

CONDEMNS MOB LAW.

Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, Commended by President Roosevelt.

Every Man Should Be Given a Trial. He Says, and Swift Justice Would Obviate Resort to Lynching for Revolving Offenses.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 10.—In a long letter, the publication of which was authorized yesterday, President Roosevelt commends Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, for the attitude he assumed recently respecting lynching. The president also embraces the opportunity to express his own views in reference to lynching and mob violence generally, saying mob violence is one form of anarchy and that anarchy is a forerunner of tyranny. The president vigorously urges that the penalty for crimes that induce a resort to lynching shall be applied swiftly and surely, but by due process of the courts, so that it may be deemed strictly "that the law is adequate to deal with crime by freeing it from every vestige of technicality and delay. The president says:

"Men who have been guilty of a crime like rape or murder should be visited with swift and certain punishment and the just effort made by the courts to protect them in their rights should under no circumstances be perverted into permitting any mere technicality to avert or delay their punishment. The substantial rights of the prisoner to a fair trial must of course be guaranteed, as you have so justly insisted that they should be made subject to this guarantee, the law must work swiftly and surely and all the agents of the law should realize the wrong they do when they permit justice to be delayed or thwarted for technical or insufficient reasons. We must show that the law is adequate to deal with crime by freeing it from every vestige of technicality and delay."

WOULDN'T THANK MILES.

Neither President Nor Secretary of War Favorably Commented on the Retirement of the Veteran Commander.

Washington, Aug. 9.—The retirement of Gen. Miles was announced in the same perfunctory manner that the retirement of a lieutenant or a captain would be promulgated. Under the circumstances the failure of the president or secretary of war to comment on Gen. Miles' retirement must inevitably provoke widespread comment. The whole subject was thoroughly discussed by the president and Secretary Root weeks ago and in army circles the gossips have freely predicted that no complimentary paragraphs would creep into the army orders pertaining to the retirement.

While the distinguished services of Gen. Miles in the great war of the rebellion and subsequently in affairs against hostile Indians were given due consideration and both the president and Secretary Root place a high estimate upon them, it was felt that, in view of the relations that have existed between the lieutenant general and the commander-in-chief and secretary of war covering the period since the declaration of war against Spain, the executive could not consistently publish to the army an order complimentary to the retiring lieutenant general. Therefore, after careful deliberation it was decided to adhere to the rigid rule of the service, and issue the usual order promulgated upon the retirement of officers for age of whatever rank.

A Philanthropist Dies.
Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 10.—William E. Dodge, the New York millionaire and philanthropist, died yesterday at Stanwood, his summer home here. Mr. Dodge had been in poor health for several months. He was a member of the New York metal house of Phelps, Dodge & Co., and was 70 years old. He was one of the founders of the Union League club and well known as foremost in charitable work. He is survived by a widow and three daughters.

Mrs. Sample's Fearful Experience.
Perry, Kan., Aug. 10.—In trying to save her baby from a rabid dog, Mrs. W. A. Sample, who lives on a farm near Perry, was severely bitten. Paralyzed with fear, she stood holding her child high over her head, while the infuriated animal bit her again and again. Her husband killed the dog with the barrel of a shotgun after it had failed to explode.

Docking of Horses Brutal.
Washington, Aug. 10.—Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, before his retirement, issued an order, with the approval of the secretary of war, with a view of prohibiting the "docking" of horses in the military service. Gen. Miles regards this practice as brutal and on this point he and the president agree.

THE PINKHAM CURES

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Didn't Like to Boast.
"How are you getting on with your music, my dear?" inquired a lady of her niece.
"Well, of course," replied the niece, diffidently, "it wouldn't be proper for me to compliment myself, but some of the neighbors have told me they have staid awake at night for hours, listening to my playing."

ACCORDING TO CABBY.

The Trips of a Woman Philanthropist Must Be Arranged with the Deity.

A Brooklyn woman whose philanthropic efforts are mainly directed toward making life happier and better for the little folks of the crowded sections of the borough tells a good story on herself, says the Eagle, of that city. As her field of endeavor is not confined to one section of that borough, she generally travels around from settlement to mission or recreation ground in a cab. One day she was on her way to a gathering of her proteges when she espied a masculine acquaintance who had, on a previous occasion, manifested some interest in her work, and invited him to accompany her. He accepted, and they traveled down lanes and through byways heretofore unknown to him. In one of the narrowest and most crowded streets in a downtown quarter the fair philanthropist stopped to pay a visit. When she entered the cab again the man said:

"You have an arrangement with the Deity as well as the cabman when you come on one of these expeditions, haven't you?"
"What do you mean?" was the astonished reply.
"Well, your cab driver says that only the Lord knows where you good ladies are going when you start on trips of this sort."

Get What You Ask For.

When you see an article well-advertised in the newspapers, you may be sure it's a good article, for advertising only pays if the goods are honest and possess merit. The people who make a specialty of one advertised article, like Cascares, Candy Cathartic, for example, stake their whole business existence on its doing what they say it will. They must "make good," as the saying is. Readers of this paper are urged to be sure that they get what they ask for, when they ask for an advertised article, for it's the good thing that is imitated and counterfeited. Don't accept substitutes! Insist on getting the genuine!

Catarrh of the Stomach is Generally Called Dyspepsia—Something to Produce Artificial Digestion is Generally Taken.

Hence, Pepsin, Pancreatin and a Host of Other Digestive Remedies Has Been Invented.

These Remedies Do Not Reach the Seat of the Difficulty, Which is Really Catarrh.

EX. U. S. Senator M. C. Butler from South Carolina, was Senator from that state for two terms. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., from Washington, D. C., says:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine besides a good tonic."—M. C. Butler.

The only rational way to cure dyspepsia is to remove the catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh. Peruna does not produce artificial digestion. It cures catarrh and leaves the stomach to perform digestion in a natural way. This is vastly better and safer than resorting to artificial methods.

Peruna has cured more cases of dyspepsia than all other remedies combined, simply because it cures catarrh wherever located. If catarrh is located in the head, Peruna cures it. If catarrh has fastened itself in the throat or bronchial tubes, Peruna cures it. When catarrh becomes settled in the stomach, Peruna cures it, as well in this location as in any other.

Peruna is not simply a remedy for dyspepsia. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Peruna cures dyspepsia because it is generally dependent upon catarrh.

WOMEN

Every physician of large practice has had the experience of being called on to attend women who imagined that they were in the last stages of some dire female malady, when upon examination the fact was revealed that obstructed physiology of the stomach or bowels was the whole cause of the trouble.

The physician, however, who has not had experience may fall into the error of diagnosing grave diseases of the female system when they do not exist, because disorders of the bowels may be neglected until they give many of the appearances of female disease. The bowels have been known to become so clogged with hardened contents as to produce a condition closely resembling uterine displacement, uterine prolapse (falling of the womb), and the sick headache which is often attributed to female diseases is most often actually due to some trouble in the digestive machinery involving the liver, stomach, bowels or the great "Solar Plexus," which is the central telegraph station from which nervous messages are transmitted to and from all the organs in the abdominal cavity.
