"Last summer one of our grandchildren was sick with a severe bowel trouble," says Mrs. E. G. Gregory, of Fredericktown, Mo. "Our doctor's remedy had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief." For sale by Taylor the druggist.

SOMETHING TO KNOW.

It may be worth something to know that the very best remedy for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This remedy is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c and $1 per bottle at Taylor's drug store.

TO CALIFORNIA COMFORTABLY

Every Thursday afternoon a tourist sleeping car for Salt Lake, San Francisco and Los Angeles leaves Omaha and Lincoln via the Burlington route. It is carpeted, upholstered in rattan has spring seats and backs and is provided with curtains, bedding, towels, soap, etc. An experienced excursion conductor and a uniformed Pullman porter accompany it through to the Pacific coast. While neither so extensively furnished nor so fine to look at as a palace sleeper, it is just as good to ride in. Second class tickets are accepted for passage and the price of a berth wide enough and big enough for two is only $5. For folder giving full particulars, call at nearest Burlington ticket office or write to J. Francis, G. P. A., Burlington route, Omaha, Neb.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Sunday school convention held at Nemaha last Friday, Saturday and Sunday was a very successful affair, and those having it in charge are well pleased with the interest taken and the attendance during the convention. On Friday evening the church was well filled. After the opening song service and prayer the president of the association, James F. Drain, made a brief talk full of good suggestions, and the convention was then turned over to the conductor, Rev. A. W. Green. A short address of welcome was made by W. W. Sanders, supplemented by Rev. Green, and the response was made by Fred G. Hawxby, who gave an excellent and very appropriate address. Rev. J. D. Strong, who was on the program for an address, failed to appear, as he was engaged in a protracted meeting at Stella.

Saturday morning there were recitations by Dora Clark, Ethel Barnes and Jessie Mead, and talks by the Sunday school superintendents—W. H. McIninch, Dr. W. W. Keeling, Casner Barnes, and S. Gilbert—the latter speaking for the Christian Sunday school, the superintendent being absent.

In the afternoon there was a recitation by Dora Zook and a paper by Miss Mellinger Minick, on "How can we get the Boys from the Street into the Sunday School." It was excellent. Rev. J. W. Taylor and others made short talks.

At night there was a recitation by Pearl Roberts, and a paper on "The Model Teacher," prepared by Rev. C. H. Gilmore and read by Miss Mabel Brogan. The discussion was participated in by S. Gilbert, W. W. Sanders, Dr. W. W. Keeling and others.

Sunday morning, at 10 o'clock, was the union Sunday school, led by Rev. A. W. Green. Although there was a drizzling rain about Sunday school time, the church was well filled, there being over 150 present. After Sunday school Rev. B. J. Johnston preached a good sermon.

Sunday afternoon there were recitations by Mattie Barnes and Rhoda Watson, and a splendid paper on "Qualifications and Duties of Superintendent and Teacher," by Miss Kate Barnes, which was discussed by James F. Drain and others. The committee appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year made the following report:

For president—James F. Drain.
Secretary—W. W. Sanders.
Treasurer—W. H. McIninch.

On motion these officers were declared elected, and a motion was also carried that the superintendents of the five Sunday schools in Nemaha precinct be elected the executive committee.

Sunday evening there were recitations by Miss Mabel Drain and Miss Mabel Brogan, a song and pantomime by Dora Clark and Lydia B. Barnes, singing by Prof. Huckins, of Nebraska City, and a fine sermon by Rev. C. H. Gilmore.

The singing throughout the convention was excellent, and there was lots of it. There were solos, duets, quartets and choruses by members of the different Sunday schools, and all were good.

Rev. A. W. Green makes a fine conductor of a Sunday school convention. To Rev. Green, James F. Drain and W. H. McIninch is due in a great degree the success of the convention, and the music committee is also entitled to praise for the excellent music furnished.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Entertainment will be provided for all delegates presenting proper credentials.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN.

Witherby invited Friends to Celebrate His Wedding Anniversary. Mr. Witherby (rubbing his hands)—Well, my dear, do you know that this is our wedding anniversary?

Mrs. Witherby—Of course I do. I thought you had forgotten all about it. "Forget! Me forget! Not much. Do you think all the sentiment has gone out of me? I guess not (kisses her). No, my dear, I would be a pretty poor stick if I forgot such an important event. On the contrary, I have been thinking of it all day. What do you think of a little celebration?"

"Celebration! I'm afraid it's too late."

"Nonsense. I've made all the arrangements, anyway."

"What do you mean?"

"What I said. You don't suppose I would let a day like this go by without notice, do you? I'm not that kind. This morning I saw Bingo. He's coming around with his wife."

"When?"

"To-night. Almost any time. Likely to be here any minute."

"Gracious, what are you going to do?"

"Do! Anything, everything. Whoop'er up. Have a good time. Dimpleton and his wife are coming, too. Ought to be here now." (Bell rings.)

(Turning pale)—"O, dear, not a thing in the house. Entertain them, will you, while I change my gown." (Rushes off.)

(As Mr. and Mrs. Bingo enter)—"Ah, my dear Mrs. Bingo, this is indeed a pleasure. Hello, old man, make yourself comfortable. Dimpletons be here soon (bell rings again.) There they come now. Must celebrate, you know. It won't do to let this day go by. Do you know (confidentially my wife thought I'd forgotten all about it. Just told her. Good joke, eh? Gone to change her dress. Be here in a moment. Ah (as the Dimpletons enter)—Mrs. Dimpleton, I am so glad to see you and Dimpleton, old man, pull off your coat and make yourself at home." (The guests range themselves around the rooms.)

Mrs. Dimpleton—Well, Mr. Witherby, I shan't wait for your wife to come to congratulate you. I think you should both be congratulated separately.

Witherby—By jove, that's well put. Thanks, awfully. Good joke on my wife, eh? She thought I'd forgotten all about it. Just telling Bingo. Didn't know you were coming. Ha, ha. Here she is now. (Mrs. Witherby enters and cordially greets all.)

Witherby—Here boys, have some cigars. No ceremony to-night. (To his wife)—Sarah, get some sherry for these good people.

Mrs. Witherby (blanching visibly)—I am afraid there is none, dear.

"What, no sherry? O, yes, I remember. Must tell you about that night, Bingo. Never mind, any other wine will do. We'll have a bite to eat by and by (Mrs. Witherby's heart sinks). Fond of Welsh rarebits as ever, Dimpleton?"

Dimpleton—I am always ready for a Welsh rarebit.

Mrs. Witherby—I'm afraid there isn't any cheese, dear.

Witherby—What, no cheese! Well, well.

"But, if you'll leave this to me, I'll—"

Mrs. Bingo (who is sympathetic, having suffered herself from the same case)—Yes, indeed, you can trust Mrs. Witherby, we all know her of old.

They played cards for an hour, at the end of which time Mrs. Witherby, by means only known to a woman, serves them with sandwiches and beer and they depart, all vowing they never had such an enjoyable evening.

Witherby (as the door closes)—Well, if that isn't just like a woman.

Mrs. Witherby—What do you mean? "Here I invited the best friends I have got in the world around to celebrate an important occasion, and you feed them as if they were going to catch a train."—N. Y. World.

Education's Rapid Growth.
Books, 60 years ago, were few in comparison with now. The public libraries of the United States, all put together, had only 500,000 volumes in 1837. This is less than the Boston public library contains to-day. Three of our American libraries have together more books than were in all the public libraries of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales when Victoria ascended the throne. Ignorance was general. Forty per cent. of the men and 65 per cent. of the women of Great Britain could not write their own names when Victoria became their queen. The national educational system was but three years old; its money grants amounted to only $300,000. Uncle Sam now spends $140,000,000 a year for teachers and superintendents of our public schools.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Her Ruling Passion.
He (humbly, after being accepted)—I know I am not worthy of you! Tell me, my beautiful darling, what you saw in such a plain sort of fellow to—do you know I was dreadfully afraid you were going to refuse me!

She—I did intend to. But you know my weakness. I never could resist a bargain—and when you proposed you did look so awfully cheap! How could I let you go?—Harlem Life.

The Days Draggod.
She—And once you said you would love me forever and a day.

He—It seems to me as if I had.—Indianapolis Journal.

Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Virginia, certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies that he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and was cured by the use of two bottles. Reasons why Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the best:

1. Because it affords instant relief in case of pain in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus.
 2. Because it is the only remedy that never fails in the most severe cases of dysentery and diarrhoea.
 3. Because it is the only remedy that will cure chronic diarrhoea.
 4. Because it is the only remedy that will prevent bilious colic.
 5. Because it is the only remedy that will cure epidemical dysentery.
 6. Because it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon in cases of cholera infantum.
 7. Because it is the most prompt and most reliable medicine in use for bowel complaints.
 8. Because it produces no bad results.
 9. Because it is pleasant and safe to take.
 10. Because it has saved the lives of more people than any other medicine in the world.

There is a Wrong Way AND A RIGHT way of treating the eyes. Some people seem to think that if they only wear glasses it will be all right with their eyes. There would be just as much sense in prescribing the same medicine for every disease. Unless you place yourself in the care of a skillful oculist or optician it would be better to give no thought to your eyes at all. We make a specialty of fitting glasses.
