Women as Well as Men
 Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

The Nebraska Advertiser
 CRAZY WOMAN IS CAPTURED.

She Terrorized White
 Church, Kan., and Vicinity for Weeks.

PROVES TO BE MRS. EMMA SCHMALZA

The following article, taken from The Kansas City World of the 26th inst., undoubtedly refers to Mrs. Emma Schmalza, commonly known as Mrs. Brinegar, who was sent to the asylum from Nemaha about eighteen months ago, but who was released in a few weeks and went to Kansas. She owns a farm south of Nemaha.

The crazy woman who has been terrorizing the people in the country around Piper, White Church and Connor, Kan., has been captured. As stated in The World, Tue-day, Officers McCune and Blankenship of the county poor farm have been following the woman for several days. They came within sight of her a number of times but she cleverly dodged them.

Tuesday evening the officers saw her in a little clump of trees near Connor. She was standing besides her horse. She was lying on the ground when she saw the officers she made a vain attempt to get the horse to his feet. Failing in that she started to run. She was so weakened from hunger, however, that she was soon captured and taken to the county poor farm.

After capturing the woman the officers turned their attention to the horse she had been riding and the half starved dog which had been following her on her wild chase. The horse was exhausted for want of food. The officers offered the animal food, but it was too far gone, and died before they left it. The dog was taken to the poor farm. The woman was brought to Kansas City, Kan., Wednesday morning. She proved to be Mrs. Emma Schmalza, and had been staying with relatives at Lancaster, Marion county, Kan., until she escaped, 36 days ago. Since that time her relatives had heard nothing from her until the publication in The World on Tuesday of her presence near Piper, Kan.

"The mystery of the whole thing," said Officer McCune, Wednesday, "is what she lived on. We made inquiry all over the country where she had been seen and no one had given her food. The horse evidently existed on what green stuff it found along the road, though it probably fell under its rider where we found the woman. The woman was ravenishly hungry when we reached the poor farm. We have not been able to locate the gun she carried when she first appeared in the neighborhood."

John Schmalza, a young son of the woman who had read The World story Tuesday, came from Drexel, Mo., Wednesday morning. He stated that his mother had been in feeble mind for over three years. He has made arrangements for her admission to a private asylum at Paola, Kan., where she will be treated.

The capture of the woman will be most welcome news to women and children around White Church and Piper. Write her horse, dog and ugly looking rife she had full sway in that part of the country for a week. Everyone gave her a wide berth. She was known as the "wild woman," and when the word was passed from one farmhouse to another that she was coming it was a signal to get inside and barricade the doors.

"I think my mother must have lived on berries," said young Schmalza, Wednesday. "At times she is rational and asks for more berries. She is very weak. I don't know whose horse it was she had. I know she had $38 when she left Marion-co, though she has not a cent now. She probably lost the money.

"The dog is hers, and is a faithful one. He has been her constant companion during the three years of her mental derangement."

Two farmers, friends of the Schmalza family, arrived in Kansas City, Kan., just before noon, Wednesday. They had come from Marion-co in a spring wagon. They had started out to find Mrs. Schmalza and by making inquiry along the road had traced her to the neighborhood where she was captured.

The Danger Limit in the Use of Sorghum

A great many letters have come to experiment station asking for advice as to pasturing sorghum. The publicity given to the injurious effects of sorghum through the investigations carried on by this station to ascertain the cause has moved people not heretofore acquainted with this occasionally exhibited peculiarity of the plant to become suspicious of it. While no further positive information has been obtained on the subject, there yet remains a word or two that may be profitably spoken.

The records of this station do not show any cases of sudden death from sorghum occurring in the eastern portion of Nebraska, with the exception of a few which occurred on second growth sorghum. There is also reason to believe that plants producing this disastrous effect have not made a healthy growth, and are yellow and wilted, a condition easily detected by the farmer. It would therefore seem reasonable to conclude that no danger is to be encountered in pasturing sorghum of healthy growth in eastern Nebraska.

Again it would appear that no danger is incurred if the sorghum is fed after cutting and allowing to lie for some time. A sample of sorghum was recently received by the station with a letter accompanying it stating that the plants were parts of a very few partially eaten by a cow which was killed by them in two minutes. The sample was fed to a cow on the station farm without injuring her in the least. This together with the fact that no poison has been detected in samples sent to the station for analysis would indicate that any toxic substances which the plants might have contained have become dissipated after cutting. The length of time for this is not known, but it is certainly accomplished in a few days.

As sorghum is undoubtedly the best annual midsummer forage crop for this region, it is important that its limitations should be well defined. The use of healthy sorghum for pasturage with the ordinary precautions in eastern Nebraska, and of sorghum hay, may be considered safe. L. L. LYON,
 Nebraska Experiment Station, Lincoln July 21, 1900.

Dr. Kay's Renovator.

It cured George W. Hervey, Editor of Omaha's great weekly World-Herald of a terrible Stomach Trouble of many years standing after the three best physicians in the state had failed.

He writes:—"For years I was troubled with indigestion so severe as to make it impossible to take more than two meals a day without intense suffering. I grew worse with increased pain and soreness over the pit of my stomach and sharp pains in my right side which rapidly increased until I could scarcely get my breath. A physician was called and hypodermic injections of morphia resorted to. I lost twenty-two pounds in nine days and was left wholly unable to take any nourishment. Having utterly failed to obtain relief, I finally made arrangements to go to Chicago to be treated when I chanced to get a sample package of Dr. Kay's Renovator. I was induced to try it and before it was all used I had so improved that I was taking three meals a day, whatever of my old trouble. I recommended it to many of my friends for stomach trouble and all have reported relief."

Dr. Kay's Renovator, sold by druggists for 25cts. and $1.00 or six for $5.00. Take no substitute they claim is "just as good." It has no equal. We will send any of our remedies by mail on receipt of price, if they don't have it.
