Celebrate the Fourth at Nemaha

David Dobbs, of Beatrice, was a Nemaha visitor Wednesday.

Seymour Howe's friends are pleased to see him able to be out again after his severe illness.

The Nemaha lodge was well represented at the A. O. U. W. picnic at Auburn Thursday.

Walter Hadlock has been sick this week but is getting better. Mrs. Had-lock is also better.

received a car load.

sets just received by the Edwards & Bradford Lumber Co.

also screen wire. Be ready for flies.

The funeral services of Vera, in'ant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goff, were held at the Methodist church at 12:30 p. m. Friday, June 21st. Rev.
A. V. Wilson preached the sermon.
The little one died Thursday evening from heart disease. Mr. Goff is now living on a farm east of Auburn.

Don't Be Funny.

It does not pay. If you have a good thing, tell it right out. Don't use false means to attract attention. We say "right out" and mean it, too, that Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will cure every case of Stomach Trouble. It will stop pain caused by Indigestion; it knocks Sick Headache by attacking the cause of the complaint and aids you to diges. your food, no matter what you eat.

Simon Gongwer, a highly respected farmer living six miles southwest of Nemaha, died at his home last Sunday, June 16th, 1901, at 8 o'clock a. m., aged 68 years, 5 months and 16 days. His death was caused by kidney disease.
Mr. Gongwer was an old soldier, having served nearly four years in the civil war. He came to Nebraska at the close of the war. He leaves a son and a daughter to mourn his death.
His wife died about a year and a half ago.

Brownville Locals

A. Vandeventer and family visited Auburn Friday.

Mrs. R. C. Covington was shopping in Auburn Friday.

Judge Cullens, of Missouri, was on our streets Saturday.

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. Will Zook Saturday, a baby boy.

D. E. Vandeventer sold his ponies to Ed Mumford Tuesday.

Mrs. Flora Vandeventer went up to Peru Monday returning home Tuesday.

The Misses Perle Minick and Helen Hitte are home spending their vacation.

Paul Lewelling had his foot badly cut and bruised by letting an ax fall upon it.

The Duff Elevator Co. loaded and shipped their surplus lumber from this place Monday.

Ed Woodworth, of Exeter, Nebr., is visiting his sister, Mrs. D. E. Vandeventer, this week.

Miss Winnie Schriener and a Mr. Edwards, of St. Joe, are visiting the Schri-ener home this week.

Mrs. John Summers was called to Nebraska City Monday to see her sister who is very sick.

F. O. Fritz, who is working for the Order of the Golden Belt, went to Kansas City Monday.

Jim Roberts went up to Nebraska City Monday where he has a job of of work waiting him.

Willie Christy returned home from Johnson Monday where he has been employed shipping berries the past two weeks.

Bill Thompson, who has been sojourning in New Mexico and Texas for the last two months, returned home Sunday.

The strawberry crop is about gone but raspberries have stepped in and taken their place so they will scarcely be missed.

Mrs. Clara Ferguson and Miss Katie Smith, of Oxford, visited with Miss Ella Sapp as they journeyed home from the Peru school.

Richard Jones, husband of the small-pox patient, came in Saturday night and took up his abode in quarantine with his family.

One of Mr. Sherbourne's little girls was kicked by a horse Wednesday and badly cut. It required a couple of stitches to close the wound.

R. C. Covington and J. W. Sapp highed themselves away to the Nemaha Tuesday to try their luck with rod and line. They will probably bring home some fish if they can find any to sell.

Mrs. Richard Jones, who recently came here from Republican City with her infant child, has the smallpox.
The churches have been closed and strict quarantine is enforced so there is little fear of the disease spreading.

There are arrangements being made to celebrate the 4th of July at this place. We suppose that someone can be prevailed upon to read the Declaration of Independence, not that it is any good now, but just as an old has been.

Mrs. David Moore, who came to Brownville some two months ago to take magnetic treatment of Rev. J.
Lewelling was at the time of her arrival almost helpless and could not sit up to exceed half an hour at any one time. She had a complication of diseases such as heart failure, lung, kidney and bowel trouble, etc. She was almost helpless and required a great amount of help but what a transformation six weeks treatment has brought about. To use her own expression, she does not feel sick, has good appetite, sleeps well at night, sits up all time in the day, walks about with a quick step, has a sparkle in her eye and has gained both in strength and weight. The only symptom she feels now is a slight soreness in one lung at times. She expects to take treatment about two weeks longer and then take her departure in perfect health, a thing she has not enjoyed for years tion or business success depend largely on the perfect action of your Stom-

The Designer for July is replete with dainty designs for summer costumes and millinery and accompanied by practical and explicit advice for their duplicate construction. The influence of the coming Fourth is evident in this issue, which contains suggestions for A Red, White and Blue Party, and numerous patriotic selections for recitations. Modern Laces illustrates some beautiful specimens of this filmy needlework; The Library of To-day gives details for the fitting up of the family reading room, and the paper on The Cultivation of the Voice will doubtless prove of as much interest to the amateur prima donna as Choosing a Profession for a Boy or Girl will to many a perplexed parent. The Unknown Sea is an exquisite full-page poem sympathetically illustrated, and Among the Rustlers and Thorg's Wife supply the fiction for this month. The Eighth Invitation is a bright little comedy just suited to summer days; Book Notes reviews the latest products of pens noted and otherwise, and Among Ourselves gives a resume of the topics of the day. The regular departments of this popular magazine, comprising Points on Dressmaking, Health and Beauty Notes, Etiquette Hints, Household Advice, Nursery Lore, and Cookery, are reasonable, interesting and thoroughly practical.
Not by any means last in the list is an article on the Women Managers of the Pan-American, with half-tone illustrations.
