Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.
How To Find Out.
 Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.
What to Do.
 There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have this best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.
 You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

The freight running between Atchison and Nebraska City met with a bad accident about two miles this side of White Cloud, Kansas, Wednesday night. The engine went through a bridge, falling about fifteen feet and sinking in mud and water until the smokestack was almost covered. "Shorty" Griffin, the engineer, Jim Ginder, the fireman, and W. R. Downard, head brakeman, went down with the engine and had a narrow escape from death. Griffin's foot was caught and he was held under water, but by lively work he got loose and crawled up out of the water, and then began searching for his companions. Ginder had a leg broken and sustained severe internal injuries. Downard had his leg badly mashed. Griffin assisted him to get on a beam where he clung for over two hours in the icy water before he was rescued. Griffin escaped with a badly scratched face. As soon as possible after the accident a special was sent from Nebraska City and the injured men taken to that city, where they were taken in charge by Dr. Whitten and Dr. Jack, the company physicians. They are getting along well.

FASHIONABLE FINERY.
 What the Ladies Are Now Wearing for the Ornamentation of Costumes.

The new foulard silks in pastel colors banded charmingly in the cashmere designs must be seen to be appreciated. The newest girdles have a deep, graduated fringe of silk, steel beads or jet falling from the lower edge.

Cloth combined with velvet and elegantly trimmed with fur forms the swell visiting gowns of the moment, and some very striking costumes are made of cloth in two different colors, forming a strong contrast. But this is not a very desirable fancy of fashion, as a contrasting effect is better if it is carried out in some other material.

Very elaborate knickerbockers of satin are worn by some women as a substitute for petticoats.

Velvet is being worn a great deal this winter. One sees it more and more. Possibly it is, as one woman suggests, that people have been keeping their velvet frocks hoping for cold weather, and now giving up hope of that they are putting them on regardless. Velvet skirts are worn with separate waists with agreeable effect. One well-gowned woman wore at a lecture in a large hotel the other morning a black velvet skirt and a waist of velvet, with a delicate Persian stripe on a background of delicate pink, and a small, fancy yoke of pale blue velvet, with a high collar of the same, with appliques of white lace upon both. With this she wore a hat of light velvet, one of those millinery affairs which are apparently composed of high folds of velvet laid carelessly around the head.

Pale shades of gray and beige color are the tints in dress gloves and are quite as much worn as white.

Russian lace in heavy quality and fine Venetian laces are very much employed for trimming handsome cloth gowns in the pastel colors.

Imitation diamond buckles are a very conspicuous feature of dress trimmings, and other pretty buckles are of enameled flowers.

Parisian designers are exploiting the attractions of killed and plaited skirts in various attractive guises. For many fabrics this method of arranging skirts is decidedly preferable to overskirt effects which easily rumple. Those who have always admired the style, but were unable to make use of it on account of the bulk of fabric below the waist, will be glad to learn that there are new forms of the skirt in which the width of the box-plait or kilt decreases inch by inch as it nears the hips.

All the talk about the advent of earrings seems at last to have brought about some results, and the ultra fashionable are redeeming the fashion writer's reputation for accuracy by wearing the real things. Not the little screw earring which never has been quite discarded, but the drop earrings with a round gem at the top and a pear-shaped one below this.

One of the attractive black fabrics is a fine wool, interwoven with silk. It is called pell de chevre, and is made into tailor costumes rather more elaborate in style than the conventional tailor dress. It is not unlike a very handsome quality of henrietta cloth, and makes effective kiltings, side plaitings and slightly draped overdresses. It clings to the figure in the most desirable manner, and its sheen is exquisite. It appears also in green, brown, blue and delicate and tempting shades in gray. Like most fine silk-warp materials, it has one sad fault—its propensity to wrinkle easily.

A pretty way to utilize bits of handsome lace edging in Honiton, Venetian, Renaissance, and other designs is to cut the lace portions away from the fine net foundation and sew it en applique to the rounded ends of sashes, neck scarfs of chiffon or ribbon, to standing velvet or satin collars, sleeve caps, etc. Lace that has been worn and cleaned can be similarly used for dressing-table cushions and handkerchief and glove sachets.—Boston Budget.

I wouldn't be without DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for any consideration," writes T. B. Rhodes, Centerfield, O. Infallible for piles, cuts, burns and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. W. W. Keeling.

A Life and Death Fight
 Mr W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Keeling's Drug Store.

You never know what form of blood poisoning will follow constipation. Keep the liver clean by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers and you will avoid trouble. They are famous little pills for constipation and liver and bowel troubles. Keeling.
