Solomon said: "He that hasteneth to be rich hath an evil eye and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him."—Proverbs 28:22.

Woodrow Wilson said: "The worst thing that could happen to America, would be divided into groups and camps in which there were men and women who thought they were at odds with one another, that the spirit of America was not expressed except in them."

The carrier on the city route delivering the Tribune on East Fourth, Fifth and Sixth streets quit last week without leaving his list with us and it has been somewhat difficult to make up the new list. The new carrier boy is Lester Schwalger and we think him a very capable and trustworthy boy. Any subscriber who does not receive a copy of the Tribune regularly will confer a favor on us by letting us know so we can notify the boy and we are sure there will be no more trouble. The boy we had on the route was too small and entrusted delivering some of his papers to other boys still smaller with the result that it was not done well.

A little girl on a bicycle was struck by a speeding automobile last Saturday evening, on west fifth street. By a miracle, the child was not hurt but was badly scared.

When questioned by those interested the driver said, "How could I know she was going to turn right there?"

Yes, how could he know? How could he tell?

Those who saw the accident say he was driving along the pavement at not less than thirty five miles an hour.

He said he wasn't in a hurry but that he liked to go fast. So he took the pavement on west fifth street for his speedway and stepped on the gas.

He knew that there were little children living on each side of the street. He knew that children are impetuous and follow their lead rather than caution. He knew that they had as much right on that street as he had and that the pavement has a particular charm to them while it is new.

He was a grown man and yet he stepped on the gas.

His only excuse was, "How could I know?"

The reply is that he couldn't know. No one ever knows what a child will do. It usually does just what you thought it wouldn't do.

But a child is so precious that the whole world must be on the lookout for him.

It is not the child's place to get out of the way of the automobilist; it is the driver's place to look out for little children all the time. That is the only safe rule.

An auto in the hands of a scatter-brain becomes a monster rolling about the streets, seeking whom it may maim or kill. In the hands of a careful person it becomes a wonderful opportunity for looking to the safety of boys and girls.

"How could I know?" would be a mighty poor satisfaction when the mangled remains of a child is being carried to its home.

We must make this town safe for children and the greatest menace on the streets is a careless driver.

Superintendent Snyder of the Experimental Substation has called our attention to the remarkable yield of Nebraska wheat at the Kansas Experimental Station at Manhattan. The Experimental Substation at Lincoln has developed many new varieties of wheat. It gives these new varieties a number and the wheat is known by the number until it is ready to be named. Nebraska No. 6 and Nebraska No. 60 are the two leading varieties developed in this state. Kanred is the prize wheat of the Kansas Experimental Station and was developed at Manhattan. In a bulletin just issued by the Manhattan station it shows the yields of all the standard varieties of wheat at the Kansas station. Nebraska No. 6 stands second on the list with 38.3 bushels to the acre and Nebraska No. 60 stands third with 38.2 bushels. That was at Manhattan. On the same list appears Kanred wheat, the eighth down in the list with a yield of 37.1 bushels. And yet Kanred is known widely and considered to be the greatest variety for this part of the country just because it has been advertised, while both of the leading varieties of Nebraska developed wheat excel it. Advertising does pay.

October 11, 1922.

To The North Platte Tribune:
Some of the mothers of North Platte, who have grown anxious about the conditions surrounding the youth of our city, have decided to try and help to put in force some of the ordinances of protection the children have a right to expect of any orderly city. But we all grow neglectful of our duties in these lines, often until, as we read every day, some mother's and father's girl, and some times boy, is absolutely snatched up out of the streets of the home town by some unknown power or influence and carried to parts unknown; and by the thousands in our country today, parents never do discover their fate.

There is an ordinance in North Platte that prohibits girls and boys under 17 years of age from being on the streets after nine o'clock unattended. It is a reasonable ordinance. We have good laws and ordinances, if the people and officials will co-operate to enforce them.

It is pitiful for any of us to be willing to refuse the assistance we may give toward the actual protection of our girls and boys, who will without one exception, fifteen or twenty years hence, bless us or curse us, according as we have played our part in society today.

This is no idle talk. Almost without exception the boy or man doomed to the death sentence the girl or woman doomed to a sentence worse than merciful death, ends their career with curses upon society that failed to protect them in their tender years when they are not fitted by nature or by training to protect themselves. And society means us all.

The move to enforce this particular ordinance, has been supported and endorsed by the following to date:
The mayor, the council, the Scout Masters, the W. C. T. U. and the North Platte Woman's Club.

And the volunteer mothers acting in the capacity of assistance to the officials, in making this enforcement easier and more complete, will work under the authority of the mayor and council, and the direction of the police matron.

Signed,
Woman's Committee.

For that little welcome warmth morning and evening that "takes the chill off the house", use the quick-heating, clean, cheery electric heater.

It costs money to build a furnace fire—even a small fire. Every shovelful of coal counts this year. An electric heater costs only about 5 cents an hour for steady warmth—no fire-building, and no ashes afterwards. Try it.
