 The entertainment given last Saturday night by the "Nemaha Black Amateurs" was well attended, considering the weather. The "minstrels" gave a good performance and pleased all those in attendance, but the sidewalk fund was not replenished to any great extent by the net proceeds.

Last Sunday Dr. W. W. Keeling took up a collection at the Methodist Sunday school for the benefit of the famine stricken sufferers in India. The collection amounted to $2.32, which was forwarded the next day to the Christian Herald at New York, which paper is forwarding all subscriptions.

During the winter the water in the pipe leading from the tank to the trough of the public well became frozen and bursted the pipe. When it thawed the water all ran out of the tank and in consequence this well has been useless for some time. This week Street Commissioner Smiley, assisted by Charley Galbraith, has been putting in another pipe, and the well is all right again.

Taylor Gillespie's team took a spin on our streets Tuesday afternoon. He went into Anderson's store leaving the team in front of the store, his little boy staying in the wagon. The horses evidently concluded it was feeding time and started for home on the dead run. They safely turned the corners at Dr. Melvin's and D. T. Smiley's, although at the first corner the wagon made the turn on two wheels and at the second turn the hub of one wheel struck a tree and cut in almost an inch. When near Gillespie's house the horses turned in to go through the gate but the wagon tongue struck a tree and the horses were stopped, one of them being thrown to the ground. The tongue and one front axle were broken and one wheel mashed. The boy stuck to the wagon until it struck the tree, when the shock threw him out in front, taking the endgate with him. He was not hurt. The horses escaped with a few scratches.

NEW TRIAL DENIED.

Special to State Journal.
 AUBURN, Neb., March 18.—District court convened at 7 o'clock last evening, Judge Letten presiding, for the purpose of hearing a motion for a new trial in the Argabright murder case recently tried here. Defendants alleged some thirty reasons why the verdict of the jury should be set aside and a new trial granted, but in fact relied on but two, failure of the evidence to show deliberation and premeditation on the part of the defendant and errors in permitting the evidence of the defendant to be impeached as to statements alleged to have been made by him at the time implying malice. After full argument on behalf of the defendant and the state the court took the matter under advisement until 8:30 this morning and then handed down his opinion in the case.

In passing upon the motion for a new trial this morning the court said that had the jury been made up of twelve men like himself the verdict would undoubtedly been different; that there was such a state of facts in the evidence that the jury might have found premeditation and deliberation on the part of the defendant and that under the facts they might equally well have found to the contrary; that under the facts they could have well found murder in the second degree or manslaughter, but as the verdict was the verdict of twelve good and true men who under our system are judges of the facts, he felt that he was not justified in setting aside their verdict, there being no evidence adduced that the jury was prejudiced or actuated by any improper motives in finding their verdict. Defendant was sentenced for life at hard labor. The defendant filed a motion in arrest of judgment and exceptions in the finding and asked and was given forty days in which to prepare and present a bill of exceptions.

Ratchet Wheel Wrench.

Please note printed hereon cut of my Ratchet Wheel Wrench, on which I obtained United States Letters Patent No. 572857, dated Dec. 8th, 1896. This Wrench is practical and durable, adapted for use on all machinery, and of special value on machinery and engines of a complicated nature. It can be constructed of different sizes as occasion requires, supplying a very large per cent of the demand for Wrenches. The Reducer shown in the above cut is intended to fit central opening in Ratchet Wheel. By use of this Wrench burrs or taps are turned that could not be gotten at with other wrenches. Handle and wheel are connected by plates on either side in such a way as to permit use of Wrench when obstructions are very near handle.

Should you wish to purchase part or all of my invention I would be pleased to negotiate with you. My interests are intact.

Awaiting your commands, I remain,
 Yours truly,
