WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM EXCHANGES WHICH REACH OUR DESK.

KNOWN HERE

Professor Rhine, leader of the Sutherland band and orchestra, and leader of the choir in the Methodist church, will visit friends in Paxton next Sunday and has consented to furnish special music for the morning Sunday School and church services and take entire charge of the evening service at the M. E. church, giving a sacred concert and an address on the valuation of music in community life. All should turn out and give him a crowded house as this should be a rare treat to Paxton people.—Paxton Times.

PAID FOR

Because some people are not satisfied unless they are knocking on everything, the impression was abroad that the laying of the corner stone by the Odd Fellows last Thursday was another item added to the expense of the taxpayers of the county. They should "be at once undeceived" for that is not the policy of this great organization.

The corner stone was bought and paid for by the Odd Fellows Lodge in North Platte and not a fraction of a cent will any taxpayer have to pay for it or having it laid.—Sutherland Courier.

MAY GO ALONE

Word has been received that the United States government withholds its approval of Road project No. 170, from Brady to Vroman, for the reason that the road crosses the railroad east of Brady and then crosses over again at Vroman. The State has taken it up again with the government, and Commissioner Springer informs this writer that he has been advised by State Engineer Johnson that if the government still withholds its approval, that the State will build it alone without government help. The road will be built according to contract and work will begin soon.—Brady Indicator.

PAVING COSTS

An exceptionally low figure was quoted on the Central avenue paving by the Tyner Construction Co., of Kansas City. The price submitted was $2.10 per square yard, including the curb and gutter. This will be an asphalt-concrete road, with a two inch surfacing of sheet asphalt and the construction of the road will be such as, in the opinion of the engineers, will withstand the terrific strain of heavy travel to which the road is exposed to at all seasons of the year. The curb and gutter will be made part of the paving, a plan that is generally approved and said to insure against buckling, spreading and the like.—Kearney Hub.

UNION CHURCHES

Beginning Sunday evening, the churches of Gothenburg will unite in holding out door evening services in Ehlmen Park. The meetings will be held at seven o'clock and each one will hold a treat in the way of music and sermon.

Sunday evening, July 2nd, at the first of the meetings, Rev. Frank Smith, a prominent singer and evangelist, of Los Angeles, will deliver the sermon. Mr. Smith was raised on the south side here.

Don't fail to attend these services. These community meetings will do much for good. Each Sunday evening at seven o'clock at Ehlmen Park.—Gothenburg Times.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL

A large and interested crowd of bidders and citizens met at the high school at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday to witness the opening of the general and special contract bids for the new high school. After a long, hard session lasting all afternoon and evening, the board announced that Ed Green, of Seward, was the successful bidder on the general contract, Burke and Gallant were low men on the plumbing and heating and John Vandiver landed the wiring and lighting contract. It is indeed gratifying to see so many local firms on the lucky list, and the committee feel confident of the ability of the local men to produce the goods. Mr. Green comes highly recommended and expects to put the work under way as soon as possible. Thirteen contractors were represented in the general bids.—Keith Co. News.

LOCAL POLITICIANS THINK HOSTETLER CANNOT BE A CANDIDATE

Hon. B. O. Hostetler of Kearney is now a District Judge of this State and a candidate for Congressman in the Big Sixth Congressional District. Section 1139 of the Nebraska Statutes reads: "Judge not eligible to other court, or of any district court or of any county court shall be eligible as a candidate for any other office except a judicial office during the time he is occupying the office." The judge has not resigned and is campaigning as a candidate for Congress.

Lawyers who have made a study of the question say that when Judge Hostetler accepted the filing in his behalf, he became a candidate for a legislative office and that he is not eligible. Some other, however say that the judge is only a candidate for nomination and not for office, and that he will not be a candidate for office, until the polls are closed on Primary Election day, July 18, and that if he resigns his office as Judge before that time, he will be qualified to receive the nomination. Others, say that this is just splitting hairs and that the Judge is a candidate and has been ever since he accepted the filing in his behalf. They point out that the Judge's own card that he hands out in the campaign reads: "Bruno O. Hostetler, Candidate for Congress, Sixth District." The object of the lawmakers in passing the law quoted, doubtless was to keep members of the judiciary devoted to judicial duties, and also free from any obligations from any political supporters who might have litigation pending before the judge. It has been hinted that Judge Hostetler might resign and remove his disqualification but this is answered with the statement that he should have done this before he became a candidate and that he must have been qualified as a candidate before he accepted the filing.

NOTICE

The office of the County Judge will be closed on Saturday afternoons during July and August.

SPECIALLY WRITTEN FOR RURAL READERS

INFORMATION ABOUT AGRICULTURAL SUBJECTS FROM RELIABLE SOURCES

Bee keepers will be interested in a new motion picture prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture showing the best practice of handling bees and the control of bee diseases. The film, which is called Keeping Bees at Work, is intended to supplement a picture, entitled "Bees—How They Live and Work," issued some time ago for more popular use. The new picture shows the need for re-queening the colony from time to time, the way to prepare the bees for wintering, the time to unpack the hives, the control of the swarm, and other details of management. The fact that the Bureau of Entomology will examine samples of combs to identify diseases and advise on their control is brought out.

The film is now in one reel and may be borrowed by extension workers and others entitled to the privilege, or prints may be purchased for approximately the cost of making them which is about $37.00.

While calves from low-producing cows are saved to maintain the herds on some farms, on other farms and in other sections where higher-producing cattle are kept, calves from 300-pound cows by pure-bred bulls are often vealed because no market is found for them as dairy stock. This is an economic waste which, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, the extension organization of Coos County, Oreg., is striving to eliminate.

About 30 calves from the best stock in Coos County were saved last year by arrangements made with farm bureaus of other counties to take them when two weeks old at $12 per head, crated and delivered at the express office. Arrangements also were made recently for a representative of the Klamath County extension organization to spend 30 days locating new-born calves of good stock and finding a dairyman to feed them for two weeks before shipment to farmers in his own county.

The reports also say that calves 2 weeks old are shipped safely as far as 500 miles or for 36 hours travel; day old calves can rarely be shipped.
