The Brownville Cornet band has moved its headquarters to Nemaha, and is now the Nemaha Cornet band. This move was decided upon because the majority of the members of the band were more directly interested in Nemaha than in Brownville. The band is a good one, with twelve members, nearly all of whom are native born Nebraskans. The band talks of giving weekly concerts if proper encouragement is given. THE ADVERTISER extends the glad hand to the Nemaha Cornet band, and trusts it will become one of the pleasant and entertaining features of the village.

The centre of population is the centre of gravity of the inhabitants of the country. If the United States were considered as a plane, with all its people as of equal weight, the center of population would be the point where the whole plane might be balanced and remain steady through equilibrium. It expresses the net resultant of the movements of population from decade to decade. This point, according to the census of 1890, is located at 39 degrees 11.9 minutes north latitude and 85 degrees 32.9 minutes west longitude, about twenty miles east of Columbus, Indiana. It moves westward about four miles a year, and is now three-fourths of a degree south and more than seventeen degrees east of the center of area.—William George Jordan in July Ladies' Home Journal.

The August number of the Delineator is called the midsummer number, and its exposition of hot weather modes and fabrics is made graphic by full page color plates and intertextual illustrations. The number is notable for its fiction, Frances Lynde's "Diana of the Ephesians," a dainty love story with a setting among the mountains of northern Alabama, being complemented by the fascinating narration of an encounter with a Paris necromancer, which forms the second part of Martin Orde's serial accounts of Clive Rayner's adventures. Dr. Grace Pecknam Murray continues her "Talks on Health and Beauty," with a discussion of the various forms of exercise especially beneficial to her sex. Especially suited to the dog days are the directions for making various salads and salad dressings, and Francis Leeds' recipe for a summer pick-me-up. Young people looking for a new entertainment will enjoy Lucia M. Robbins' description of a "butterfly party." Mr. Vick's Flower Garden is supplemented by practical answers to various inquiries, and the usual pages are devoted to needlework. Butterick Pub. Co., 7 to 17 w. 13th street, New York.

"I crave but One Minute," said the speaker in a husky voice; and then he took a Gose of One Minute Cough Cure and proceeded with his oratory. One Minute Cough Cure is unequalled for throat and lung troubles. M. H. Taylor.
