HOW TO PREVENT CROUP.

SOME READING THAT WILL PROVE INTERESTING TO YOUNG MOTHERS. HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THE DISEASE.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by M. H. Taylor.

Piles of people have piles, but De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them. When promptly applied it cures scalds and burns without the slightest pain. Taylor, the druggist.

W.W. Sanders, Notary Public. Pen- sions papers of all kinds made out accurately. Legal documents drawn up. All business given prompt and careful attention.

The wife of Mr. Leonard Wells, of East Brimfield, Mass., had been suffering from neuralgia for two days, not being able to sleep or hardly keep still. When Mr. Holden, the merchant there sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and asked that she give it a thorough trial. On meeting Mr. Wells the next day he was told that she was all right, the pain had left her within two hours, and that the bottle of Pain Balm was worth $5.00 if it could not be had for less. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by M. H. Taylor.

FOR 1896.

"MARCHING THROUGH GEORGIA."

By MAJ-GEN. O. O. HOWARD.

The Story Told by an Army Commander Great Contribution to History.

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE will shortly begin the publication of Maj. Gen. O. O. Howard's description of the March Through Georgia and the Carolinas, ending with the Grand Review at Washington. This will be an immensely important contribution to the history of the war. Gen. Howard, who commanded the Army of the Potomac on those great achievements was, next to Gen. Sherman, the ranking officer of all the forces. He will tell the story of the marches, skirmishes, and the swift sweep from Atlanta to Savannah, the tedious struggles with the Carolina swamps; mud, rain and rebelentines, and of the grand triumphal pageant at Washington, in his own strong graphic, vivid style. The series will begin with the pursuit of Hood after Atlanta, and end with the Grand Review at Washington.

OTHER LIVING COMMANDERS who played conspicuous parts in the war, will contribute to its columns during the year; and, besides, it will have more than its usual amount of true stories of actual experiences of the men who did the hard marching and fighting of the great conflict. It will be more than ever

We understand Harry McCandless has a fine boy at his place, which accounts for his staying so close at home.

Miss Nellie Morton, who has been at Lincoln for the past two or three months, returned to Nemaha Thursday evening.

Isaiah Shlyter, living west of the Nemaha, between Nemaha and Auburn, died the first of the week, of inflammation of the bowels.

The new public well and tank has been completed and is in running order. A trough has been put in by the side of the well, so stock can be watered.

H. K. McCandless shipped nine cars of corn to Burlington Dec. 14th, and four cars Dec. 18th. One car of wheat was shipped to Kansas City on the 17th, and one on the 18th.

Geo. Hoppy, of Preston, Neb., came to Nemaha Tuesday in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. Mr. Hoppy found things in a rather bad shape. He returned to Preston for the present, but will return in a few days to put the camp in good working order.

A CORRECTION.

Two weeks ago a mistake was made in the advertisement of A. A. McClinch & Son. We said they were selling 5 gallons of coal oil for $1.00. Of course everybody knew this was a mistake, and should have been 5 gallons for 50 cents.

President Cleveland has won commendation from every true American, of whatsoever party, by his patriotic message regarding the Venezuela affair. He stands by the Monroe doctrine and proposes to see that England does not grasp unlawfully any more territory from the weaker American nations without she fights Uncle Sam.

H. A. Kyle and Geo. Kittell have bought one of the finest blooded stallions ever brought to this state. His name is Redell, 21596, sired by Redwald, with a record of 2:23; dam by Delphino, 2:20½. Redell was bred at Pactotal driving park, Red Oak, Iowa and has taken many premiums. He is a nephew of Maud S., and related to the following distinguished roadsters: Kremlin, 2:07¾; Lee Russell, 2:18¼; Poectas, 2:12¾. He will be kept at Geo. Kittell's farm.

CRISTMAS NUMBER OF THE NEW YORK LEDGER.

The Christmas number of the Ledger is a delight to the eye and a feast for the mind. The cover is a winter forest scene, a beautiful girl is hiding a love letter in the hole of a big oak tree, a post-office used by lovers from time immemorial. The title of the paper is visible in the branches of the tree tops, covered with snow. The design is printed in blue on beautiful pink paper. The contents of this number of the Ledger are in keeping with the Christmas season; there are Christmas stories by Margaret Lee, Virginia Niles Leeds and S. Baring Gould. There are special articles and poems by Robert Buchanan, Mary Kyle Dallas, Rev. S. P. Cadman and Mrs. Kidder. There are serial stories by Seward W. Hopkins, Edie Adelaide Rowlands and John R. Musick. In addition to the above there are all the usual attractions of the Ledger. The Children's Column the correspondence and science columns, the woman's world, fashion department, editorials, miscellany, and other reasonable and entertaining reading matter. It is impossible to match this table of contents in any other periodical in the world for 5 cents, the price of the Ledger.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL FOR 1896.

In a dainty booklet printed in light blue, salmon pink and gray tone a splendid illustration of the beauties of art applied in printing—The Ladies' Home Journal announces some of its leading literary and artistic features for 1896. There will be a series of papers upon the domestic and social side of Washington by General A. W. Greeley, U. S. A.; another by ex-President Harrison, telling of "This Country of Ours"; a third by Mary Anderson de Navarro, who writes of her stage experiences, her struggles for recognition and artistic triumphs, with a supplemental article telling of her life and surroundings today. In a lighter vein Mary E. Wilkins will present a series of "Neighborhood Types" papers, pen pictures of quaint and familiar personages—New Englanders; and Jerome K. Jerome will reflect old England life in a number of "Stories of the Town"—stories of London—in his mimetic crisp style. "William the Conqueror," Rudyard Kipling's most fascinating romance, is also among the features for 1896. Besides there will be short stories by Bret Harte, Lillian Bell, Ian MacLaren, Sophie Swett, Frank R. Stockton, Sarah Orne Jewett, R. C. V. Meyers, Will N. Harben, Carolyn Leslie Field, Jane Austin (posthumous) and other prominent writers. Dr. Parkhurst will write a series of forcible articles for young men, applicable to their daily life, while the girls will be written to by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, and Edith N. Thomas, the gifted poetess, who be represented by her finest verse and prose. James Whitcomb Riley will contribute a number of poems, varied in theme and treatment. In its musical offerings the Journal will be unusually replete. Among the best things promised is a minuet by Paderewski, the famous pianist; a waltz by John Philip Sousa, the March King; compositions by Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer of Pinatone, Mikado, etc., etc.

Artistically The Journal gives much promise, and during the next year will present several groups of Kate Greenaway's bonnie little people; Charles Dana Gibson's best work on new lines and some of Albert Lynch's newest creations. In its departments the Journal promises to be stronger than ever, and more comprehensive in its scope of practical information. In this direction it will print a series of illustrated articles on home building, giving plans and details for the construction of medium size houses. The Ladies Home Journal for 1896, in fact, will be complete, and uniquely so.
