SOMETHING TO KNOW.

It may be worth something to know that the very best remedy for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This remedy is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c and $1 per bottle at Taylor's drug store.

A FELINE FIGHTER.

A St. Louis Cat Which Whips Everything in Sight.

Capt. Sam Boyd, of the Seventh district station, claims he is the possessor of the brainiest, scrappiest and biggest cat in the city. This feline wonder is known as plain Tom and nothing else. When quite young he showed a decided penchant for rats and mice, and after his sojourn in the Four Courts of two years he had everything in the shape of a rat or a mouse on the run. He grew up big and strong, and while at the Four Courts licked every dog that tried to tackle him. Capt. Boyd guarded him with jealous care, and woe be unto the man who tried to injure Tom in his presence.

One day Tom was sleeping in the boiler room beneath Chief Desmond's office, when Ryan, the engineer, sicked his Scotch terrier on the sleeping Tom. They both pitched in and fought fast and furious for 15 minutes, at the end of which Ryan's terrier was stretched out on the floor badly battered up.

Every officer in the district chaffed Ryan over the defeat of his dog, and to get even one day he brought another terrier down to the Four Courts, and, after luring big Tom downstairs, he set both dogs on him. Tom stood his ground like a veteran, and fought the dogs until he fell to the ground exhausted and bleeding profusely. At this time Capt. Boyd had been moved up to the Seventh, and a telephone message informed him that his cat was dying. The captain hitched up his buggy and drove in all haste to the Four Courts, and the sight of his pet, cut and bleeding, made him almost desperate. He swore by his shield that he could lick the man who was instrumental in injuring his cat, and Ryan took a vacation. Tom was tenderly carried back to the Seventh, and a surgeon summoned, who, after exhausting his skill on Tom, succeeded in saving his life. He gradually became stronger, and to-day he is the cock of the walk at the station.

The captain, in speaking of Tom to a reporter, tells a very funny story of how he walked up the street one day last summer and found Tom lying in front of the station dead, with a rope tied around his neck. He walked into the station, and his anger knew no bounds. He lined up every sergeant, officer and clerk, and closely questioned them about the killing of his pet. He then pulled off his shield and dramatically said: "The cur that was cruel enough to murder Tom will have to do likewise with me. Step out here and be a man and take your medicine." Not a man budged, and this irritated the captain more than ever. He walked into his office, and for over a week he hardly spoke to his men. One afternoon, about 12 days later, Tom walked through the window into the captain's office. The captain stood up and gazed at the form of Tom as though in a dream; in fact, he refused to believe his eyes; but there stood Tom as big as life. He was taken up and caressed by the captain, who actually shed tears of joy. It turned out that the cat supposed to have been Tom was a stray one which some boys had killed and left in front of the station.

Tom struts around the station as though he owns it while the captain is around to protect him, but when the captain is away Tom goes visiting and awaits his return at the front door, when he walks in proudly and takes possession of the office. A short time ago he spied a strange cat on top of the station, and made straightway to do him. They fought all around the roof, and suddenly they fell to the ground, a distance of 30 feet, but the accident did not stop the fight. Instead, they kept it up after reaching the ground. The captain saw the whole thing, and he danced around the fighting cats, all the while urging on Tom. Tom won, and the captain proudly carried him into his office and fed him on cream and cake for a week. The captain says Tom has never been licked, and that he would not sell him for love or money. —St. Louis Republic.

Concentrated Foods.

While no one will question the advisability of using fresh fruits, grain and vegetables when they can be obtained in a fresh and wholesome state, it must be admitted that there are times when properly prepared condensed or concentrated foods are extremely desirable. It is also worth while to note that inexperienced cooks and careless housekeepers are often at a loss to know just what to do in an emergency. Gradually they are learning some of the advantages of prepared foods under such circumstances. Among the new introductions are prepared soups in cakes or blocks. These have meat juices with a sort of Julienne soup preparation carefully blended, seasoned and put up in a dainty and attractive manner. When one wants a dish of soup all that is necessary is to provide the proper amount of water, which must be at boiling point, and in a vessel which must be closely covered. Put as many of the meat blocks as are required into a given amount of water, cover closely and allow to stand for 20 minutes. In emergencies less time will answer, but the full flavor of the soup is not brought out save by a little time. This is destined to become one of the regulation articles of diet. There are also biscuits made on the same plan. These biscuits are wrapped in waxed paper and furnished to local customers. —N. Y. Ledger.

Vin, vigor and victory; these are the characteristics of De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation, biliousness and all stomach and liver troubles. M. H. Taylor.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention THE ADVERTISER and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

Don't nauseate your stomach with teas and bitter herbs, but regulate your liver and sick headache by using those famous little pills, known as DeWitt's little Early Risers. M. H. Taylor.
