EDITORIAL

We are getting some compliments these days on the appropriate cartoons which are being run on the front page of the Tribune each week. They are the work of Terry Gilkison, a cartoonist of national reputation and appear in many of the best newspapers in the country.

If mother is interested in one of the leading organizations of the city she will be glad to get one of the blue bond cabinets of stationery with her name and address on both the paper and the envelopes. It would make a fine Christmas present. We have them at the Tribune office. We also have cheaper cabinets.

Postmaster Sturgis reports that for the first time in a good many years he has three civil service employees taking care of the Federal building. One goes on at four o'clock in the morning and another stays until ten o'clock at night. In this way all three work during the day and no one has to stay there all night. Every clerk and carrier is a civil service employee and a long list of qualified men and women are in waiting.

In another column is the announcement of the death of J. V. Robinson. The editor met Mr. Robinson shortly after he came to North Platte and has been intimately acquainted with him all the time he lived here. He started a little store in the room now occupied by the Quality grocery on Locust street but later sold out to Mr. DeForest and associated himself with the boys in the S. & R. Service Station. Mr. Robinson was a good Christian. He was very regular in his attendance at the services of his church and one could always tell right where to find him on all matters touching things religious. And the thing which pleased his friends was his ability to live up to his professions. He claimed to use the bible as his guide and he did it. North Platte is poorer today than it was before Mr. Robinson went away and his family has lost a guide and councillor whose influence was always on the right side.

FOR service, for ink capacity, for all around satisfaction give a Durn-Pen. It has no rubber sac, and therefore holds several times more ink than any rubber sac pen of the same size. You pump the Durn-Pen full with the little Red Pump-Handle; it cleans as it fills and holds ink for thousands and thousands of words. No seams to leak, nothing to go wrong. 27 styles with hard rubber and transparent Bakelite barrels, as illustrated, $2.75 and up. An unlimited guarantee of perfect satisfaction goes with each Durn-Pen. Buy one today and end your fountain pen troubles.
