Monday evening. Seldom is a school so fortunate as to find material right at its very door to fill a vacancy in its highest office. Mr. Liebendorfer has been here a number of years as principal of the high school and his ability is undisputed and universally recognized. He will give his undivided attention to the work and the Telegraph will have something to say from time to time of his labors. He has the hearts of the students and amble ability to hold their interest and get the greatest good work from them.—Sidney Telegraph.

NOT SATISFIED

The village councils of Paxton, Sutherland, and Hershey met at Sutherland Wednesday evening to discuss the settlement of the transmission line. The inspector of the line has informed all three towns that the line was not up to specifications called for in the contracts and advised them not to make settlement. STAND STILL

Be a student of human nature. You will learn much and be wiser. A certain project is suggested for the home town. John Smith is an enthusiastic supporter. He sees success at every turn. There can be no such thing as failure. Tom Jones opposes. He can see nothing good in the project. It is doomed to certain failure with disaster in its wake. There you have the two extremes of life in a small community—the stumbling block which prosperity is unable to surmount or sidestep. Smith is granite in his optimism. Jones is flint in his pessimism.

Somewhere there is a middle course, most likely the correct and safe solution—but neither Smith nor Jones is willing to take it, or even to consider it. They stand pat—and the town stands still.—Dawson County Pioneer.

MISS HOAGLAND

More than a hundred young people were the delighted guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harrison and their niece, Miss Mary Henderson at a dancing party given at the Hotel McCloud Friday evening in compliment to Miss Eva Hoagland of North Platte and Miss Irene Jacobs of Kingfisher, Okla. Miss Hoagland as the guest of Miss Henderson during the vacation, granted by the state university last week and Miss Jacobs visited Miss Elizabeth Johnson. A group of young men and women from the university were special guests of their York friends on the evening of the fete. The ball room of the hotel was prepared for the event by decorations in shades of lavender and purple. The lights were shaded in a delicate lavender tint and an abundant use of cineraras in tints varying from lavender to royal purple provided the floral feature. Other happy functions given for the guests of Miss Henderson and Miss Johnson during the vacation days were those by Miss Dorothy Sprague, Miss Elizabeth Johnson and Mrs. C. A. McCloud.—York Teller.

R. E. Dillon, living northeast of here reports securing a white pelican on the lake at his place. It measured seven feet from tip to tip of its wings and was four feet, eight inches from the tip of its bill to the tip of its toes. It is pure white in color with black on the tips of the wings. The peculiar thing about a pelican is its pouch. Attached to the lower bill is a sack or trough made of folds of grating to the Amsherdtaoshrdnam skin. The bird scoops up a lot of small fish and then by contracting the pouch, forces the water out and holds the fish which are swallowed whole. It is a water bird and is migrating to the nesting grounds in Canada. Pelicans are not uncommon although they are not often seen because of their habits of flying by night and resting during the day.

GEORGE GILBERT COMBS

George Combs was born at Hastings, Neb., September 3, 1905, and died at North Platte, April 4, 1922. When he was 3 years old he came with his parents to their present home at Valyrang, where he has resided until his death. It was here that he went to school and was to have taken his examination of which he talked in his last illness. When he was 13 years old he was converted at the Baptist church of Glen Echo under the ministry of Rev. Etheridge and has been faithful in Sunday school and other services up to the time of his illness. On the farm George was a hard working boy. He loved his home and was always found there. Those who mourn his untimely departure are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Combs, his brothers and sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Ogbon, Brule, Neb.; Lloyd Combs and Mrs. Della Rudat, North Platte, Mrs. Ruth Crippen, Marie, Albert and Mildred who live at home; four nephews and three nieces and many friends.

THE REPUTATION BUILDERS

Have you ever been in a store where you felt in your bones that it was necessary to keep one hand on your watch and the other on your pocket-book, and where the good offered for sale convinced you that if you spent a dollar you would be making a bet with the proprietor with all the odds in his favor that he couldn't skin you? Did you ever buy merchandise with the firm conviction that if it proved defective, if you found out when you got home that it was not what it was represented to be you wouldn't get your money back? If you have had these experiences, you have probably been dealing with a non-advertiser. The advertiser is a man who has invested a certain amount in reputation. Generally he expects that if he sells to you once, he will sell to you again. To make his advertising pay, he must give you a square deal. Sometimes he even spends more to get you into his store the first time than the profit on the first sale amounts to. And yet he gains in the long run, because he knows that if you buy the first time on his solicitation you will buy the second and third times of your own accord. We don't say that every merchant who doesn't advertise is a cheat. We say that the safest way to avoid being cheated is to patronize merchants who have a reputation to sustain. Every regular newspaper advertiser is engaged in building up a reputation for fair dealing. His faith in himself justifies you in having faith in him.

WATER COMMISSIONER GIVES REASONS FOR BUILDING STRUCTURE

Hershey S. Welch is recommending to the city council a plan for saving a large amount of money for the water department and for getting a supply of softer water for city use. The facts given by Mr. Welch are as follows: A test of the water from the Kelly well as the new station in the south part of the city is called, shows that the water contains only about one-half the solid matter that is contained in the water from the north side station. This means that the water from the Kelly well is twice as soft as the water from the central pumping plant. It is plain that if the entire output of the Kelly well could be used it would give the citizens a softer and more desirable water. The Kelly well supplies from 900 to 1,100 gallons a minute. During six months of the year the consumption by the whole city is only 500 gallons a minute. So if the Kelly well alone were used during the six winter months it would furnish twice the supply of soft water needed for all purposes. Then the central plant would only be used in cases of emergency. The Kelly well is run by electricity. It costs about 4 cents to pump a thousand gallons. Since only half this amount is used the other half is pumped back into the well, making the cost 8 cents per thousand gallons that are used. Mr. Welch says if we had a tower and tank, the well could be used to supply the mains, and excess would be pumped into the tank instead of putting it back into the well. When the tank was full the pump would automatically shut off. When the water level in the tank got below a certain point the pumps at the central station furnish the entire city with a supply
