 J. S. HARRIS,
 Tecumseh, Neb.
 An exchange remarks that barbed wire is a good thing in its place, and it has been indispensable in civilizing the west. But the inventor of this article never meant it to take the place of barn beards as a shelter for live stock.
 Andy Jarvis hauled a load of household goods to Auburn for Lester Fox Wednesday. Mr. Fox is now living in his new house south of the B. & M. depot. It is one of the best built and most convenient houses in Auburn.
 Last week we advertised for sale a thoroughbred Berkshire male hog. Friday morning R. J. Tussey, of Hillsdale, came around, bought the hog and took him away. "It pays to advertise"—and it also pays to have good hogs.
 Attention is called to the advertisement of Dr. W. W. Keeling, successor to M. H. Taylor, druggist. Dr. Keeling is too well known to need any introduction. He is not only an able and experienced physician but has had many years experience as a druggist. For the present he will retain his office where it now is but will be in the drug store much of the time. Will F. Keeling, who will be in the store, has had considerable experience in the drug business. He is affable and obliging, makes friends quick, and holds their friendship. Give the new proprietor your patronage.

 While getting breakfast Tuesday morning the large steel range of John Yont, who lives several miles north of town, exploded from some unknown reason, completely demolishing the same and scattering cooking utensils in every direction, a skillet striking a member of the family, but luckily doing little injury. The stove contained what is known as a water back which in some manner generated as or was frozen and the steam having no outlet caused the explosion. The damage outside the stove, which is completely wrecked, will be nominal. Friends of the family are glad to know that no one was badly hurt.—Brock Bulletin.
 $100 for Letters about Nebraska.
 The Burlington Route (B. & M. R. R. E.) offers thirteen prizes ranging from $5 to $25 and aggregating one hundred dollars for the thirteen letters, which, in the opinion of a competent committee, are best calculated to encourage immigration to Nebraska.
 Every contestant, whether or not his contribution is awarded a prize, will receive the "Corn Belt" (a handsome 16 page monthly publication) for six months, free of charge. The contest is open to all. Details can be obtained by addressing J. Francis, G. P. A., Burlington Route, Omaha, Neb.

 The Nebraska Editor remarks that "The Editor does not pretend to know the reason for it, but the county tax lists this year are not nearly so long as usual. This results in less mince pie and turkey meat on the editorial table on Thanksgiving."
 In another item it says: "The delinquent tax lists averaged from twenty-five to fifty per cent less than usual."
 During the recent campaign the Grainger argued that the lengthy tax lists showed that prosperity had not arrived. The above would show a different state of affairs.
 We make the following special clubbing offer for a short time:

 If "all is well that ends well" applies to the first end of things, this winter promises to prove a good thing in a wintry way.—Ex.
 The mildest mannered season is seen to have in it the possibility of the severest storms. "This fable teaches" that by some means shelter should be provided for farm stock. Then in an emergency there is safety and comfort. This advice, taken from an exchange, is a little late for this year but is good advice nevertheless.
 All our farmer readers should take advantage of the unprecedented clubbing offer we this year make, which includes, with this paper, The Iowa Homestead, its Special Farmers' Institute edition, The Poultry Farmer, The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Journal and the Humane Alliance. The subscription price of these five publications amounts to $2.80, while our own paper is $1.00 when paid in advance; a total of $3.80. We are prepared to send them all, including our own paper, to any farmer in this county for $1.60, which is only 50 cents more than our own subscription price. Never before was so much superior reading matter of the most practical and useful character, offered for only $1.50. The first four of the papers named are so well known throughout the West that but little need be said of them. They commend themselves to the reader's favorable attention upon mere mention. The Humane Alliance is devoted to humane education, and should be in every farmer's family, so that the boys and girls on the farm may early imbibe the principles of a broad humanity that shall include all God's creatures, and learn the wickedness and brutalizing tendency of cruelty of all kinds. Take advantage of this great offer.
 Haller's Pain Paralyzer for all kinds of pain, internal or external. Safe and reliable. Does its work quickly and effectually. It is just the article. Needed in every family. M. H. Taylor.
