As we go to press word comes that the electric power is liable to stop on us at any time. The high water having cut quite a large ditch around the west end of the dam. Repairs are on the ground for putting in a waste pier and this work will be started soon—Arnold Sentinel.

FINGER CRUSHED

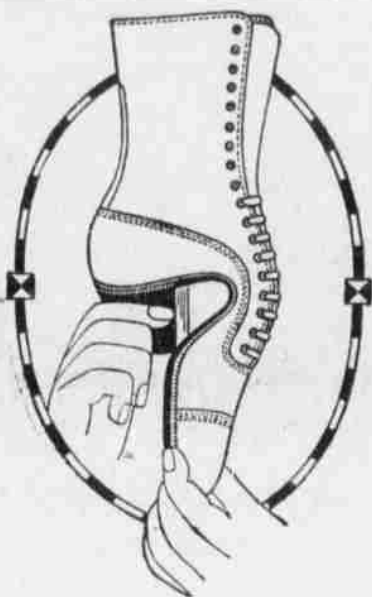

Mr. Storer was a passenger to North Platte Saturday to see his son, Edgar, who is there for treatment for a crushed finger, received while working with the windmill several weeks ago. For a time it was thought the finger, the middle finger on the right hand, could be saved, but because of being so badly crushed it was found necessary to amputate it quite far back into the hand.—Keith County News.

When the Shoe Fits

"The shoe which fits both the foot and the frock is the shoe of enduring satisfaction," says Le Costume Royal, the fashion magazine, in the October number. "No matter how harmonious the leather may be with the material of the frock; no matter how attractive the design, how appropriate to the costume; no matter any quality if it is not directly connected with the virtue of comfort."

"A source of courage for these direct statements lies in a tiny wrinkle of pain. Everyone has seen that poor tottering woman who is balanced upon uncertain heel with her feet squeezed into pathetic lumps and her forehead crumpled into wee wrinkles. Not that every woman should be firmly planted flatly upon a low heel, but rather upon that arch of comfort which is necessary to her correct support and which is appropriate in design to the frock she wears."

"Many women have avoided comfortable shoes, thinking them unattractive, and have suffered untold misery for the sake of a desired effect. Recently, however, a skilled craftsman, who knows not only the needs of a foot but realizes as well the importance of a smart effect, has designed shoes which are the last word of the mode and a source of eternal comfort."

"No longer need a woman desirous of comfort go tramping grimly about in shoes apparently built to support the law of gravitation. Absolutely chic in every detail, in a sense to please the most fastidious wearer, these new shoes of the mode are a perpetual tribute to the art of a good designer. Of soft, durable leather, each shoe is excellently made with an arch which keeps the position of the foot in its proper place. Instead of leaving it suspended above or flattened against the sole of the shoe, a condition which in either case holds a pernicious effect. Nor is the shape of the shoe awkwardly rounded into a bulging toe, but kept in a graceful line with the foot. In such subtleties of design lies the success of this footwear."

The name of this desirable shoe is attached to the illustrations accompanying the above article in Costume Royal. It is the CANTILEVER SHOE.

Come and see how well the Cantilever Shoe fits and looks on your foot. Let us demonstrate why it is so comfortable and so enjoyable.

HIGH TAXES

We find a vast difference in the assessed values of both real and personal property in Lincoln and Dawson county. In many cases we find the assessed valuation of personal property in the western part of Dawson county to be double that in the eastern part of Lincoln. We recommend that the authorities of Dawson county investigate this matter thoroughly and strive to have the assessed valuation of Dawson county property placed on a par with that of Lincoln county.—Lexington Clipper.

MOISTURE

It is not often that this part of Nebraska [welcomes a blizzard but such was the case in the vicinity of Brady last Monday. The wind started late Sunday night, and came in blasts and continued all day Monday, the gusts reminding one of the "outbursts of Everett True." The weather was not cold, the snow wet and soon soaked into the ground. The moisture was what the farmers wanted and people in general were not particular in what shape it came.—Brady Vindicator.

FAT GUY

Yesterday a big fat guy came through town on a hike from Danville, Ill., to Hollywood, Calif. He weighed 395 pounds when he started and claimed his weight here was 275. He is making the trip on a wager that he can reach Hollywood at a certain time and reduce his weight to a certain number of pounds. Lawsy sakes, what next? We expect to see some "geek" coming in backwards one of these days, on a cross county hike and people will contribute to him too! Oh, Mercy!—Hershey Times.

ROUND-UP

The managers of the Platte River Roundup or Pioneer Days exhibition have set the date for the second annual show for August 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 this year. The show will be given on the same grounds as last year although strong inducements have been offered to take it to a larger place. The plan of the management is to afford the people a chance to get out in the open, away from the hot and dusty towns and be where there is plenty of pure water from flowing springs and where every one can see the show in nature's own show ground. There is no place near any of the cities where 2,000 head of cattle could be shown along with 150 or 200 head of horses.—Sutherland Courier.

LODGE

Despite bad roads and gloomy weather, a large number of men came from neighboring points to attend the Fourth Reunion of the Gothenburg Lodge of Perfection, Tuesday all day and evening. Work from the fourth to the fourteenth degrees was taken by a large class, the degrees being conferred by North Platte, Cozad and Gothenburg members. The reunion closed with a banquet in the dining rooms of the M. E. church, where there were numerous speakers and music. A quartet composed of Mrs. C. A. McVicker, Mrs. Axel Gustafson, R. A. Greensil and H. L. Williams gave some splendid numbers, and the Ziegenbein orchestra played during the serving of the banquet.—Gothenburg Independent.

After working 56 years in steel mills, Edward Quilty retired on pension. He was the oldest employee of the American Steel and Wire company. He started to work before the Bessemer converter and open-hearth process were invented.

Looking backward over his life, Quilty is amazed most at the way traveling cranes and other machinery have relieved human muscles.

He says: "The men have more brains than they used to." Average intelligence will steadily increase, as machinery gradually frees man from drudgery.

Energy, now consumed by muscular effort, will flow into the brain, generating thought, developing a race of philosophers.

She Just Analyzed Him.
A colored woman hurried into the adult probation offices of the juvenile court at Chicago.

"I tell you, I'm mad," she said to the adult probation officer.

"It's my husband," she continued. "That man is drivin' me crazy."

"What is he doing now?" she was asked.

"What he doesn't do is easier to answer. We jus' can't seem to get along," she pouted.

"But he says you don't love him."

"Love him?" the woman replied, surprised. "Love him? Why, I jus' analyze that man."

MAN OF FAITH AND LEARNING

Origen Considered One of the Greatest of the Early Church Fathers —Upheld Christian Faith.

Origen, surnamed Adamantius, who lived from 185 to 254 A. D., is considered by some authorities as the greatest of the early church fathers. Alexandria, in Egypt, the great seat of learning of the time, is thought to have been his birthplace. He was a teacher and deep student of philosophy and of the Scriptures, and he became a great defender of the Christian faith. His literary productions were numerous and several have come down to the modern world, among them being a treatise on theology, a few sermons or discourses of that nature, parts of commentaries on the Gospels of St. Matthew and St. John and St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans. His greatest work is his defense of Christianity against the attacks in the writings of Celsus, an Epicurean philosopher of the Second century. Celsus' work is not extant, but the character of it is made clear in Origen's refutation, which contains many quotations, and Origen's line of argument indicates clearly the line of attack followed by Celsus. The attacks upon Christianity by many critics are simply repetitions of Celsus' objections, which Origen answered about seventeen hundred years ago.

Where Business Moves Slowly.

Business methods are invariably slow in the Near East, according to Miss Grace Willis who has returned recently from a period of service with the Y. W. C. A. in Constantinople, Stamboul and Beirut. "It takes at least a half a day to deposit a check and even longer to draw one out," says Miss Willis. "The general condition that exists in business houses is undoubtedly due to the fact that so many nationalities, each with their own way of doing things, are gathered under one roof. The girls of the Near East are particularly keen for business courses and there is a tremendous demand in the many commercial houses for well-trained clerical workers and stenographers. I consider that when, from the business courses given by the Y. W. C. A., efficient business women have been turned out after nine months' training, a remarkable piece of work has been accomplished."
