EDITORIAL

The advertisement of the Wilcox Department Store, carried in our last issue should not be misunderstood. On Dollar Day the bargain is one $1.00 seamless sheet for a dollar. Only two such sheets are sold to any customer.

Easter Sunday dawned gray and chilly but the crowds at the churches was larger than usual. A deep sense of the true meaning of the resurrection of the Christ marked the throngs where formerly there was largely the style parade.

A. R. Dumphey, superintendent of the air mail on the division west of Omaha, was in the city yesterday. He made the statement that the air mail is now carrying 24,000 letters a trip and that the planes are following the schedules more regularly than trains. In fact he says that during several months the air service made 95% of its expected efficiency. The route is 2,660 miles long.

One of the most interesting documents bearing on the question of taxation, which we have read lately is the report of the committee appointed by the Dawson County Tax Payers League. This report appears in both of the Lexington papers and a clipping, making a comparison between Dawson and Lincoln counties is printed elsewhere in this issue. We expect to print the report in full in a later issue as most of the deductions and recommendations apply in other counties than Dawson county.

Editor Wood tells in this week's Gering Courier about Congressman Kinkaid's announcement that he will again run for congress. In commenting on the judge and his long career in congress he says:

This recalls to us the time some years ago when Judge Kinkaid for one reason or another had made up his mind he would not ask for re-nomination. It was in the old convention days, and the meeting was called for Crawford. There is some unwritten history connected with it which may as well be unfolded now, although of no particular importance, although of no particular importance, Judge Grimes, as many know, had an underlying desire to go to congress sometime in his career, and the attitude of Judge Kinkaid seemed to leave it open. The Scotts Bluff county delegation was given personal authority to enter Judge Grimes into the race if the situation seem propitious, but he did not want to make any personal statement to that effect. Arriving at Crawford, it was found there were other receptive candidates, but none of them outspoken. While the Scotts Bluff county men were for Judge Grimes, it was soon apparent that in case of contest there would at least be ill feeling and a strong possibility of a well known Custer county citizen being the successful one. Scotts Bluff county and Custer county men who consulted together realized the uncertainties of naming a new candidate in those days and conceived the solution in insisting on Kinkaid, a brief adjournment was maneuvered and he was called by telephone and came up from O'Neill to Crawford not knowing why he was called. Upon arriving, he finally consented to accept the nomination again on the condition that no personal campaign on his part be expected. It took some strenuous argument to bring about this result, but upon that single half hour hinged the difference between the retirement of Kinkaid and the splendid service he has since given, for he was elected easily, and there has never since been a question. And today the prospect is that he will remain in congress for many more terms, since he is in better health than in many years.

THE VILE GOSSIPER

I don't believe in gossip which can do a neighbor harm. The gossip is hated, in the town, or on the farm; I never seen a gossip that commanded any love—peddlin' out their slanders, which they know they couldn't prove.

For instance, here's old Hankins, that don't live fur from me—picks around a budget that he's learnt from A to Z. Never misses nothin' that concerns his nearest friends. . . . Talks about his neighbors with a zeal that never ends.

People told thera views of him, he'd find out where he's at. . . . They tell me, if he had means, he wouldn't feed his cat. . . . Thinks he is the smoothest stick you ever came across. . . . Lets on just like he doesn't know his grand'dad stole a hoss! An' then, he used to gamble like the devil, I am told. . . . Neighbors catch him shootin' craps—at—seven—year—old. Folks could tell a heap of facts from them that ort to know—of how he got his mutton, maybe forty year ago. Of course I know that gossip ain't a very savory dish. . . . You might't think that scandle hung around that fell'er's life, but someone says he re'ly swiped another fell'er's wife! I've heard he wintured in the pen, one time in Tennessee, but, wust of all, he gossips, an' this don't look good to me.

Neighbors knowed the truth, I spose they'd string to a limb, but I don't peddle gossip, though I've got no use fer him.
