

SIX BIG DAYS BEGINNING MONDAY, AUGUST 14.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

The "Son of Heaven," better known as the Emperor of Japan, thinks that a gas water heater is the most necessary thing in the world. He recently cabled to this country for four automatic gas water heaters for his palace in Tokio.

America has demonstrated to the world the luxury of hot water on tap, and of the bathtub which was first built and used in Cincinnati in 1842, 80 years ago. Today the bath tub can be found everywhere on the face of the earth. Bathing as a habit has received a tremendous impetus as the result of the world-wide use of gas service for heating water.

The Emperor of Japan will now join the Both-A-Day movement with the aid of American gas water-heaters. You, too can join and have running hot water at your faucets if you will take further advantage of your gas service.
