Thursday of next week at 2 o'clock p. m. Hon. John L. Webster of Omaha will make an address at the Auburn Chautauqua on the subject of "The Policy of the Republican Party," as this is the only republican speech the manager has billed for the chautauqua, the members of that party should show their appreciation by giving Mr. Webster a big audience.

Our marshal asks us to give notice that card playing on the streets, sidewalks and in the parks must be stopped. If the boys and men who are addicted to this habit do not stop at once they will be dealt with. A word to the wise should be sufficient. The law abiding people are tired of this nuisance and demand that it cease at once.

We publish in another column an article taken from the Lamar (Colo.) Sparks, giving an account of the death of David Barnes. The deceased was the son of John Barnes, deceased, and a brother of Casner, I. B. and L. H. Barnes. Casner Barnes went to Lamar last week on receipt of a telegram telling him of the dangerous illness of his brother, getting there a short time before his death.

U. S. District Attorney W. S. Summers and Congressman E. J. Burkett will be the orators of the day at the republican rally and barbecue at Johnson August 15th. The following republican candidates will also be present: For governor, C. H. Dietrich; lieutenant governor, E. P. Savage; secretary of state, Geo. W. Marsh; treasurer, Wm. Steuffer; auditor, Chas. Weston; attorney general, F. N. Prout; land commissioner, Geo. D. Fallmer; supt. of public instruction, W. K. Fowler.

In the write-up of the business men of Neigh. Neb., The Advocate of July 27th gives the following notice of W. W. Cole, who was for some time pharmacist in Dr. Keeling's drug store, and who made many friends during his stay here:

"Mr. Cole's pharmacy is essentially the Neigh headquarters for the medical fraternity of the town. The reason is very apparent. Here prescriptions are compounded in a manner truly scientific and from ingredients beyond question pure. Mr. Cole took charge of the Frank T. Lane stock about ten months ago as trustee. He carries a large and complete stock of pure drugs and chemicals, proprietary medicines, tablet articles, sundries, etc., and a large stock of wall paper. Mr. Cole is an old resident of this place and his many friends here are glad to see him enter the business field. He is also manager for the Nebraska Telephone company. He is an enterprising and public spirited citizen and stands very high."

Co., Morgan and Harrison Sts., Chicago

Charles A. Brandt, editor of the German paper at Auburn, died at Nebraska City Friday afternoon. The News gives the following particulars:

"Charles A. Brandt, for years a resident of this city and of this county but who for the past two years has been a resident of Auburn, died suddenly last Friday afternoon while sitting in a chair at Theo. Webering's saloon. His death occurred about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He had been about the city all day and complained of not feeling very good, but seemed to be in the best of spirits, and conversed with his many friends. He had been in the saloon for some time but was rather quiet.

"The deceased was a man who was well known in this county and at one time was a minister of the gospel but gave it up to go into the newspaper business. He was a man who was highly educated and was his own worst enemy.

"When noticed he was unconscious and Dr. Wilson was called but he was dead before medical assistance could reach him. The physician pronounced apoplexy as the cause of his death.

"The remains of the late Charles A. Brandt were taken to Auburn for burial. Mr. Brandt was one of the best known persons in this city, as he taught German school here for years, edited the Staats Zeitung and held the position of police judge. He came to this country when but a child, grew to manhood here and was for years in charge of a Lutheran church in the western part of the county. Last fall he moved to Auburn and a few months ago he started a German paper called the Beobachter. He came to this city on a visit last Tuesday and complained of not feeling well, but no one thought him so near death's door. He was 45 years old. L. C. Brandt, his brother, was here and took the remains to Auburn at noon for burial.

John H. Dundas claims the Auburn Chautauqua is non-partisan. Last year he had about a half dozen political speeches, but not one republican. This year he does a little better. He allows one republican speech to be made, but has the opposition billed for a number of speeches. That is John's idea of non-partisanship.

A Good Cough Medicine.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the coughs following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by Keeling.

Death of David Barnes.

Lamar (Colo.) Sparks, July 26.

David Barnes, one of Prowers county's best known and most respected citizens, passed away on Sunday morning after four days of intense suffering Mr. Barnes was traveling in Kansas when he was taken ill, and was at once taken home, reaching here Thursday morning. His ailment was pronounced appendicitis by the local physicians, and Dr. Finney of La Junta was called down to perform an operation. The inflammation had advanced too far, however, to admit relief in this manner, and it became necessary to allow the disease to take its course. Mr. Barnes had put his worldly affairs in order and met the last summons with fortitude after bidding an affectionate farewell to his family.

David Barnes was nearly 35 years of age and had been a resident of Prowers county since 1887. He located at Granada in that year and was shortly afterwards married. He followed his profession of teaching for a number of years, and in 1897 he was elected county superintendent of schools, an office he filled with signal ability. He moved to Lamar during his term of office and purchased a residence here. In January last he accepted a position as deputy county treasurer under Treasurer Reynolds, and this position he held at the time of his death. He was always a devoted and consistent church member, active in Sunday school work and a pillar of the Methodist church. A wife and three children—two girls and a boy—are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and indulgent father.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Monday afternoon, the edifice being crowded with sorrowing friends of the deceased who assembled to pay their last tribute of respect. Rev. J. T. Knuckey delivered a feeling funeral address, paying tribute to the good qualities of the deceased, and J. C. Horn, in a few well chosen words, added his tribute to his friend's memory. At Riverside cemetery short but impressive exercises were held before the mortal remains were consigned to their last resting place. The community has sustained a severe loss in the death of Mr. Barnes at his age of greatest usefulness, and the sympathy extended to his sorrowing family is general and sincere.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long of New Straitsville, Ohio, saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her; and she writes, this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are a positive proof of its power to cure all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. Guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Keeling's drug store.

It Saved His Baby.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea, we were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." says Mr. J. H. Doak of Williams, Ore. "I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by W. W. Keeling

One Fare for the Round Trip via the Burlington Route

The Burlington has offered one fare for round trip ($13.85) from Nemaha to Chicago, August 24th to 27th, on account of the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The return limit on the tickets is September 1, subject to extension to September 30.

The nearest agent of the Burlington Route will be pleased to give you additional information about rates, dates, baggage and train service.

Old Settlers Picnic, Saturday, August 18.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES.

The programs for the Auburn chautauqua consist of over twenty-five lectures and sermons, besides music, vocal and instrumental, in abundance, and recitations, declamations and orations. The time is divided into thirty-three periods, and as a season ticket will cost you but $1.25, these entertainment will cost you less than four cents each.

Prof. J. E. Morgan has arranged to come to Auburn during the chautauqua, and will deliver one lecture. This address will be second to no other in interest and will probably be given on Wednesday, August 8th, at 4 p. m. The professor has just published the first volume of his poems and for noble sentiment and beauty in thought many of the poems cannot be excelled by Emerson, Longfellow, Whittier or Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Wednesday, August 8th, children under fifteen years old will be admitted to the chautauqua grounds free, and on that date the old Auburn Merry-go-round will treat the children to a free ride.

The Auburn chautauqua will begin Saturday, August 4th, but the gates will not close until Sunday morning. Tickets will be on sale at the city hall near the entrance on Saturday and at the Granger office up to that time. All Sunday school children and their teachers will be admitted free Sunday forenoon.

If you have not a catalogue and program call at the Granger office or write the manager.
